WILLKIE LASHES BACK IN REPLY TO ROOSEVELT

Urges Labor to Help Unify America.

Wendell Willkie will be heard in a broadcast from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., from 9:30 to 9:45 o'clock tonight over WBBM and the Columbia network. The Associated Willkie Clubs of America will sponsor the entire period from 9:30 to 10 p. m.

Akron, O., Oct. 24.—Crowds of ever increasing density pressed around Wendell L. Willkie's campaign train today as he rolled thru Pennsylvania and Ohio, replying to the campaign speech of President Roosevelt last night, developing a new series of questions for the "third term candidate," and appealing to labor to come to his aid in making his administration "an all-American administration" of unity of effort.

The Republican Presidential nominee, as a climax to his strenuous day, made three speeches in Akron tonight, including an address to labor at Goodyear hall. Akron was Willkie's home for 11 years and the people gave him a tremendous reception. Tens of thousands met him at other stops of the day in Erie and Sharon, Pa., and at Warren, O.

Taft Travels with Willkie.

Senator Robert A. Taft, who traveled with Willkie during the day, presenting him to audiences in Akron and other cities, said that this was the greatest political campaign in American history. He predicted the G. O. P. nominee would carry Ohio and Pennsylvania.

In his address to labor here Willkie charged that the New Deal concept of collective bargaining is reactionary and declared that "the true purpose of collective bargaining is to achieve a coördination of effort by the American people and coördination between them."

"The New Deal," Willkie said, "has created bad blood between certain groups in industry and certain groups in labor. With the help of the leaders, both of labor and industry, I want to put an end to this era of bad feeling. I want to unify the spirit of America. With the help of both we cannot fail."

Calls for New Strength.

Our great problem today, said the nominee, "as it agects not only labor but the entire nation, is to achieve strength and full protection, without sacrificing the individual liberties upon which this whole American system of life depends."

Willkie said he intended to put the whole power of government behind a drive to abolish slums.

"America," he said, "should be a land where there is no wrong side of the railroad tracks, and we will make it just that."

Earlier in the day Willkie made a nation-wide radio broadcast from his special train at Harborcreek, Pa., in which he replied directly to the President's Philadelphia speech of last night. The Republican nominee described Mr. Roosevelt's address as "either obsolete or on order."

1932 Issues, He Says.

"It was obsolete for the reason that it discussed the issues of the 1932 campaign," said Willkie. "It was on order because it promised jobs to you and the right to work. Once again he gives you promises and not performance. He is going to do it in the next four years. Why hasn't he done it in the last eight years?"

Willkie said in his reply to Mr. Roosevelt that there is no issue between the President and himself over social security and other social gains of labor, but that he wanted to make them good by making this country solvent. In utmost seriousness, he said that if the present administration is reëlected the end will be bankruptcy, chaos, inflation, and the loss of these gains.

SPEECH AT AKRON

In his speech at Goodyear hall here tonight Willkie said in part:

"Our goal is a secure, free nation

ELECTION CHIEF AIMS NEW BLOW AT POLL FRAUDS

Takes Bluecoats Out of Home Precincts.

VOLUNTEERS WANTED!

The Vote Fraud Fighters' alliance needs volunteers in the battle against trickery and theft at the polls on Nov. 5. The alliance, formed to coördinate efforts of 50 civic groups all striving toward the same goal—a clean election—has a job for every sincere citizen who will make himself available to serve. The hours may be long and the opposition strong. Those willing to help prevent vote frauds may enlist in the fight at 111 West Adams street, room 2500, by letter or in person.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

"Stop vote stealing." As one step in this campaign it was announced yesterday that on Nov. 5 the police department for the first time in Chicago's history will be made directly responsible along with the board of election commissioners for the detection, prevention, and prosecution of election frauds.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, who has charge of the city's election machinery, made the announcement.

Policemen in uniform always have been assigned to precinct polling places to keep order and prevent violence. But never in 70 years of voting here has a policeman filed a complaint or raised a protest against ballot thefts, short pencil work, or any of the myriad ruses practiced to rob honest citizens of their voting rights.

Police Must Explain Frauds.

"This time," said Judge Jarecki yesterday, "the board and myself are holding the policemen in the precinct polling places directly responsible for what goes on there. If we get evidence that fraud occurred the policeman in the precinct will have to explain what he was doing just as well as the judges and clerks of election."

The judge said that while he will not swear the police polls guardians as officers of his court, they will be under his specific direction on election day and will be held accountable for upholding the election laws.

"When fraud is found in a specific precinct," he continued, "the policeman will be summoned into court right along with those charged with committing illegal acts."

Furthermore, said Judge Jarecki, arrangements have been made with Commissioner Allman to have patrolmen assigned to precinct polling places far from their home districts or their usual beats. This will prevent committeemen or other political leaders from influencing policemen they know or in whose police districts they wield power, said the judge.

Officials Carefully Chosen.

"We have taken the utmost care to scrutinize our lists of judges and clerks of election," said Judge Jarecki. "We took applications for these jobs and put every one thru the police department's bureau of identification to see that none of the applicants had a police record. We checked our own records to see that none had been in trouble in my court, too."

A selected group of applicants was given a written examination on election laws and procedure. Those writing the best papers were given the jobs, he said. All have been receiving special training, and have been shown a special motion picture to familiarize them with their duties.

"We've done everything but take their fingerprints," said the judge.

Judge Jarecki said he was instructing all city policemen to enforce the law against electioneering closer than 100 feet from the polling place.

"I want no voter accosted, spoken to, or interfered with at any time," the judge said. "I'm asking the public to report any violations to the election commissioners by telephoning Dearborn 3050 or the nearest police station.

"I have informed every civic group undertaking to watch the polls that I will welcome any evidence they can produce. I have been promised complete reports on happenings at every polling place by the Joint Civic committee. These will be made the basis of forceful prosecutions immediately after election day."

W-G-N and All Chicago Give a Film Big Debut

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Chicago had its first real movie première last night, something for which THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has been campaigning for many years. In staging the event—the presentation of the $2,000,000 technicolor production "North West Mounted Police"—Chicago demonstrated a technique all its own.

Besides the glitter and the glamor of stars, kleig lights and autograph hunters, all familiar to Hollywood, Chicago added an ingredient which Hollywood spurns as unfamiliar—rain.

But the downpour failed to dampen the ardor of thousands and thousands of fans, many of whom had waited for hours to catch a glimpse of the brilliant company from filmland. Among the film notables were Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll, Paulette Goddard, Robert Preston, Lynne Overman, and Preston Foster, all starred in the film, and of course Cecil De Mille, the producer.

Stars Get Warm Welcome.

During the noonday parade and at last night's première Chicago gave the Hollywood visitors a warm and genuine welcome. And Chicago shared its enthusiasm with listeners thruout the United States and Canada thru W-G-N's scoop—the exclusive radio première of the spectacular picture. The radio program was broadcast over the Mutual network and, because of its interest to Canada, over the Canadian Broadcasting corporation system. Mr. De Mille served as master of ceremonies for the colorful radio show produced by William A. Bacher, of W-G-N.

Mr. De Mille said that the première of his picture in this Chicago setting represented a kind of reunion.

"The subject of the picture, taken from the history of our good neighbor, Canada, should appeal to a city like Chicago with a background of pioneering, courage and the heart to carve a nation out of the wilderness."

Beauties Hold Spotlight.

The studio guests witnessed several scenes from the picture. They were captivated by the blonde beauty of Miss Carroll, who was radiant in a low cut gown of black net with a black velvet apron effect, and the brunette charms of vivacious Paulette Goddard, who was attired in a white dinner dress edged with gold sequins. And there were ohs and ahs for Mr. Cooper.

A big crowd jammed Tribune Square and Michigan avenue as the stars emerged from W-G-N, wearing slickers to speed to the loop, where the motion picture's film première was held simultaneously in the State-Lake and the Chicago theaters. A "Bridge of Stars," erected across State street, linked the two theaters.

From this bridge, bathed in light, the stars paused between appearances in each of the two houses to acknowledge the tumultuous cheers of an enormous crowd which packed State street from Washington almost to Wacker drive. Hundreds peered from windows and vantage points atop loop buildings.

550 Policemen Needed.

Five hundred policemen directed by Capt. David Flynn, chief of traffic, battled to hold back the waves of people. Fifty Chicago Park district policemen had been called out by Chief Roger Shanahan to handle the traffic around W-G-N and Tribune Tower. And all thought they could have used a few Canadian mounties from the picture!

W-G-N presented a second broadcast from the "Bridge of Stars," Guy Savage describing the light and color, the crowd and the program of entertainment provided by Balaban and Katz.

At the end of the long day the Hollywood visitors agreed that they had never seen a première like it.

PLANES ONCE HEADED FOR SWEDEN WILL BE SENT TO PHILIPPINES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 (AP).—Secretary Stimson said today some of the 110 war planes recalled from sale to Sweden would be used to reënforce Philippine defenses.

Two pursuit squadrons ordered to the islands yesterday will use the aircraft originally manufactured for Sweden, and will not take their own planes, Stimson told his press conference.

For the time being, he said, there are no additional plans to strengthen the garrison of the islands. He said Gen. Douglas MacArthur, former chief of staff who is training the Philippine commonwealth army, reported recently he had approximately 125,000 native troops, armed with United States equipment.

Asked whether the war department believed the Philippines could be defended against major invasion, Stimson said "I can't conceive of American citizens and property being left undefended."

Charge Mass Whipping of 58 in School

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 24 [Special].—Pupils of the New Market Public school misbehaved at a play presented in the school a week ago under sponsorship of a parent-teacher club. Altho details of their misconduct were not revealed, it was indicated they were not merely mischievous.

Today an investigation was begun by W. C. Waters, county superintendent of schools, into complaints by indignant parents that 58 pupils who participated in the escapade were flogged the next day in a mass whipping held in the school auditorium.

The posterior of James Holbert, 11 years old, was the parents' No. 1 exhibit of the severity of the punishment administered. The boy had many black and blue marks and in at least one place over his hip bone the skin was broken.

Calls This One the Worst.

"I've had whippings before in school," the lad observed, "but they never hurt me as bad as this one. I wasn't sore after the others but this time I couldn't sit down comfortably over the week-end."

Waters admitted that the matter was serious and that "legal proceedings undoubtedly will result from it."

The whippings were described by H. T. Nichols, New Market farmer and spokesman for resentful parents. When school convened on Friday morning following the play, he said, the children who attended the entertainment were asked to raise their hands. A number of boys and girls responded.

The boys were taken to the school auditorium where they were flogged by two male teachers, Nichols charged. The girls were taken into a separate room for their whippings at the hands of two women.

"Beyond All Reason."

"It was the most brutal thing I've experienced in my life," Nichols said. "There was no reason for it. We parents realize that sometimes there is need for paddling or other discipline in school, but this beating was beyond all reason."

Aside from the cruelty of the floggings, Nichols said, school authorities stepped out of bounds when they disciplined pupils for transgressions committed outside school jurisdiction.

The only comment J. O. Creswell, principal of the school, would make about the affair was that the "main facts are untrue."

Lack of Armor to Delay Navy Plan 1½ Years

DRAFT BOARD MEMBERS.

Names of the members of the 73 new Chicago draft boards, announced yesterday, will be found on page 17.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Senator Harry F. Byrd.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—The navy department today was revealed as having admitted in an official memorandum that the production of armor plate for fighting ships will not meet requirements of the shipbuilding program until March 1, 1942.

The administration's "two ocean navy" was originally scheduled to have been completed in 1946. The navy's admission indicates that the completion date will be at least some 18 months later.

The admission of the lag in armor plate production was elicited by Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], who wrote to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox requesting information concerning the armor production program in general and circumstances concerning the naval ordnance plant at South Charleston, W. Va., in particular.

Plant Cost 37 Millions.

With some obvious reluctance, the secretary answered that the West Virginia plant, which cost the government $25,000,000 to construct during the world war period and on which some $12,000,000 has been spent for maintenance and repairs up to July 1, 1940, is producing only a few tons of armor plate per day. It is proposed, the report stated, to spend an additional $49,000,000 on the plant to bring its capacity to 37,000 tons per annum which would meet navy requirements. A year and a half will be required to install the machinery to attain this production level.

This $37,000,000 plant, it was revealed, was inoperative from 1922 until June, 1939. Altho the expansion of the navy began in 1938, it was not until June, 1940, that "operations for the production of armor were begun."

Seemed O. K. to Roosevelt.

It was this plant which President Roosevelt visited on one of his "nonpolitical inspection" trips on Sept. 3 and hailed as evidence of the administration's speedy defense program.

Reporters accompanying the President saw one great deserted building where the machinery was covered with grease to prevent rust. A few 16 inch shells were on display. They had been manufactured to be used in guns which never were built.

In the other unit of the plant, operations had begun for rolling armor plate for battleships. The inspection party saw one rolling machine in operation and viewed machinery being installed to shape the plates.

Armor Called Inferior.

Incidentally, experts question the effectiveness of the armor plate being turned out and on order under the defense expansion program. It is reported that British armor plate, made under what is known as the Richardson patent, is 50 per cent stronger than American armor plate of the same weight. Naval officers indicated their belief that the British, while seeking every American military and naval development, have not offered any of their secrets in return.

Senator Byrd brought out the alarming lag in armor plate production after a constituent wrote to him expressing fears concerning the condition. The senator posed a series of questions to the secretary of the navy on Sept. 7 and received an answer on Oct. 2.

ROOKIES HITCH RIDE; NOW THEY HAVE ONE COMING

Alexandria, La., Oct. 24 (AP).—Three rookie National Guardsmen hailed a ride into town from Camp Beauregard with Maj. Gen. Campbell B. Hodges.

The general, commander of the camp and the 5th tactical corps, decided to give the youths, unaware of his position, a quiz.

"Do you boys know what a corps is?" he asked.

None knew.

"Well," the general said, "I'm corps commander. Does that mean anything to you?"

"No, sir, that doesn't mean a thing to us," came the reply.

HEAD OF FRANCE MEETS FUEHRER IN RAILWAY CAR

Von Ribbentrop and Laval Attend.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Map on page 2.)

Marshal Petain.

VICHY, France, Oct. 24.—A complete consolidation of western Europe economically and perhaps politically appeared to be an accomplished fact tonight when it was officially announced that Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain had met today with Adolf Hitler.

The encounter, which occurred "somewhere in France," had been carefully prepared for by several contacts between Vice Premier Pierre Laval of France and German officials. The meeting appeared to set the scene for a new deal between the French and Germans to coöperate in the management of European affairs, especially economic.

[Hitler and Petain met near Tours in the German occupied area of France, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Berne, Switzerland.]

Marshal Petain left Vichy for the conference wearing an horizon blue uniform of the sort he wore in the successful defense of Verdun during the world war—a uniform no longer used by the French army.

THEIR FIRST MEETING

BERLIN, Oct. 24 (AP).—Adolf Hitler's first meeting today with the French chief of state, Marshal Petain, was the latest secret maneuver of the Fuehrer's personally directed political drama.

Hitler's talk with the 84 year old marshal followed meetings in the last two days with French Vice Premier Pierre Laval and Gen. Francisco Franco of Spain—talks which Nazis here say show how England, "the encircler," is herself now tightly encircled.

Laval Attends Meeting.

There was no hint here as to whether Marshal Petain had come to sign an agreement ending the twilight period between the armistice and peace as reported abroad. Laval, who first had conferred with Hitler on Tuesday, was present at today's meeting, as was the German foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop.

The few details available here said the meeting of Petain and Hitler took place late in the afternoon in the salon car of Hitler's special train "somewhere in France."

Marshal Petain, it was said, was met at the line between unoccupied and occupied France by Otto Abetz, German "ambassador" to Paris, who accompanied him by automobile to the meeting place, described as "a small railway station in occupied France."

Troops Present Arms.

When the aged marshal's car reached the station, a German battalion presented arms.

Von Ribbentrop, Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, and Chief of Protocol Von Doernberg received the marshal and Laval and accompanied them to Hitler's car.

The fuehrer, according to D. N. B., official German news agency, stood awaiting the two Frenchmen, and all retired immediately to the car. After the talk Hitler walked with Petain to his automobile.

WHAT NATIONS MAY GAIN

BERNE, Switzerland, Oct. 24 (AP).—The return of the French government to Paris, it was reported from diplomatic sources here, is termed the main consideration of any new agreement the Vichy régime might sign with Adolf Hitler replacing the present armistice terms.

Other concessions from the Nazis might be the release of all French war prisoners and the turning over of certain civil powers to the French administration in the occupied zone.

Diplomatic sources said, however, any agreement would permit the axis to use French air and naval bases in Africa, Syria, and France for operations against the British Mediterranean and South Atlantic lines of communication and the British blockade.

Use of Spanish Bases.

Hitler's visit with Gen. Franco of Spain was reported to have had the same objective—the use of Spanish ports and airfields, not only on the mainland, but in the Canary Islands.

Dakar in West Africa, Toulon on the Mediterranean, Bizerte in Tunisia, and Casablanca in Morocco are reported sought from France as bases. If the Germans permitted the French to return to Paris as their capital, the Nazis still would keep control of the Atlantic seaboard and a strip of territory contiguous to Switzerland and Germany for military purposes.

[Another dispatch from Berne said the Vichy government is expected to sign these terms: Cession of Alsace and Lorraine to Germany; cession to Italy of the French Riviera up to Nice; France and Italy to share the administration of Tunisia; France and Spain to come to a similar arrangement in Morocco, and the French armies in Syria and North Africa to "protect" the Italians' flank in their campaign against Egypt.]

Spanish Told, "Await Decision."

MADRID, Spain, Oct. 24 (AP).—The press urged all Spaniards today to unite about Gen. Francisco Franco and await the outcome of his meeting with Adolf Hitler.

"There is only one feeling among all Spaniards, including those who were enlisted on opposite sides during the civil war—absolute confidence in the generalissimo," said the newspaper Madrid. "Whatever Gen. Franco orders is exactly what will be done and that will be to the most vital interest of the country to do."

Said El Alcazar: "Spain is beginning to reap the fruits of her bloody and generous sacrifice."

3 PROSECUTORS OF JOHNSON GET SKIDMORE CASE

The three federal prosecutors who obtained a conviction in the tax evasion case against William Johnson, gambling house operator, are preparing the government's tax evasion case against William Skidmore, alleged political fixer for the gambling syndicate, J. Albert Woll, United States district attorney, said yesterday. They are Earle C. Hurley, Lawrence J. Miller, and Paul Plunkett.

Skidmore is charged in two indictments with evading payment of $822,483 in taxes and penalties for the years 1933 thru 1938. Originally, he was also to be tried for aiding in Johnson's evasions but was dismissed at the last minute before the Johnson trial.

Because of reports that evidence in the possession of the government involves numerous city and county political figures there is considerable interest in whether the trial will start before the election. Yesterday Woll asserted that when the case is ready for a jury he will ask that a trial date be set. The election will have no bearing on the matter, he said.

BRITISH SURPRISE ITALIANS; KILL 50, WOUND 400

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 24 (AP).—British general headquarters announced tonight that Italian forces suffered 50 killed and 400 wounded in a patrol battle on the frontier of Eritrea and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan Saturday night and Sunday morning.

There were no British losses, the announcement said. The clash occurred near Jebel Abu Gabel, between Kasalla in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, and Tessenei, Eritrea, when the British made a surprise rear attack on 1,000 Italians.

Reds Name Envoy to Axis Parley In Bucharest

Reports of Deal with Japs 'Unfounded,' Say Chinese

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 (AP).—Chinese authorities here said today reports of Chinese-Japanese peace negotiations could be "dismissed as unfounded." Increasing American support has given China new determination to fight on, they said.

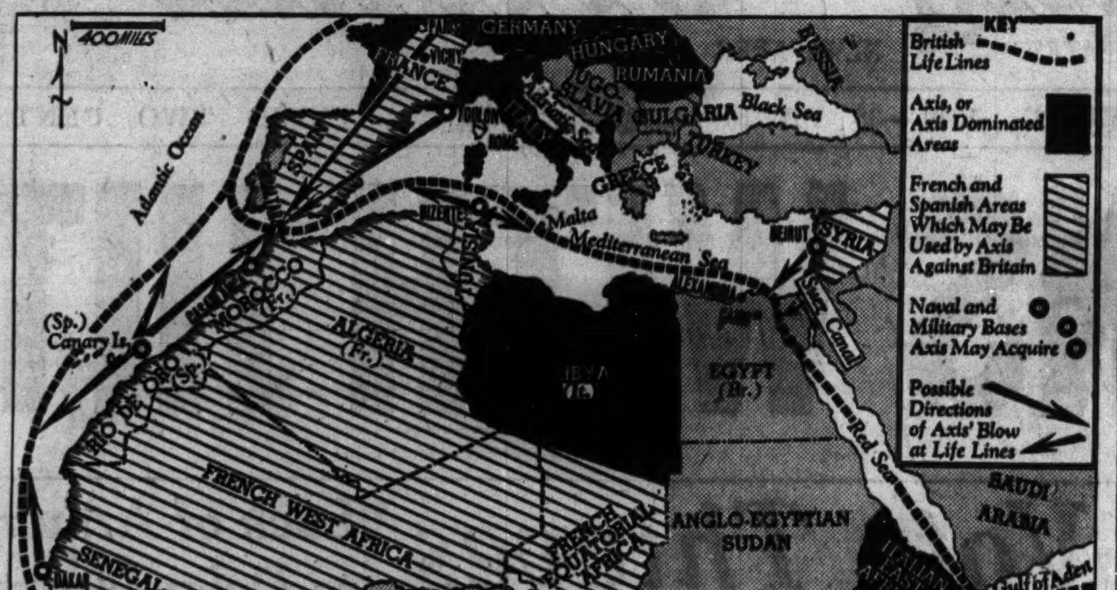
How Axis Powers Might Break British Lifeline



Foreign observers see in the proposed agreement between France and Germany, giving axis powers the use of French and French colonial bases, a threat to the British lifelines. With these bases and the use of the Canary Islands, they could halt British shipping to the far east on both lanes. It is presumed that the axis powers would get Beirut, Syria, since it is under French mandate.

A. F. OF L. ASKS HIGH COURT FOR CURB ON NLRB

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor urged the Supreme court today to protect labor organizations from what was called outrageous interference with their internal affairs by the National Labor Relations board.

Joseph A. Padway, the federation's general counsel, argued that the board had exceeded its authority in refusing to permit a craft union to determine its collective bargaining representative for negotiations with the Serrick corporation of Muncie, Ind.

The board declared that all the production employés, including members of the A. F. of L. craft union, should be the voting unit. It then designated the United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate, as the collective bargaining agency.

Padway asserted that such a ruling, if followed generally, would "destroy our internal organization that has existed for 60 years." He referred to the craft union setup of the federation as contrasted with the industrial unions of the C. I. O.

CRIPPLED AUTO VICTIM KILLED BY SECOND CAR

John Kosmach, 69 years old, of 1840 Cermak road, a retired hardware merchant, was killed last night in front of his home when struck by a car driven by Steve Prochaska, 28, of Lyons, Cook county. Kosmach, injured in a previous auto accident, walked with the aid of two canes.

Ellis Hawes, 66, of 140 West 66th street, a retired stationary engineer, died in St. Bernard's hospital of injuries incurred at Marquette road and State street Wednesday when he was hit by a car driven by Mrs. Sarah Kennedy, 58, of 7124 Normal avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 709 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 518 were killed in Chicago, where 19,178 were injured in the same period.

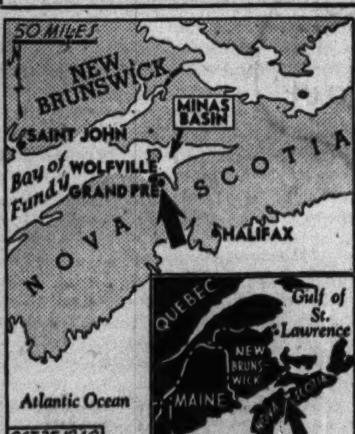
Acadians Aroused



Canada has picked a site near Grand Pre, Nova Scotia (arrow), for a proving ground for heavy ammunition, a move that may necessitate removal of Acadians.

WOLFVILLE, Nova Scotia, Oct. 24 (AP).—The residents of this fruitful land, immortalized in Longfellow's "Evangeline," are trying to avert what they are already calling "the second expulsion of the Acadians."

For with Canada at war and the need arising for a proving ground for heavy ammunition, some one picked the vast meadows that stretch to the eastward from the little village of Grand Pré on the shores of the basin of Minas.

That was where Evangeline and Gabriel lived in the 18th century, when the British forced the Acadians out of the valley.

The government decided to evacuate 15 farms on the rich dikeland. The farmers declared that an undeveloped tract might be found. So the government has reconsidered and a military engineer was due to come here today to look over alternate sites.

5 ILLINOIS GUARD CHIEFS INSPECT CAMP IN SOUTH

Five Illinois National Guard officers were in Tullahoma, Tenn., yesterday to inspect Camp Peay, where the 33d division of the Illinois Guard will begin a year's training in January. They are Adjt. Gen. Lawrence V. Regan, Lieut. Col. Arthur E. English of Kankakee, and Lieut. Col. Horace Thornton of Rockford, both of the division staff; Col. Robert E. Myrhman, commander of the 122d field artillery, and Col. Richard Smykal, commander of the 108th quartermaster regiment.

Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, division commander, said here yesterday the division would depart for Camp Peay between Jan. 3 and 19.

STRIKE CLOSES PLANT BUSY ON DEFENSE ORDER

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 24 (AP).—A strike, which a representative of the National Defense commission had attempted to avert, shut down the plant of the Aluminum Ore company today.

Thirteen hundred production employés walked out following the company's rejection of a demand by the Aluminum Workers' union [A. F. of L.] for a wage increase of 2 to 5 cents an hour. Wage negotiations had been under way since last July 1.

Joseph Keenan, assistant to Sidney Hillman, labor's member of the defense commission, conferred for several weeks with company officers and union agents but failed to break the deadlock.

The East St. Louis plant and another at Mobile, Ala., are considered vital defense units as they produce almost all available aluminum oxide from bauxite ore, initial step in the manufacture of aluminum. Ninety per cent of the fuselage, wing and tail structures of airplanes are made of aluminum alloys.

Mexico to Give All School Children Military Training

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 24 (AP).—President Cardenas today decreed military training for Mexico's 2,000,000 school children. The ministry of education, which made the decree public, announced that instruction would start in all public and most private schools on Nov. 1 under supervision of the war ministry.

HARASSED CAROL PLEADS FOR HELP FROM ROOSEVELT

Seeks His 'Protection' to Reach Portugal.

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 24 (AP).—The exiled former King Carol of Rumania, detained in Seville, Spain, with red haired Mme. Magda Lupescu, today sought thru a faithful follower to put himself under the "protection" of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Warden McK. Wilson.

Jean Pangal, one time Rumanian minister to Lisbon and now the harassed ex-monarch's personal representative, asked Warden McK. Wilson, the United States chargé d'affaires here, to appeal to Mr. Roosevelt for help in Carol's behalf.

Ask President's Intercession.

Specifically requested was the President's intercession to induce Spanish authorities to allow Carol, Mme. Lupescu, and his former palace minister, Ernest Urdareanu, to come to Portugal. They have been promised asylum here, and Carol has pledged to remain here thruout the war and to refrain from all political activity.

The American legation was studying the request.

The fact that Carol, Mme. Lupescu, and Urdareanu were under virtual arrest in Seville was disclosed yesterday. Originally they had been ordered to go to Granada while Spain considered extradition to Rumania, but subsequently they were allowed to remain in Seville pending the decision.

Denies Planning Flight to London.

Unofficially it appeared the Rumanians particularly sought Mme. Lupescu and Urdareanu, who long have been bitterly attacked by the pro-Nazi Rumanian Iron Guard.

Pangal said Carol's detention had followed reports by a German news agency that he was planning to go to London and form a new Rumanian government under British protection. Despite denials by the former king of any such intention, Pangal added, his arrest soon followed.

TURKS SAY HITLER'S MOVES SHOW NAZIS ARE IN DIFFICULTY

ANKARA, Turkey, Oct. 24 (AP).—The official Ankara radio declared tonight that Adolf Hitler's "trip to the Spanish border shows that Germany's position is difficult."

"If the situation were as the axis newspapers try to portay it," the radio added, "would the axis attempt so many political maneuvers at once, and would Hitler make such a trip?"

The Ankara commentator said Germany had run into difficulties in the attack on England and wanted "to use all European nations in this attack."

GERMANS HURL BOMBS ON BRITISH INDUSTRIAL AREA

Increased Force of Planes Attacks London.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Oct. 25, Friday (AP).—British planes raided Berlin last night, dropping explosive and incendiary bombs and setting fires which the Germans said were extinguished. Two British planes were shot down, a communique said. Some injuries were acknowledged.

LONDON, Oct. 25, Friday (AP).—German warplanes in heavy squadrons violently assaulted the industrial Midlands last night and in one town in that area two public air raid shelters were hit by bombs.

In London the "all clear" was sounded early this morning after an attack during which the Germans came over in greater numbers than for the last several nights. There was a second alarm in the morning, but it was brief and was reported light. Later, a German raider dive-bombed a London suburb, damaging houses, but no alarm was given.

Nearly all Britain was under attack—Liverpool, southeast Scotland, the west country, and the southeast coast.

A number of German attempts to reach London yesterday were beaten off, it was reported. Damage to industrial property in the London area was acknowledged, along with "considerable" damage to a town in Hampshire. The air ministry said some persons were killed and others injured in midland towns.

Tell of Attack on Berlin.

British heavy bombers cruised over Berlin for two hours early yesterday, pounding electric plants, railway yards and other targets in their 22d foray against the German capital, the air ministry announced last night.

The pilots said they flew squarely thru a great antiaircraft barrage and dodged grouped searchlights to bomb such objectives as:

The Berliner and Klingenberg electric plants; rail facilities at Tempelhof airdrome; the Lehrter station, terminal for Hamburg and Bremen; the Putlitzstrasse station in northwest Berlin; the Potsdamer station, and the Charlottenburg power plant.

Attack Over Wide Area.

The air ministry news service reported that other waves of bombers spread fire and devastation athwart the docks of Emden, North sea naval base; bombed factories east of Berlin and Bremen and at the mouth of the Elbe; penetrated to Wismar on the Baltic coast to attack the Dornier plane plants; beat at oil refineries at Hanover and Magdeburg; blasted docks and shipping near the Hook of Holland, and blasted airdromes.

Two German supply ships were reported sunk by torpedo planes off the Frisian Islands and a third "large" one bombed near the Hook of Holland. Resorting to an old trick, the British planes dived out of the sun to surprise a convoy off the Frisian Islands, sending two supply ships of 4,000 and 2,000 tons to the bottom of the North sea on Wednesday.

Another British squadron attacked a second German convoy off Trondheim, Norway.

Strong Units Take Off.

BERLIN, Oct. 24 (AP).—Strong units of the German air force left for London tonight, informed German sources said, ending a short period of relative inactivity.

The high command communique told of German raids yesterday in which, besides London, a factory in central England was reported bombed.

BRITISH AIR VICE MARSHAL BLOUNT KILLED IN CRASH

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP).—Air Vice Marshal C. H. Blount has been killed in an air crash, the Press association said tonight. He commanded an R. A. F. division in France prior to France's surrender.

Blount, who was 46 years old, was a world war veteran and a Commander of the Bath. He headed the army coöperation division of the R. A. F. No details of the crash were given.

It was understood that Blount met his death in a flying accident somewhere in England and not connected with any combat with the German air force.

REPORT U. S. PLAN TO SEIZE FRENCH CARIBBEAN ISLES

Vichy-Axis Deal Held Peril to Americas.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 (AP).—The United States, acting in coöperation with other American republics, was said reliably tonight to have plans ready for occupying French territory in the Caribbean in case such a step is deemed necessary from a hemisphere defense viewpoint.

Signs of possibly closer coöperation between France and the axis powers are creating intense interest here. The talks of Adolf Hitler with Marshal Henri Petain and Vice Premier Laval were watched closely for any indication of a new trend in French policy which might affect France's colonial empire or its fleet.

Seizure Is Provided.

The broad terms of the recent Act of Havana allowed wide latitude to the American republics in determining the circumstances under which French or other European possessions in this hemisphere might be seized.

It provided for emergency action when any of these areas "are in danger of becoming the subject of barter of territory or change of sovereignty."

The French colonies which might be seized in the event the Vichy government's policy became more pliant to Germany and Italy include the islands of Martinique and Guadaloupe in the eastern Caribbean approach to the Panama canal and French Guiana on the South American mainland.

Off the coast of Newfoundland, where the United States has acquired naval and air base sites, are the French islands of Miquelon and St. Pierre.

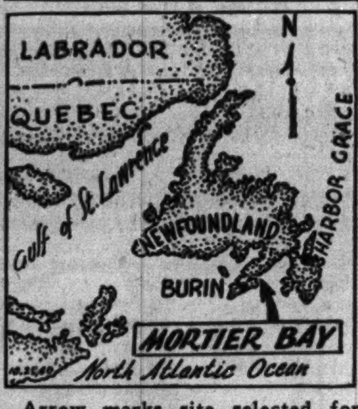
Martinique Watched.

Martinique has been under especially close American surveillance as a possible trouble spot because of some 100 American made military planes taken there on the French aircraft carrier Bearn immediately after the Franco-German armistice. British naval vessels also have maintained a watch to prevent the removal of the planes or the Bearn.

The United States has been negotiating with France for the return of the planes, but the necessity of obtaining permission of the armistice commission has been an obstacle.

Should occupation of any French colonies be decided upon, it was believed that American naval forces would carry it out with consent of the other American republics represented on the emergency committee.

Pick Base Site



Arrow marks site selected for United States naval base.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HARBOR GRACE, Newfoundland, Oct. 24.—Mortier bay, near Burin, on the south coast, has been selected as the site of a naval base for the United States. This basin is landlocked and has more than a 12 mile indraft. An air base will be located near St. John's.

Bermuda Sites Chosen.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Oct. 24 (AP).—Sites for United States air and naval bases already have been picked on this British island and construction work will begin the moment British approval is forthcoming, a spokesman for an American naval mission said tonight.

A shipload of planes also will be sent here immediately the go-ahead signal is given, the spokesman indicated following a meeting at the colonial secretary's office attended by the mission, headed by Rear Admiral J. W. Greensdale.

SAYS KENNEDY IS RETURNING, NOT RESIGNING

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 (AP).—Stephen Early, Presidential secretary, said today that Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy was returning home from London for consultation and that President Roosevelt "has emphasized the difference between that and resignation."

Asked about reports that the ambassador had told Mr. Roosevelt he would not return to London, Early replied:

"That is news to me, and I think I am fully informed and up to date on it."

Kennedy reached Lisbon yesterday from London. Traveling from Lisbon by Clipper plane, he was expected to reach New York Saturday.

ARMY AIR CORPS WILL BE DIVIDED INTO 4 DISTRICTS

Purpose of Broad Move Is Decentralization.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—The war department today announced plans to decentralize the army air corps into four air districts and to step up the four wings now existant in continental United States to seventeen.

The purpose is to effect decentralization of training and inspection duties of the commanding general of the general headquarters air force and to provide for the development of commanders and staffs for such special task forces as may be required for operation in war.

War Department Statement.

"This highly mobile fighting force will be so organized as to permit efficient operation by the whole or any special organized portion in the defense of any theater of the western hemisphere," the war department said.

In some circles the step was regarded as a move toward ultimate organization of the nation's air forces—army, navy, marine corps, and coast guard—into a single coöperative command. All aircraft might be organized in the various districts and supreme command given to the senior flight officer of the district, regardless of his branch of service.

Military experts have regarded the American air organization into separate units for the army, navy, and marine corps as weak because such division encourages disputes over command in overlapping jurisdictions and results in duplication of functions.

The Four Districts.

The four districts are to be known as the northeast, southeast, northwest, and southwest.

The northeast air district will have its headquarters at Hartford, Conn., and embrace the states of Minnesota, Iowa, and Missouri, and all the area east of the Mississippi and north of Tennessee and North Carolina, including the portion of North Carolina east of the line between South Boston, Va., and Cape Lookout, N. C.

The southeast air district, with headquarters at Tampa, Fla., will embrace the rest of the area east of the Mississippi, together with the states of Arkansas and Louisiana.

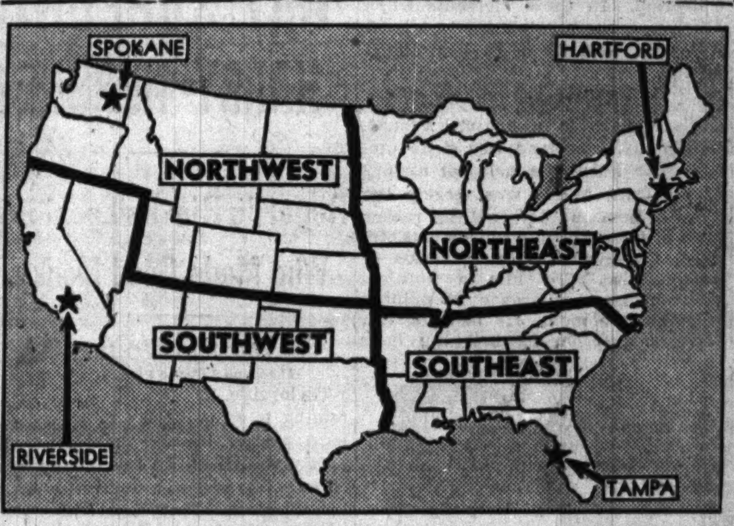
The northwest air district, with headquarters at Fort George Wright, Spokane, Wash., will embrace the states of Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas.

The southwest air district, with headquarters at Riverside, Cal., will include California, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, and Oklahoma.

Part of Expansion Program.

The seventeen wings are authorized as part of the air corps expansion program, which embraces the ultimate activation of 54 combat groups with their necessary complementary services. At present the air corps is organized into 25 combat groups with 4 wings in continental United States and 2 wings in overseas possessions—Hawaii and the Panama Canal Zone.

Army Air Corps Division Announced



The four districts into which the United States army air corps will be divided in new decentralization plan.

U. S. PLANES ARRIVE AT RATE OF 500 PER MONTH, BRITISH CLAIM

New York, Oct. 24 (AP).—The British Broadcasting corporation announced tonight, in a broadcast heard here, that "the United States is sending war planes to Britain now at the rate of nearly 500 a month. This number is still growing and is over five times as many as were sent four months ago."

Speed Up Fighter Planes.

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP).—Air Marshal Sir Philip Joubert announced in a broadcast tonight that the pride of Great Britain's flying force—her Spitfire and Hurricane fighters—are being more heavily armed and speeded up.

He added that the Defiants, 2 seater fighting machines with revolving gun turrets, were being restored to their "proper rôle" of night fighters and that, "with developments, should be very effective."

Several new types of fighting planes, representing "as big an improvement on the present Spitfires and Hurricanes as these were on their predecessors," are in process of being built, he declared.

JITTERY LEADERS BEG ROOSEVELT TO VISIT INDIANA

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 24 [Special].—Indiana Democratic leaders were making frantic efforts tonight to persuade President Roosevelt that he should include Indianapolis on the itinerary of one of his "nonpolitical" defense inspection tours or make an outright political speech in the Hoosier capital.

Feeling they need help to "save the state" from the admitted swing to the Republican national and state tickets, they have promised the President an audience of 100,000 if he comes to Indianapolis.

Gov. M. Clifford Townsend asserted he had received "indirect information which we consider to be reliable" that the President will stop in Indianapolis if he makes a proposed defense inspection tour to Scott and Rantoul army air fields in Illinois.

CONVICT FREED; SERVES EXTRA YEAR BY ERROR

Ernest Corbin, 34 years old, was released from Stateville prison at Joliet yesterday by order of Circuit Judge J. V. Bartley of Joliet. Corbin, who pleaded guilty of larceny in 1931, was sentenced to one to 10 years. Thru an error his crime was listed as larceny of an auto, for which the sentence is one to 20 years. He served an extra year as a result. Corbin registered for the draft before leaving prison.

Country Squire in the White House By John T. Flynn

V.—BUILDING THE NEW DEAL.

As the date for the conventions in 1932 approached, the imperious issue that commanded every one's attention was the depression. It was apparent that the country had lost faith in Hoover and that it was looking for a new savior. All sorts of men with all sorts of plans, programs, and panaceas were contesting for public approval. And Roosevelt was shaping up his own plans for the redemption of the country.

The great objective of every one was to get the economic system working again. There were many social abuses—social injustices. Crimes had been committed against banks, investors. Of course, these had to be righted. But beyond that the kinks, the bugs in the economic system itself had to be removed. It was not sufficient to punish sins; the business of the country had to be revived so that men could produce and work.

This was and still is the capitalist system. That is, it is a system of private enterprise, operated by individuals for private profit in the framework of a money economy. That system was stalled in a depression.

What produces depressions? Well, good times are produced by investment. People who do not spend their money on consumers' goods save it. And it will never be spent unless they invest it. The dynamic element in the capitalist system is private investment. When men were investing in railroad equipment, utility plants, apartment houses, office buildings, houses, industrial plants in the 1920s, we had prosperity. We had a slump because they had stopped investing.

The great problem of recovery was to find out why they had stopped investing and to make whatever corrections were necessary to start investment going again. This was the problem that confronted the American people as the two great parties met in June, 1932, to choose candidates and outline an approach to recovery.

Assembling the Solutions.

The problem, of course, by this time had become profoundly aggravated, because the slump itself had brought in its train a multitude of problems. Unemployment was mounting so that by June, 1932, there were probably 11 million out of work. The banks had been failing, and failures were increasing at an alarming rate. The farmer, having lost his market in town, was in distress—his products declined in price, he could not meet his mortgage charges and his debt; creditors were knocking at his door. The farmers were in revolt.

The whole problem presented itself in five parts. [1] How to take care of the victims—the currently unemployed—relief. [2] How to correct certain grave social abuses—old age pensions, labor evils, etc. [3] How to make the economic system work more smoothly. [4] How to bring about recovery—get investment flowing back into railroads, plants, utilities, building. [5] How to tide over the crisis produced by the bank collapse.

Roosevelt, facing the coming battle for the nomination, set about, as all candidates do, assembling a collection of solutions for the various problems vexing the nation. And he began, as most candidates do, by gathering about him a group of advisers.

The "Brain Trust."

Roosevelt, thru Raymond Moley, professor of government at Columbia university, brought together a group of men who could collaborate in forming a general program. The group included, besides Moley and Howe, Samuel Rosenman, New York Supreme court justice and a friend of Roosevelt; Rexford Tugwell and Lindsay Rogers, Columbia university economics professors; Adolph Berle Jr., authority on everything under the sun; Ralph Robey, a young economist from New York university whose field was finance.

After the nomination the group took in others, including Gen. Hugh Johnson. Together these men proceeded to forge what came to be known as the New Deal. And they were widely advertised as Roosevelt's brain trust.

The term "brain trust" was supplied by James Kieran, a correspondent of the New York Times. The term "New Deal" was not invented by Roosevelt, but by Moley. Roosevelt, up to this time, altho for years in public life, had made no contributions either of phrase, principles or terms to political life.

He gained some fame by dubbing Al Smith, the "happy warrior," in his speech nominating Smith in the convention of 1924. That speech was written for Roosevelt, a number of men working on it. The term "happy warrior" was contributed by Judge Proskauer.

Roosevelt's famous paragraph in the Farley case [Thomas M. Farley, ousted as sheriff of New York county], proclaiming a code of honesty for public officials was written by Raymond Moley. And now the terms "brain trust" and "New Deal" which he used were originated by two other men.

Raw Materials for Buildup.

Indeed, it is interesting here to make a brief inventory of the man who was now about to be made into a great national figure and hero—to look for an instant at what we might call raw material with which the publicity men and the public imagination would work in the coming "build-up" of a new public figure.

He was 50 years old, six feet one, broad-shouldered, handsome, with that kind of distinguished visage we are accustomed to in actors. He had a good voice. It had not been successful in platform speaking, but over the radio it had a special quality of clarity and charm. He was crippled, but in the best of health.

He had an extraordinarily agreeable manner amounting to charm and an exuberant friendliness that every one seemed to like. He was a man who had avoided quarrels and controversies, so that he had few enemies. He knew little or nothing of economics, confessed freely his ignorance of taxation, and was quite naive on the subject of finance.

He was not a student, not a reader, not interested in either the mundane or the transcendental sciences. Even Emil Ludwig, in his official biography gotten mostly from Roosevelt himself, observes that Roosevelt was "remote alike from religion and philosophy." He was not a thinker. He was a man of impressions and leanings and sentiments. What he knew he picked up mostly in conversation—a scrap here, a bit there.

He had a number of hobbies. First was his love of his picture collection of battleships and his interest in war vessels, particularly old war vessels and old naval books. He liked to sail a boat. He was deeply interested in the Warm Springs Foundation, established for the cure and research of infantile paralysis. He found a great deal of pleasure in his stamp collection. In those moments when other men are apt to turn to a book Roosevelt will turn to his stamp albums.

His Knowledge Limited.

His knowledge of history, science, philosophy, literature was quite limited. He knew the political history of his time, but it was largely the story of men and personalities rather than of measures and movements. Indeed, Roosevelt thinks in terms of personalities. To him a political question is a difference of opinion between two men. He feels he can solve a question by bringing both men together and getting them to shake hands and stop arguing.

He never had done very much writing. He was one of those many public men who were willing to have their speeches written for them. But he was an excellent reader.

He was warmhearted, generous in his sympathies, wanted to do something for the underdog. He was vacillating, indecisive, but impulsive. That is, he would put off action or decision on most things until driven to act, but might at any moment, without very much calculation and on the impulse of the instant, rush into some course or movement.

He was a good talker in conversation, chatty, pleasant, voluble. This was the man who soon was to be presented to the American people as the great figure to lead it out of the wilderness, and later as the one indispensable man to save it from Hitler.

HIS HOME TOWN WILL SUPPORT HARRY HERSHEY

Regards Him as Local Boy Who Made Good Money.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 24.—In this coal mining town of 7,500 population, the local lawyer, Harry B. Hershey, is pretty well liked by the fellows who stand and gossip around the court house square. They expect his neighbors to give the Democratic nominee a majority on Nov. 5 regardless of the state-wide Republican trend.

"He's a good guy," said Dr. J. W. Spresser, a dentist who is also the mayor. "He belongs to the nonpartisan crowd that runs the politics in this town, and I'm certainly not going to campaign against him. Anyway we haven't any organization here that functions outside of local politics. I don't even know how the policemen and firemen are going to vote on the state ticket.

He's a Republican.

"I'm a Republican, every one knows. I was photographed shaking hands with Dwight Green. Yet some one put me on Hershey's state-wide executive committee of fifteen. That's the way things go in a small town."

An overalled farmer, standing in front of a pool hall watching Main street traffic, said he thought Hershey a good Christian man.

"Of course," he added, "he's been buying a lot of farms since he mixed up with the Springfield crowd, but wouldn't any politician do the same thing?"

What Records Show.

Files of the recorder's office here show Hershey has purchased a total of 564 acres since 1934, in Christian county alone. He is said to own a total of 1,100 acres of farm land.

Outside of Taylorville, Hershey's profits from politics have not been rated as exorbitant. The late F. Lynden Smith, former Democratic campaign manager, who died mysteriously last March 9, commented on Hershey's appointment as chairman of the Democratic state central committee, "the bosses agreed on him because he's satisfied with a few receiverships."

Some Additional Fees.

In the insurance department at Springfield, records show that Hershey received $12,000 a year since July of 1937 as a general counsel for receiverships under this department. In addition, as a receiver and as an attorney for receivers he was paid fees before the new code became effective three years ago and some of these fees continued after the change in the law. He rates about $15 an hour for these legal services, it was said.

One of the few local residents outspoken against Hershey is Dr. G. L. Armstrong, a physician who was defeated for mayor in 1935 and in 1937. He is a Republican and against the entire biparty local group in power, including the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, the Republican mayor, and the Democratic sheriff and state's attorney.

Tells Gambling Situation.

"I've tried since 1935 to get the local law enforcement officers to clean up the handbooks, crap games, slot machines, and pin ball machines in this town," said the doctor. "I haven't been able to get anywhere and I don't expect I'll be able to get anywhere until the Republicans take over.

"Hershey has been in the local political picture for a long time. He was state's attorney from 1912 to 1920 and mayor from 1924 to 1928. We have a relic of his administration as mayor. Street car tracks are being removed at the expense of the city's gas tax money and WPA labor because Mayor Hershey didn't include the usual provision in a franchise putting this expense upon the public utility."

But Dr. Armstrong's attitude is not typical of that encountered on the streets of Taylorville. Hershey is an affable townsman liked by his neighbors. The folks who know him best are sorry that he has been linked to the Nash-Kelly organization and the state house sick room regency which named him a candidate for governor.

They say they are sure that if elected Hershey would not deal with the machine.

DEMOCRATIC ELECTOR RESIGNS BECAUSE HE OPPOSES THIRD TERM

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Oct. 24 (AP).—Ed L. Abingdon resigned today as a Democratic Presidential elector from the 10th Missouri congressional district.

In a letter to the Democratic state chairman, he said he was "unalterably opposed to any man holding the office of President of the United States for three consecutive terms."

Abingdon, a banker, was chosen an elector at a district convention. He did not attend the national convention at Chicago, he said, because "I realized that the nomination was going to be dictated by Mr. Roosevelt himself."

DETROIT NEWS, AN INDEPENDENT, OUT FOR WILLKIE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 24 (AP).—The politically independent Detroit News said in a front-page editorial today that "the present emergency demands election of a new President—Wendell L. Willkie."

The News, which supported no candidate in 1936, announced it believed in indorsements only in periods when an emergency existed and declared it believed the current campaign an "extreme emergency."

"The President's eight years have been marked by a deliberate exploitation of disunity," the editorial said. "In advancing social legislation for which there was obvious need he has gone so far as to promote class dissension, which democratic statesmanship should seek to adjust and compose."

MRS. EILEEN MILLER.

Mrs. Eileen Hennington Miller, crop forecaster and lifelong Democrat, predicted yesterday that a majority of the midwest agricultural vote will go to Wendell L. Willkie. She based her political forecast on surveys in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Kansas, and Missouri.

"In talking to the farmers in those states," said Mrs. Miller, "I found pronounced sentiment for Mr. Willkie. I also found a big majority of small rural business men favoring him. Totaling the two groups, I am confident Mr. Willkie will receive a safe majority of the rural votes in these states."

Mrs. Miller also said that she had decided to cast her vote for the Republican candidate. She said that she "admired his character, courage, ability, and honesty." Mrs. Miller said she believes in equality in administration of New Deal agricultural policies explains rural trend to Willkie.

WILLKIE LASHES BACK IN REPLY TO ROOSEVELT

Calls on Labor to Help in Unifying America.

of independent citizens, fully employed.

"Tonight I want to talk to you about something that will help us reach that goal. I want to discuss with you, very frankly, something we all talk about, but most of us do not understand—collective bargaining.

"There are no two words in our modern speech which are given so much lip service, but which are so little understood. Yet, unless we do understand what they mean, we cannot accomplish the ends we seek to achieve by collective bargaining.

"Jobs cannot be created for the nine million unemployed Americans unless there is a full understanding of collective bargaining. But if we do understand and use collective bargaining properly, then the standard of living will inevitably rise, and the prosperity and the independence of the farmer can be permanently restored.

Looks to Production Gains.

"And if we do develop collective bargaining to the utmost, the farmer will have to greatly expand his production in order to satisfy the needs of the industrial worker. The consuming needs of the American people have not begun to be met. Effective coöperation, mutual understanding between the government, labor, industry, and agriculture, depends in large part upon a full realization by all of us of the possibilities of collective bargaining.

"One of the first basic principals of modern American life is the inevitable and close relationship between labor and management.

"It has taken America many bitter and foolish years to learn that the relationship between labor and capital is like the relationship between the two arms of your body. The blood stream of each is common to both. Farsighted pioneers in the labor movement have known for generations that true collective bargaining between equals is one of the surest guarantees we have that democracy may be preserved.

Cites Another Basic Factor.

"Another basic factor in modern American life is the relationship between industry, which must include both the workers and management, and agriculture.

"The simple, obvious, plain truth is that America is not divisible. It is one. And what hurts one, hurts all. What profits one, profits all.

"The New Deal shows no evidence of knowing these things. No administration can lead America safely thru the hazards of this war-torn world unless it fully understands that America is one.

"Contrary to the New Deal theorists, government must understand life as it is, before government can work out plans for life as it ought to be.

"One sordid, sorry fact of American life we must recognize at once is the fact that nearly nine million Americans are without jobs today. Many have been without jobs for years. Whatever brought about our present problem of unemployment, one thing is plain: The New Deal has not solved that problem after eight years of power.

Points to Consequences.

"And today all that it offers to you is permanent unemployment on a gigantic scale.

In other words, after they have manipulated and mutilated the national credit — after they have doubled the national debt — the overall result, the terrible overall result is that we are in the same critical position in 1940 that we have been in during the New Deal's two terms in office. Over nine million citizens are still without jobs, and millions of Americans are without bread, except at the pleasure of the New Deal.

"We must and we shall continue relief until every unemployed American has a job made available to him. Furthermore, we shall support labor in every social gain it has made. These gains, for which the New Deal claims exclusive credit, were achieved over a period of many years by farsighted labor leadership, by the sweat, the toil, and the agony of the workers themselves.

"The credit belongs primarily to labor.

Calls Social Gains Essential.

"In the broader view, the social gains should not be regarded as something of importance only to the workers of our American society.

"They are important gains, essential gains—to all Americans, to our whole way of life. Wise employers and workers alike know that the social gains made during the present century have helped to create an atmosphere in which harmonious employer and worker relations can be developed; have helped enormously to further the principle of collective bargaining. And when I speak of social gains, I mean social gains made both nationally and in the several states.

"The New Deal speaks of the right of collective bargaining as something that has been accomplished.

"We know that isn't true. We do know that the national labor relations act is on the statute books, but so are many thousands of other laws. That isn't enough. Laws to be effective must be accepted and the task for the future is to educate labor and management to the possibilities inherent in collective bargaining.

Sees Strength as Goal.

"The truth is the New Deal has done nothing—and it has said nothing—to indicate any understanding of the important fact that collective bargaining is more than a socal gain for labor; nothing to show that it knows that collective bargaining is the very basis of further development and expansion of American industry under a democratic system.

"I think it is true to say that our great problem today as it affects not only labor but also the entire nation, is to achieve strength and full protection without sacrificing the individual liberties upon which this whole American system of life depends.

"Collective bargaining is one of the solid supports of the whole concept of individual liberty in our modern industrial society.

"Individual liberty cannot be maintained today except in a democracy.

"Democracy cannot survive unless it is productive.

"Unless we go on making more and more goods, unless we go on making more and more jobs, democracy cannot pull thru.

Hopes for Coöperation.

"You cannot have a growing economy except by understanding and coöperation between labor and management.

"Understanding and coöperation can be achieved between management and labor only thru collective bargaining by representatives of labor's own free choice.

"The New Deal has created bad blood between certain groups in industry and certain groups in labor. With the help of the leaders, both of labor and industry, I want to put an end to this era of bad feeling. I want to unify the spirit of America.

"With the help of both, we cannot fail."

REPLY TO PRESIDENT

In his radio address replying to President Roosevelt's speech of last night Willkie said in part:

"People of America: I had a very interesting half hour last night. I listened to the defense speech of the third term candidate, that is the defense of his own administration. It was strikingly similar to the defense system—the aerial, the naval, the military defense system—that he is building for these United States today.

"It was either obsolete or on order. It was obsolete for the reason that it discussed the issues of the 1932 campaign. It was on order because it promised jobs to you and the right to work. There is no issue between the third term candidate and myself about 1932.

Voted for Him in 1932.

"I voted for and supported him in 1932. I believed in the Democratic platform of 1932. There is no issue between the third term candidate and myself on the questions of old age pensions, unemployment insurance, collective bargaining, laws which guarantee minimum wages and prohibit men working more than so many hours per week, or the elimination of child labor and the retention of federal relief.

"I am not alone for all of these laws, but I advocate their improvement and reinforcement. The only issue in reference to these questions between the third term candidate and myself is that I want to preserve these social gains. The only way these social gains can be preserved is by keeping this country financially solvent.

"If we continue along the road of deficit financing, every year spending more than we take in, the end will be financial chaos, bankruptcy, and inflation which will result in the loss of every social gain as well as the loss of liberty.

"Telegraphed to Hitler."

"In his discussion last night the third term candidate spoke of falsification of the record. Many of the things he spoke of in connection with this I did not even recognize as having been said. There was one point he did, however, raise, and that was the reference to the Munich pact. He objects to the statement that he telephoned Hitler and his allies.

"As soon as that statement was called to my attention I corrected it, contrary to the practice of the third term candidate who never corrects any mistakes that he makes. As a matter of fact the third term candidate didn't telephone Hitler—he telegraphed him. And just so that there will be no mistake, this was the date: Sept. 27, 1938, the third term candidate telegraphed Hitler urging him to go thru with the Munich conference and stating:

"'Should you agree to a solution in this peaceful manner, I am convinced that hundreds of millions thruout the world would recognize your action as an outstanding historic service to all humanity.'

Tells New Dealers' Pride.

"Those were the words the third-term candidate telegraphed—not telephoned—to Hitler.

"The negotiations of which he speaks were held all right, and Senator Wagner and Secretary of War Woodring and the Democratic party in New York expressed themselves as very proud of the results achieved at Munich by the third term candidate.

"But you know I have a feeling that Belgium, Holland, Poland and France may well doubt whether it was a contribution to humanity.

"In the talk of last night, the third term candidate spoke movingly of the fact that the Presidency is a most sacred trust, and not a commodity to be sold by high pressure salesmanship.

Points to City Bosses.

"I agree with him about this. Will he not join me in putting that thought firmly in the minds of Boss Flynn, Boss Hague and the Kelly-Nash machine of Chicago? Will he not tell them that the Presidency is such a sacred trust that they should not use the manipulations of machine politics in order to secure it for the third-term candidate?

"I was also very much interested in his claims of accomplishment during his administration. And one of those that he put particular stress upon was the matter of bank deposit insurance.

"As a matter of fact the third term candidate opposed bank insurance when the legislation was passed. The Republican senator, Arthur Vandenberg [R., Mich.], was responsible for bank insurance. Just to show you how clear this is, Leo T. Crowley, appointed by the President as chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, wrote to Senator Vandenberg on Feb. 15, 1934, after the passage of the bank insurance law, as follows:

"'I consider you to be the father of the federal deposit insurance act.'

"Another interesting claim made by the third term candidate was in connection with recent employment of men in armament industry. He boasted last night that in the month of August this year 400,000 men were added to private pay rolls and he tells us that in September another 500,000 went to work. That is good, but it is a tragedy that it took a war and the consequent demands for armaments to start our people back to work.

"I'd like to give you the third-term candidate's own description of that kind of employment. This is what he said in 1936. Listen to it very carefully:

"'We know that vast armaments are rising on every side, and that the work of creating them employs men by the millions. It is natural, however, for us to conclude that such employment is false employment; that it builds no permanent structures and creates no consumers goods for the maintenance of a lasting prosperity.

"'We know that nations guilty of these follies inevitably face the day when either their weapons of destruction must be used against their neighbors or when an unsound economy like a house of cards will fall apart.'

Called it Fools' Gold.

"That's what the third term candidate said about employment in armament industry in 1936, and in 1940 I agree with him.

"And on another occasion, the third-term candidate told us that recovery that comes from armaments is fools' gold. I agree with him. And yet today he tries to justify his administration on the basis of recent reëmployment due to armaments, a false employment as he himself has told us.

"It was also interesting to listen to what he had to say about recovery since 1932. Of course, you all recall that 1932 was the bottom of the depression. A fair comparison would be: What has happened in his seven years compared with the preceding seven years?

"No amount of words can cover up the fact that today more than 9 million men are out of work.

"The third term candidate now tells us that he is determined in the next four years to make work for every man and woman in America a living fact.

Promises—Not Performance.

"Once again he gives us promises and not performance. He is going to do it in the next four years.

"Why hasn't he done it in the last eight years when he has been in complete control of government, when he has had a majority in both houses of congress?

"The other night when I was speaking in Chicago I put certain questions to the third term candidate, none of which he answered last night. I want to put some of the same questions to him today. The Democratic platform of 1932 promised a drastic reduction of governmental expenses. It promised a federal budget annually balanced and the New Deal candidate accepted that pledge in his own words 100 per cent.

"But not once in the eight years of his administration has the federal budget even approached a balance. The government expenditures have been more than doubled.

National Debt Doubled.

"The debt has been doubled. More than 60 billion dollars has been spent, two-fifths of all the money spent by the federal government since its founding over 150 years ago. And the number of employés on the federal pay roll has been raised from 560,000 to more than a million. Now, third term candidate, tell the American people whether Wendell Willkie falsified that part of the record.

"The third term candidate when he was running for his first term said: 'I propose to use this position of high responsibility to discuss up and down the country the duty of reducing taxes.' And he said that nothing was more important than [and I am quoting his language]—'this covenant with the taxpayers of the country.'

"But under his administration the federal tax burden has been trebled; taxes have been lifted to levels that have been exceeded only in one year during the world war.

"Mr. Third Term Candidate, tell the American people whether Wendell Willkie falsified that part of the record.

Questions His Pledge.

"Last night, the third term candidate, referring to the Democratic platform of 1940, quoted this language from that platform:

"'We will not participate in foreign wars and we will not send our army, naval, or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas except in cases of attack.'

"I hope, I hope sincerely, that that pledge made last night by the third term candidate, based upon the 1940 platform of the Democratic party, is remembered by him longer than he remembered the same pledge that he made with reference to the provisions of the Democratic platform of 1932."

RESIST THE FOES OF DEMOCRACY, ROOSEVELT PLEA

Lincoln Warning Against Fearmongers Cited.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—President Roosevelt today called on the nation to resist "slanderers of our democracy, who seek to divide this country by a strategy of terror," and to maintain confidence in the ability of the democratic system over dictatorship.

Mr. Roosevelt, speaking from the White House over nation-wide radio networks in connection with the New York Herald-Tribune Forum, quoted the warning against "fear mongers, appeasers, and calamity howlers" Abraham Lincoln delivered in the troublesome days before the civil war.

"Right Makes Might."

"Neither let us be slandered from our duty by false accusations against us, nor frightened from it by menace of destruction to government, nor of dungeons to ourselves," Lincoln said in Cooper Institute in New York City in 1860 in the memorable address which gave him Presidential stature in the east. "Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it."

The President elaborated this theme to embrace a denunciation of dictatorship and a praise of the democratic system, including a tribute to the fight the British are conducting against Germany. He did not mention the Presidential campaign or campaign issues.

A "Strange Misconception."

"The repeaters of these slanders to our democracy, whether conscious disorganizers or unwitting dupes, seem to believe that if they tell us often enough that democracy is outworn and we are decadent, we will begin to believe it ourselves; we will immediately, obediently, proceed to decay," he said.

"They have a strange misconception of our national character."

The slanderers believe, he added, Americans are "hybrid, mongrel, and undynamic," have no common tradition, are disunited and defenseless and no match for a dictatorship in which uniformity is compulsory.

"At first we dismissed this contempt with our traditional spirit of good humor," Mr. Roosevelt continued. "We are now replying to it in characteristically American terms.

Arming in Determination.

"We are preparing for the defense of the two American continents, and of the oceans that are highways of those continents. And we are doing so in a mood of determination, but unafraid and resolute in our will of peace."

Of Britain Mr. Roosevelt said:

"We see, across the waters, that system [democracy] undergoing a fearful test. Never before has a whole, free people been put to such a test. Never before have the citizens of a democracy—men, women, and little children—displayed such courage, such unity, such strength of purpose, under appalling attack.

"Their homes and their schools, their churches and their national shrines, are being destroyed. But there is one mighty structure more enduring than marble, more precious than all that man has built, and that is the structure of democratic faith.

"We have confidence in the ability of the democratic system which gives men dignity, to give them strength. We say with Lincoln: 'Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it.'"

CONVICT BOMBER OF MILK DEPOT; GETS 1-20 YEARS

Edmund Iwanski, a milk wagon driver, was sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary last night by Judge John Sbarbaro a few moments after a Criminal court jury found him guilty of bombing a milk depot at 5716 Elston avenue during the milk strike last July. Judge Sbarbaro overruled a motion for a new trial, but granted a 60 day stay to permit filing an appeal.

Assistant State's Attorneys William Crawford and Edward Healy said they would try to go to trial Monday with five other indictments pending against Iwanski.

Police said Iwanski confessed the bombing and led them to his home at 5362 North Nottingham avenue, where he showed them two dynamite bombs he had made. Iwanski denied making a confession and said that enemies in the Milk Wagon Drivers' union had "framed" him. Detective John Greer identified Iwanski as the bomber during the trial.

Fred Nedig, 56 years old, 537 North Bishop street, was fined $25 yesterday by Judge Harold P. O'Connell and ordered to serve out the fine in the Bridewell. Charles B. Olsen, 265 South Halsted street, said he was wearing a Roosevelt button at Clark and Madison streets Wednesday when Nedig accosted him, said, "Aren't you ashamed to wear that button after what happened to Willkie," and then struck him a hard blow. Nedig denied it.

WILLKIE WOMEN WIN THE ENEMY WITHOUT A WORD!

'Not a Democrat Around' Nudelman Home Town.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Belleville, Ill., Oct. 24.—The Republican women's caravan penetrated deep into the enemy's fold today and heard, with surprise, that it is theirs.

From Taylorville, home of Harry B. Hershey, Democratic candidate for governor, to Belleville, where one Sam Nudelman left his haberdashery to seek his fortune at a Springfield bedside, the caravan rolled in the midst of what they are assured is "a complete political turnover."

Southern Illinois, they hear on all sides, from filling station attendant, truck driver, and the lady choral director of the Methodist church to the Democratic women who pile into two cars to drive with them, is voting Republican Nov. 5.

Not a Democrat Around!

"There isn't an individual around here who isn't going to vote Republican," a gas man on the outskirts of Belleville told them.

The entire day, the second of the eight day women's crusade thru Illinois, has been one of surprised triumph. Warm, jubilant receptions have met them everywhere, from Blue Mound [population 817], where the whole town turned out and the village barber asked for a "No Third Term" sticker, to Belleville, where the sound truck took a fine spot outside the Roosevelt-Wallace-Hershey headquarters to tune up.

Want Buttons, Pictures.

At Taylorville, home of Mr. Hershey, the man at the billiard parlor had a Hershey sign on his window, but he pasted a "No Third Term" below it. Another, one of many, said, "All Southern Illinois is Going for Willkie, You Watch."

At Hillsboro, in beautiful Montgomery county, the women, whose ranks increase wherever they go, were depressed at first by the Roosevelt placards which festooned the hillsides. Then the town marshal approached. "We need buttons and pictures," he said. "Can't get any, and everybody wants them. We're going to deliver this county, didn't you know?"

With that he proceeded to direct traffic with a Willkie picture.

At Greenville, in Bond county, the square was full of men and women eager for the speeches and songs which the women's caravan delivered. "Even my old man's votin' for Willkie this year," one man vouchsafed. "First time I ever knew him to be interested in an election," commented a friend. "Well," returned the first, "he's got to this time—or else."

"Better than 10,000 Men."

One grizzled old man plodded up to the caravan and extended a hand to Mrs. C. L. Silvis, chairman of the women's division of the Republican state central committee.

"Sure glad you came," he said. "You ladies do more good than 10,000 men."

And so the day went, but the night went even better, from a standpoint of pure wows, for tonight the girls went to East St. Louis to address a Negro meeting. With them they took bright red flares, and Mrs. Pinkie Reeves, a Negro committeewoman from Chicago, as a speaker.

ROBBED OF $1,000 IN JEWELRY.

Albert Jacobsen, a jewelry salesman, was robbed of $1,000 worth of jewelry by two men who accosted him late yesterday in the 1500 block of Fillmore street.

COBB DENOUNCES PAY ROLLER OVER RECRUITING FIGHT

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 24 (AP).—Irvin S. Cobb, humorist and writer, addressing a Willkie rally, charged that Paul Sifton, "a confidential officer in the consumers division of the interior department," had written an article in a communist magazine, "Fight," which advised against enlistments in the army and navy during the recent recruiting campaign.

"'Tell them to go to hell!'" Cobb quoted the article.

"Go to Washington," continued Cobb, "and you'll find him comfortably ensconced, as a well paid office holder of our government, drawing pay these several years as an employé of the Uncle Sam he despises. He is the favorite economic adviser of his chief, the honorable Harold Ickes."

Sifton's Reply.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 (AP).—Paul Sifton, an official in the interior department, said today that an antiwar article by him which was referred to at a Willkie rally last night by Irvin S. Cobb was written in 1933 for "a now defunct magazine called 'Fight.'" Cobb's "discovery" of the article, he said, "is as mouldy as his recent humor."

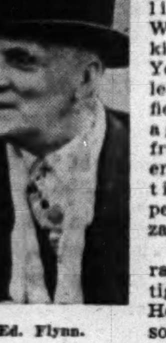
PUSH CAMPAIGN IN NEW YORK TO NIP VOTE FRAUDS

Reveal 200,000 Illegally on Poll Books.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 24.—Well documented reports of a Tammany Democratic plot to steal the Presidential election from Republican Nominee Wendell L. Willkie here in New York City today led to an intensified campaign against vote frauds by government authorities and independent organizations.



Ed. Flynn.

George Abrams, chief investigator for The Honest Ballot association, a nonpartisan group, revealed that an exhaustive investigation showed approximately 200,000 fraudulent registrations of voters in the city. He declared they occurred in the "heavily Democratic election districts."

"These false registrations took place in the Bronx where the machine of Democratic National Chairman Ed Flynn dominates the picture, in Brooklyn where Frank Kelly's Democratic organization is in control and in Manhattan where Christy Sullivan's Tammany Hall holds sway," declared Abrams.

Fourteen from One Apartment.

Abrams led a squad of investigators last night to the home of a Democratic district captain under Flynn in the Bronx. There it was discovered 14 persons had registered from the six room apartment of the Flynn lieutenant. The building janitor signed an affidavit stating nine of the persons did not live there.

Seventeen poll books, containing the names of registrants, are missing from polling places in machine-controled election districts of Brooklyn and the Bronx, altho a copy for public perusal should be kept on hand at all times.

Two hundred thousand extra votes, in the opinion of political observers here, would be more than enough to tip the scales against Willkie in a close election in this pivotal state on Nov. 5.

Won on Late Returns.

It was recalled that President Roosevelt, running for election as governor in 1928, won by only 25,000 votes. That year reports on the results in the Bronx where Flynn was boss were held up until the early morning hours while the other boroughs reported promptly. When the long count in the Bronx finally came in it was enough to put Roosevelt over.

To prevent another occurrence like that the Honest Ballot association is marshalling an army of 3,000 watchers for the polls on election day and is checking back on a flood of complaints pouring in daily.

The association is headed by Samuel Seabury, a democrat and former judge of the court of appeals, highest court in the state.

A staff of 125 investigators, selected from the ploice eligible list and recommended by the civil service commission, is combing the Bronx, Brooklyn, and Manhattan for registration irregularities. As a result of this inquiry hundreds of sealed warrants, obtained in the magistrates' courts, will be waiting for the arrest of false registrants at the polls.

Every strategem developed in Tammany's long history is being employed to increase the vote, it was said. Floaters and repeaters, it was learned, are being organized to circulate from polling place to polling place to turn out the tombstone vote—persons who have died but are still registered, and those who have moved away from residences.

The investigators have reported thousands of cases of aliens who have been allowed to register and numerous foreign born who have been naturalized too recently to be allowed to vote legally.

Under the direction of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey in Manhattan, a special election frauds bureau is prosecuting the fraudulent registrants as fast as they can be found thru the police checkup now under way.

Tricks at Polls

Precinct committeeman giving illegal help to a voter.

The precinct committeeman leaning on ballot box, another violation.

Tricks of dishonest officials who may attempt to steal votes or illegally influence voters on Nov. 5, were denounced last evening by George F. Barrett, Republican candidate for attorney general and treasurer of the Vote Fraud Fighters' Alliance. Photographs taken from an educational motion picture made by the Joint Civic committee were used to illustrate Barrett's points.

In the top picture a precinct committeeman [the man] is violating one of the fundamental election laws by entering a polling booth with a voter. The law specifically prohibits this act unless the voter requests help. In such case representatives of both parties accompany the voter and assist in marking the voter's ballot. It is an old practice for party workers to ignore this provision of the law.

The bottom picture depicts another election law violation. It shows the same precinct worker leaning carelessly on the ballot box itself. The election laws specifically state that such action is prohibited. The legislators who enacted the law believed that party workers use this method of intimidating citizens. Such an action also makes it easy to filch unmarked ballots from the judge's pile beside the box.

The election laws state that no party worker or watchers can stand close to the ballot box during the hours of voting.

NEW DEAL KILLS FARM MARKETS, M'NARY ASSERTS

Kendallville, Ind., Oct. 24 (AP).—Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Republican Vice Presidential nominee, carried his campaign into Indiana today with the accusation that New Deal reciprocal trade agreements "have sold part of the farmers' domestic market down the river."

Speaking at a northern Indiana rally, the western lawmaker condemned the Roosevelt farm program as negative and said the Republican party offered an "affirmative, hopeful blueprint."

Senator McNary told the rally the trade agreements, "which, in reality, merely constitute a roundabout way of rewriting the tariff, have left the farmer unprotected against imports.

"The New Deal, committed to the Democratic free trade tradition—if to no other time-hallowed Democratic principle—portrays at every turn a tender solicitude for the foreign farm producer.

"The United States, under the New Deal, is the only world trading country which consistently, as a matter of self-conscious policy, prefers the interests of foreign producers to those under its own flag."

WILLKIE HOLDING LEAD IN INDIANA, WISCONSIN POLL

Gets 53 Pct. of Straws in Both States.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Two batches of straw vote results from 11 Wisconsin cities and 13 Indiana cities are given in today's tabulation of THE TRIBUNE straw canvass in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan. In both Wisconsin and Indiana, Wendell L. Willkie maintains the lead he had in earlier straws. In both states the straws give him somewhat more than 53 per cent and President Roosevelt about 47 per cent.

WISCONSIN

First straw results in Milwaukee are in today's tables. Five separate polls were taken and more canvasses will be made. These polls show some extremely interesting trends. One canvass in the downtown district gave an almost equal number of straws to Willkie and Roosevelt. Most of these ballots were cast by persons voting outside the district, so no comparable figures are available from other elections.

In the 3d ward, along the Northwestern tracks, Roosevelt has 69.6 per cent of the straws. Four years ago he had a 73 per cent vote in this ward. It is known as an Italian ward. In the 12th ward the President has 69.4 per cent of the straws. Four years ago he had a 93 per cent vote in the ward. This is a Polish ward on the south side.

In the 18th ward the straw poll gives Willkie 61.4 per cent. Four years ago Roosevelt carried this ward with 55 per cent of the vote. This ward is on the north side, and is partly Gold Coast and partly rooming houses.

Willkie Leads Northwest Side.

The 19th and 20th wards to the northwest, wards of old German stock with a considerable sprinkling of Socialists, give Willkie 52.5 per cent of the straws. Roosevelt four years ago had 80 per cent of the votes cast in this ward on election day. Gov. Julius P. Heil, Republican, carried them two years ago with 57 per cent. Milwaukee itself was carried by Roosevelt four years ago with an 82 per cent vote.

Ten other cities are in the new straws. Willkie leads in eight, Roosevelt in two. Two polls in Madison gave the President 56.6 per cent in the business district and 77.8 in a factory straw poll.

Out of 12,946 Wisconsin straws tabulated from 25 cities, Willkie has 53.1 per cent of the straws, Roosevelt 46.9. For Senator, Fred H. Clausen, Republican, is high man in the straws among three candidates. He has 46 per cent; Senator Robert M. LaFollette [Prog.] has 35 per cent, and James E. Finnegan [Dem.] has 19. In the governorship three-way race, Gov. Heil has a majority of the straws, 53 per cent; Francis E. McGovern, Democrat, has 28 per cent; Orland S. Loomis, 19 per cent.

INDIANA

Two polls taken in Indianapolis are given in today's results. They move in opposite directions. In a canvass in the business district, Willkie has 69.1 per cent of the straws. In a poll of factory workers Roosevelt has 62.5 per cent.

The downtown poll was taken in the Circle Tower, the Electric building, the Guaranty building and on the street and is a cross-section of office workers and executives, insurance companies, lawyers, doctors, and shoppers, many of the straws being cast by women. The factory poll was taken at the Chevrolet Body works, the Adams Road Grader plant, the Diamond Chain plant. At the Chevrolet plant, which is C. I. O., Roosevelt got 70 per cent of the straws.

In Washington a poll taken largely around feed stores and implement shops from farmers, gives Willkie 53.3 per cent, where Alf Landon had 46 per cent in 1936 and Raymond E. Willis, Republican for senator, led by a few votes in 1938. At Boonville, the field squad struck a fox hunters' fair with many farmers in attendance. Willkie had 55.6 per cent of the straws. Landon's vote four years ago was 43 per cent.

At New Albany, home of Senator Sherman Minton, Roosevelt has 52.8 per cent of the straws, where in 1936 he had 60 per cent of the vote. Two years ago Senator Frederic Van Nuys, Democrat, carried this town with a 52 per cent vote. A poll of the building in which Minton has offices was 28 to 18 for Willkie. The senator got 60 per cent of the straws cast in the town.

In Bedford, where the building stone comes from, Willkie got 58.9 per cent of the straws. The Landon vote in 1936 was 52 per cent; so was the Willis vote two years ago.

Rushville Is for Willkie.

Rushville, Mrs. Willkie's former home, gave him 64.7 per cent of the straws, where Landon had 54 per cent of the votes.

In Newcastle and Muncie Roosevelt led in the straws. Newcastle gave him 53.7 per cent, which is close to his 56 per cent vote in the city four years ago. Muncie gave Roosevelt 54.4 of the straws where four years ago he had 59 per cent of the vote at the polls. On the senatorship, Willis leads Minton in the cumulated 13,001 straws from 32 cities, 54.8 per cent to 45.2 per cent. On the governorship, Glen R. Hillis, Republican, has a straw vote of 54.2 per cent; Henry F. Schricker has 45.8 per cent.

Wisconsin, Indiana Poll Returns

Below are the 13th day's tabulations of the straw vote being taken by THE TRIBUNE in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin on the principal candidates in the election of Nov. 5. These returns are the second from Wisconsin and Indiana. The tabulation shows the number of straws cast for Willkie and for Roosevelt and the percentage for each. The table also shows the percentages for the principal candidates in the elections of 1936 and 1938.

Total Indiana Republican and Democratic straws..........13,001.

A total of 77,867 straw votes on the Presidential race has been cast thus far in Illinois. Of these, 37,348 were cast in Chicago, 6,567 in Cook county towns outside Chicago, and 33,952 in downstate cities. Willkie has polled 57.4 per cent of the straws downstate and 62.5 per cent in the Cook county towns, and Roosevelt has polled 57.2 per cent of the straws in Chicago.

In the state contests Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for senator, has polled 56.1 per cent of all straws and Senator James M. Slattery, Democrat, has polled 43.9 per cent. For governor, Dwight H. Green, Republican, has received 58.0 per cent of the straws as against 42.0 per cent for Harry B. Hershey, Democrat.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney has polled 53.7 per cent of the straws cast in Chicago in the race for prosecutor, and Judge Oscar F. Nelson, his G. O. P. opponent, has polled 46.3 per cent. Courtney has polled 39.2 per cent in the Cook county towns and Nelson 60.8 per cent.

In Michigan 7,111 straws have given Willkie 51.8 per cent and Roosevelt 48.2 per cent.

In Iowa 13,815 straws have given Willkie 55.1 per cent and Roosevelt 44.9 per cent.

Results of 124,740 straw ballots have been tabulated and printed in the 13 days of tables.

WILLKIE TAKES LEAD AGAIN IN NEW YORK POLL

Hurja Sees Victory with 300 Electoral Votes.

New York, Oct. 24 [Special].—Wendell Willkie broke the deadlock in the New York News poll today and went into the lead with 50.6 per cent of the statewide straw votes. Yesterday only a fiftieth of one per cent separated the two.

With 28,074 ballots from many parts of the state counted, Willkie had 14,196 and Roosevelt 13,880.

Emil Hurja, who predicted the Roosevelt landslide in 1936, today forecast that Willkie will be elected President, with an indicated 300 electoral votes to 231 for President Roosevelt. Hurja added that the President apparently was losing ground.

Fifty Million May Cast Vote Nov. 5; a Record for Nation

HOW MANY WILL VOTE?

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Qualified voters	60,576,979
Estimated popular vote	49,719,200
Popular vote in 1936	45,647,117
Popular vote in 1932	39,816,522

[Copyright: 1940: By the Associated Press.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—A compilation of official and unofficial estimates of registrations in the 48 states indicated today that the American electorate may cast its biggest vote in history on Nov. 5—roughly, 50,000,000.

The former record was 45,647,117 in 1936, which compared with 39,816,522 in 1932.

Politicians who were forecasting a comparatively light vote several months ago have jumped their estimates after witnessing record registrations in recent weeks and other evidences of increased voter interest.

File Intentions to Vote.

Unprecedented filings of intentions to vote have been noted in New York and California, in New England, and many interior states. Urban registrations have been particularly heavy, and women appear to be ready to march to the polls in larger numbers than ever before.

An analysis of the state-by-state estimates of potential voters shows that 60,576,979 persons are qualified to vote in the Roosevelt-Willkie contest—aroung 45 per cent of the nation's total population of 131,409,881 as estimated by the census bureau.

Allowing for 15 to 20 per cent of the qualified who normally do not vote, it is estimated that the popular vote next month may be around 49,719,200, or about 37 for every 100 of population.

~~The~~ number of "potential" voters this year is estimated at 80,528,000 by the census bureau. This includes all citizens over 21 but excludes aliens, inmates of penal and mental institutions, and voteless residents of the District of Columbia.

Estimate of Eligible.

The estimate of "eligible" voters is considerably lower because many persons make no effort to qualify.

While the estimated total popular vote is figured at around 50,000,000, many factors could change the result. At best, the total is only a rough forecast. The actual vote might be influenced by the weather, prominent issues, and party get-out-the-vote efforts.

The 1920 vote, after the Harding-Cox campaign, brought out 26,705,346 voters, with women casting ballots for the first time. This was a 4.4 per cent increase over 1916. The increase in 1924 over 1920 was 8.8 per cent. This jumped to 27.1 per cent in the Hoover-Smith election of 1928, then dropped to 7.9 per cent in 1932 and rose again to 14.6 per cent in 1936.

Should the vote increase this year equal that of 1936 over 1932—5,830,595—the total would be around 51,000,000. If it equals the average increase for the last four elections, the total vote will approximate 50,380,000.

FANNIE MAY CANDY Helps Me Play the Parts I Like Best!
JANET LOGAN, lovely radio star, who plays the leading role in the network serial "Stepmother," is a Fannie May Candy fan. After recently visiting the Fannie May Kitchens, Miss Logan said
"Next to the applause of my radio listeners, I enjoy most the applause I get from my friends when I serve Fannie May Candies in my home. It's a real help in my work at the studio, too, because I've learned to depend on my favorite Fannie May Creams to give me that extra 'pep' that rehearsals and broadcasts frequently demand—days when my role takes every bit of energy I can put into it. When I saw it being made in the spotless Fannie May Kitchens—with all the luscious goodness that goes into it—I knew why Fannie May Candy couldn't help play a 'star' part on any occasion."

REPUBLICAN.

Clergy and Laity Turn Against Third Term.

(Provided by the National Committee of Democrats-for-Willkie.)

Today we turn our column over to three distinguished Americans, two clergymen and one layman.

First is the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale, pastor of the Protestant Marble Collegiate church, New York City. Dr. Peale says:

"An American dictatorship would probably be more subtle and less crude than elsewhere, but none the less totalitarian. The technique is always the same. . . . Well intentioned at first, benevolent in appearance and perhaps in purpose, it inevitably results in the loss of the people's liberties. . . . I personally feel so strongly that I would not vote for my own brother for a third term."

Second is Judge Joseph M. Proskauer, noted jurist, of New York, who says:

"We stand at the parting of the ways as England did when Chamberlain resigned. There too, timidity made the plea, 'don't change in a crisis.' England changed late, but still in time. France changed, but too late and went down to ruin. Let us change and change in time and change now. Recognize that a divine providence has given us in Wendell Willkie a Winston Churchill for America."

Catholic Leader Speaks.

Third is the Rev. James M. Gillis, widely known as a radio preacher on the "Catholic Hour" and as editor of "The Catholic World." Father Gillis in the current issue of his magazine says:

"The imperialistic policy of the Roosevelts contains more possibilities of disaster than any other of the numerous changes that have taken place in our laws and traditions. Interfering here, there, and everywhere in Europe, Asia, Africa, in Australia, and in the islands of the South Pacific we shall hasten the end of the great American experiment.

'You Have Had Enough.'

"It is for this reason, above all others, that I think the electorate should hand Franklin D. Roosevelt his walking papers on election day. We should say to him what canon law says to better, wiser, humbler, saintlier men: 'Step down.' Give place. You have had enough.

"As for me, I would not put a Cleveland or a Lincoln or a Washington in office for a third term.

"The President seems to be afflicted with an incapacity—congenital or acquired, or both—of recognizing the consequences of his own actions. . . . 'For many years,' he says, 'every ounce of the energy I have had has been devoted to keeping this nation and the other republics at peace with the rest of the world. That is today the objective for which I hope and work and pray.' Yet, he repeatedly castigates the dictators, calls them names, threatens and challenges them all, presumably as a means of preserving peace.

"I confess I don't understand the man, but I do think him inconsistent and unpredictable. A 'dangerous,' 'reckless,' 'audacious,' 'inconsistent,' unpredictable man is no man to be three times President of the United States."

DEMOCRATIC.

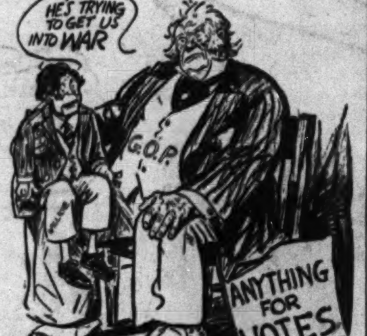
Did Willkie Make Jobs?

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee.)

If you wish to know why men are unemployed despite the tremendous business pickup under Roosevelt, study the record of Wendell Willkie's holding company, Commonwealth and Southern.

The record shows that six subsidiary companies of Commonwealth and Southern had fewer employés in 1939 than they did in 1937. Yet most of them had greater revenues than they did two years earlier.

Mr. Willkie was president of the parent company in both these years.



HE'S TRYING TO GET US INTO WAR
G.O.P.
ANYTHING FOR VOTES

The Master's Voice.

Was he creating jobs? He was NOT. Is there any record that he was seriously concerned about the creation of jobs? There is NOT.

Yet as the Republican nominee for President, Mr. Willkie now promises to create jobs by the millions. The man who couldn't make jobs in his own little bailiwick is going to accomplish this feat for the entire country.

No Help Wanted.

The irony of Willkie's promise to create jobs lies in the fact that the entire power industry is a notable laggard in providing employment. Other industries have made remarkable strides in providing new employment over the last seven years.

About 13,000,000 men and women have found employment in all types of private industry since they were walking the streets under Mr. Hoover. But the power magnates are still more concerned about financing and fighting the government's power program than they are about jobs.

No "Danger" to Investors.

Of course, Wendell Willkie always disowns any connection with the inflation era of the power industry. Yet the record shows there was more than $500,000,000 in "water" on the books of Commonwealth and Southern which was stricken off—just before President Roosevelt got to the White House.

When Willkie was a young lawyer in Ohio, working for the power industry, he signed a brief opposing the Walsh resolution for an investigation of the power trust.

Then came the CRASH showing the power business to be the most brazenly mismanaged business in the history of American industry.

Do you want the man who defended this business in the White House? Don't gamble—vote for Roosevelt.

12 HOUR LIMIT ON TRIPS IS KEPT BY ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 [Special].—White House Secretary Stephen T. Early said President Roosevelt would like to visit Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan but he does not wish to travel more than 12 hours away from the capital.

Commenting on the President's promise to Gov. John Stelle of Illinois to make a "defense" visit to that state, Early said that Illinois political leaders had interpreted the acceptance of the invitation to mean that Mr. Roosevelt would make the trip before election day. At present Mr. Roosevelt has no plans to go farther west than Cleveland, O.

Frantic New Dealers have been urging the President not only to appear in the midwest in an attempt to win back lost votes but to aid local Democrats, who are facing defeat Nov. 5.

Flames Damage Joliet Hotel, Once Banker's Home

The interior of the Hotel Lincoln, 115 Richards street, Joliet, was almost totally destroyed by fire last night. The hotel, a residential one, is of stucco and is three stories high, including penthouse. It formerly was the home of George Woodruff, former Chicago and Joliet banker.

Sidelights

Scalise: Gangster Pal of Mighty

BY OBSERVER.

Now that George Scalise, soft voiced former undertaker and convicted pander, has been sentenced to 10 to 20 years in New York state prison for looting union treasuries, the question remains: Why did it take so long to catch up with him?

George Scalise.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey was the one who broke up the gun ruled game which permitted Scalise to live on a princely scale off the earnings of 70,000 union scrubwomen, elevator operators, porters, janitors, and bowling alley pin setters.

Swift Rise to Riches.

Scalise's swift rise to riches began in 1934, when he came into the Building Service Employés International union as eastern representative. That was the year when many union organizers were increasing the numbers of dues paying workers by telling them: "President Roosevelt wants you to join a union." In fact, there were handbills printed with that statement, which some workers thought carried the force of law.

It was Scalise's boast, in any case, that he ran the membership up from 19,000 to 70,000. In 1935 he became fifth international vice president and in 1937 he was named by the executive board as president following the death of Jerry Horan of Chicago.

The swarthy associate of Capone gangsters lived at the best hotels, occupied their choicest suites. He topped off breakfast with Napoleon brandy [$15.80 a bottle] and tipped the waiter and wine steward $5 or $10 apiece one visit to Chicago, investigators found.

Union Paid Gangsters' Bill.

Political connections enjoyed by Scalise were revealed by Dewey's men. Scalise once accompanied two notorious gangsters to Cuba and charged the hotel bill for the party to the union. One of the gangsters was Augie Pisano, also called Anthony Carfano.

Pisano, a former bootlegger, gambler, and industrial racketeer, is the son-in-law of Tammany Leader Jimmy Kelly. Six years ago Kelly ran a spot in Brooklyn called the Paradise, which was a rendezvous for Scalise, Pisano, Joe Adonis, and other underworld figures.

When Scalise was with the Car Washers and Polishers union of Brooklyn, backed by Pisano, the union sent out goon squads to wreck cars. Nothing came out of the brief investigation made by District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan.

Another Tammany leader who has been a close crony of the fallen labor boss is Al Marinelli, who occupied the important post of clerk of New York county. Marinelli resigned under fire two years ago when Dewey exposed him as a pal of gangsters, thieves, and dope peddlers.

Inquiries in Washington last spring after Scalise's prison record for violating the Mann act was discovered showed that federal authorities were busy passing the buck as to who should be interested.

However, one day after Scalise was sentenced to prison, Oct. 8, on Dewey's charges the deposed union ruler was indicted for evading $104,582 in federal income taxes.

Broken Window in Club Called: 'New Deal Tactics'

New York, Oct. 24 [Special].—A sign reading, "New Deal Tactics," was placed today on a big window of the Independent Willkie club headquarters at 1970 Broadway beside a hole made by a stone thrown thru the window last night. The plate glass was braced so that the 12 foot crack extending from the hole could not grow and let it fall altogether.

1,200 FROM ALL WALKS OF LIFE UNITE FOR G. O. P.

Green and Brooks Talk on Near North Side.

More than 1,200 voters from the 43d ward overflowed a hall at 725 North avenue last night and roared a greeting to Republican candidates. The meeting was one of four G. O. P. ward gatherings.

Persons from all walks of life packed the hall at the 43d ward meeting and formed a second loud speaker audience in the street. Cowbells, confetti, and horns were pressed into service to welcome Dwight H. Green, candidate for governor; Wayland Brooks, nominee for United States senator, and the other candidates.

Raps Sales Tax on Food.

Green said he would seek legislative action to remove the sales tax from food if elected governor. Analysis of state revenue shows, Green asserted, that every dollar needed for relief and other purposes can be obtained without exacting tribute from the dinner table.

"The sales tax on food affects every one," Green said, "but is most keenly felt by the poor. Their tables are being taxed to provide funds already far beyond the revenue sought originally by enactment of the occupation tax law. This excess is being poured into increasing pay rolls, contract graft, and campaign printing and postage."

Brooks was cheered when he declared "Roosevelt has had more money to spend than prince, potentate, czar or dictator and still we're not prepared to defend the United States in the face of a war threat."

Democratic Deceit Charged.

Justus L. Johnson, candidate for secretary of state, declared deceit and hyprocrisy have been woven into the entire fabric of the Democratic party, but have been adopted as working principles by the Kelly-Nash axis in Illinois.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt in a most literal sense 'put the muscle' on his party to secure the nomination," Johnson said. "When the name of the President was put on the Illinois ballot it was put there by a dishonest and thoro connivance of the incumbent secretary of state as the tool of the Kelly-Nash machine."

At a meeting of the Wendell L. Willkie office workers at the La Salle hotel last night, former United States Senator Lester Jaffe Dickinson of Iowa, said the country's only salvation is to restore confidence and multiply jobs in private industry by electing Willkie.

Ben L. Berve, chairman of the Republican state central committee, issued a statement yesterday charging that the Democrats had launched a last stand radio campaign to smear Green.

"Public sentiment for Green has assumed such dominating proportions that the Democratic machine in utter desperation has finally called out the hatchet men and character assassins to wage an 'aerial blitzkrieg,'" Berve said. "In last night's radio talks Democrats 'treated' the public to $2,508 worth of the lowest form of mud-slinging and distorted facts."

Earlier in the day Brooks stopped for a chat with workmen of the west central manufacturing district after making a noon speech at 5700 West Taylor street.

Old Friendliness Urged.

The Republican party, Brooks told 400 workers in the manufacturing district meeting, seeks to restore the friendly relation between employer and employé. At the end of his speech workers rushed forward to shake his hand.

"It's always been a mortal sin in my family to vote Republican," one worker told Brooks. "But I can't take these Democrats any more."

"You'll win sure," chorused Stanley Rydlewski, 6028 Navarre avenue, and Joseph Christi, 7936 Elm Grove drive, Elmwood Park. "Curly [Brooks] has to win," Kester Shipp, 1301 South 56th court, Cicero, chimed in. "He and Green are my guys."

PRESIDENT ACTS TO SOFTEN LEWIS' EXPECTED BLAST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—President Roosevelt this afternoon moved to soften the blows he expects John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, to deliver against the third term candidacy over the radio tomorrow night.

The White House released without comment a letter President Roosevelt addressed to House Majority Leader John W. McCormack [D., Mass.]. The letter called upon "Dear John" to press for enactment of a bill relating to inspection and investigations in coal mines, which would give the department of interior broader authority over health and safety than it now has. The plea for enactment of the legislation came while congress was virtually shut down until after Nov. 5. The bill was passed by the senate last summer, but drew no notice then from the White House.

White House interest in the measure came after Lewis's visit last week. It was after this visit that Lewis, whose relations with Roosevelt have cooled since he financed a large part of the 1936 campaign, announced he is going to make a radio address in which he will give his views on the present campaign. He is expected to blast the New Deal.

N. Y. High Court Barred Communists from Ballot

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 24 (AP).—A State Supreme court justice today barred the communist party from the Nov. 5 election ballot in New York. Justice William H. Murray said testimony of witnesses from Franklin and Greene counties at a hearing this week made him "unalterably convinced that there is not on the petition signatures of 50 persons from each of those counties obtained without fraud and concealment.

TELLS HOW SEC PLOT TO SMEAR WILLKIE FAILED

Investigator Says He Was Found Above Reproach.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—A former official in the New Deal administration today disclosed that he had been directed to make "a politically inspired investigation" of Commonwealth and Southern corporation, the company which Wendell Willkie formerly headed, but that he found nothing which did not "reflect great credit upon Mr. Willkie."

This disclosure came today from C. Roy Smith, former director of the public utilities division of the Securities and Exchange commission and in that capacity charged with enforcement of the public utility holding company act. Smith resigned on July 1, 1939, expressing to friends his thoro disgust with practices within the SEC.

New Smear Attempt.

Smith's statement, issued from his law office in Long Beach, Cal., and distributed by the Republican national committee, came on the heels of attempts by New Dealers to smear the Republican Presidential candidate on his utility record. Smith said that they may make another such attempt at the last moment in the campaign without giving the candidate a chance to reply.

For several years the SEC has been probing into the affairs of Commonwealth and Southern and its subsidiaries, notably the Georgia Power company, and recently efforts to discredit utilities in general have been intensified. The SEC was forced to give Willkie a clean bill of health last spring, but this has not stopped Tommy Corcoran, Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, and other New Dealers from continuing an underhand attack on Willkie.

It is understood that Corcoran left his official position in the administration by President Roosevelt's side in order to direct the smear tactics from New York thru the "National Committee of Independent Voters," in which he is associated with La Guardia and Norris.

Statement of Smith.

Smith's complete statement is as follows:

"I have been intensely interested in the present political campaign—perhaps more than most—because I was, until recently, a cog in the New Deal machinery and at the behest of the 'inner circle' of the New Deal, I personally, tho reluctantly, directed a politically inspired investigation of Mr. Willkie's company, which I am happy to report disclosed nothing whatever that did not reflect great credit upon Mr. Willkie.

"I was director of the public utilities division of the Securities and Exchange commission, and as such I was charged with responsibility for the administration and enforcement of the public utility holding company act, a pet bit of New Deal legislation which has been often called 'the death sentence to holding companies.'

"In that position, it was my duty to study and analyze the history of each of the public utility holding companies of which the SEC had jurisdiction. It was incumbent upon me also to familiarize myself with the financial structure, the characteristics and trade practices of such companies, and to acquaint myself with the executives responsible for their success or failure.

He Praises Willkie.

"It quite naturally fell to my lot to investigate, study, and analyze the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, Wendell Willkie's company, and in the course of my duties, it was my privilege to become personally acquainted with Mr. Willkie, and when I say 'it was my privilege,' I mean just that.

"It was my considered judgment that Mr. Willkie's company was one of the most ably managed and most successful of its kind in the nation and I also found Mr. Willkie to be a forthright individual who never at any time sought any undeserved favors and, despite the fact that he and his company were then being constantly harassed by the administration, he was aways most cooperative.

"Knowing pretty well the type of men now dictating the policies of our federal government, and understanding pretty well the type of mind possessed by many of the radical New Dealers who are determined to force upon the people of this country a third term and perhaps a fourth or more, I would not be greatly surprised if, at the last moment of this campaign, without giving Mr. Willkie any opportunity whatever to reply, these character assassins would attempt some spurious political attack upon him because of his business background.

"Above Reproach."

"Let me say now, and I think I am qualified to speak if anyone is, that despite any statistics that may be juggled for political reasons, or any figures that may be twisted to suit the purpose of such individuals, Mr. Willkie's record of accomplishments is a most enviable one and his reputation above reproach. That applies with equal force to the happy relationship which he has established and maintained with customers and employés.

"I believe that credit should be given where credit is due, and most certainly Mr. Willkie's record as a business executive is not one that can be honestly criticized.

RAIN AND LIGHTNING SWEEP OVER CHICAGO; DAMAGE IS SLIGHT

A violent rain and electrical storm swept thru Chicago and the suburbs last night, causing temporary blackouts in several areas. Lightning struck a power circuit in the Maxwell street district and the police station was in darkness for several minutes before candles were lighted. The effect of the storm was heaviest in the western and southern suburbs. Two homes in Brookfield were reported struck by lightning. The lights in the city hall in East Chicago, Ind., were extinguished.

HOOVER ASSAILS NEW DEAL CURB ON FREE VOTING

Columbus, O., Oct. 24 [Special].—There can be no free election in America with such a political machine as the New Deal, Herbert Hoover declared here tonight in a speech broadcast over a radio network.

"Does any man believe," he asked, "that even today ten million households are not tied to this party by other forces than pure reason?"

An intellectual dishonesty that has been put over on the country, Hoover said, is the representation that the New Deal stands for liberalism.

"Mr. Roosevelt scarcely makes an address that he does not refer to 'we liberals,'" the speaker said. "He summons all liberals to join him. Earl Browder and Harry Bridges were joiners for a long time.

"But you cannot be or make a liberal by just shouting 'liberal' and denouncing everybody as 'reactionary.' The only definition of 'liberal' the New Deal has adhered to is one in the dictionary, which implies copious spending. But that dictionary definition implies spending one's own money."

HINES HOSPITAL VETS COMPLAIN THEY CAN'T VOTE

Several ex-service men confined at Hines hospital protested yesterday that under the election law they are disfranchised. The law states that a citizen may vote only by means of an absentee ballot if he is absent from Cook county. If he is confined to a hospital or his home within the county and cannot get to the polls he may not vote under the law.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S WARS ON ORDER.

Mr. Roosevelt in opening his campaign of self-defense seemed to realize that he himself has persuaded the people that he has one, if not two, wars on order, and that the country will have them on hand if he is given the third term and with it the mandate he will affirm goes with it. He has persuaded the people to this conclusion and it will be difficult for him to persuade them otherwise by what he says in self-defense.

All Washington wouldn't be talking about war as a certainty without having reason for it. Washington is a gossipy place and things get about. It isn't necessary, however, to trust to grapevine information or even to confidential remarks in high places. Mr. Roosevelt's words and acts for the last three years have run in a logical sequence, each adding weight and significance to the others, and the total effect is a disclosure of purpose.

Mr. Roosevelt said that it seemed almost unnecessary to deny the charge that the participation of the United States in some foreign war had been pledged, but that the fantastic misstatement had been made and that he must brand it for what it was. He said: "There is no secret treaty, no secret obligation, no secret commitment, no understanding in any shape or form—direct or indirect—with any other government or any other nation in any part of the world, to involve this nation in any war or for any other purpose."

Mr. Roosevelt may be in a position to make that unqualified statement. However, it is not fantastic to consider the probabilities or possibilities. When Mr. Wilson ran for his second term as the man who "kept us out of war" he had an understanding with the British government and it was in writing. It wasn't known then nor was it discovered until his close associates began writing their memoirs. It has not been fantastic for people to wonder what Mr. Roosevelt's communications with a warring government might have been. He knows that secret agreements have been entered into before and he knows that they have been dissembled. It is a usual and not unusual thing in foreign policy maneuvers.

Mr. Roosevelt has been in closer personal touch with the heads of foreign governments at war than any other President. He has coöperated with them to an extent undreamed of before. He has already entirely abandoned the neutral position and he has made this country an active participant in a foreign conflict. It is useless for him to say that he is not going to war. In a very real sense he has already done so. Mr. Roosevelt has had the king and queen of England as his guests. He is in close association with the very able British ambassador, Lord Lothian. His last week-end guest was the earl of Athlone, the brother of the dowager Queen Mary.

Before France cracked, Mr. Roosevelt was in the closest personal touch with Premier Reynaud. It was to Mr. Roosevelt that the Frenchman made his last appeals for help, for "clouds of airplanes," and Mr. Roosevelt, in reply, promised that all the material resources of the United States would be thrown into the support of France if it would continue to fight for civilization. That put the United States as close to war as it possibly could go without actually fighting. Mr. Roosevelt's promises on this occasion, as on so many others, were vain. He didn't have what France needed. But Reynaud understood where he should appeal. There was no secret about any of this. The agreement was open but none the less portentous because it was.

It can be said that there's nothing secret about Mr. Roosevelt's promises to Great Britain. Here he has been able to deliver more goods. He secretly denuded our arsenals to send eighty thousand machine guns, hundreds of cannon, and millions of other weapons out of the country so that today we have not enough equipment to drill our volunteers and nothing at all for the men to be conscripted. He gave Great Britain the 50 destroyers and as a part of the bargain took over the defense of British possessions in this hemisphere. That deal accrued to the benefit of the United States, but if the bases had been obtained long before in the proper manner, which was by purchase, the United States now would not be in the position of defending the possessions of a nation at war. We would be defending our own.

We do not know all the things that Mr. Roosevelt has done without, as he says, a secret understanding, but enough of it is of public record to prove that he is as deep in the war as he could possibly get without sending ships, and planes, and troops abroad. And from what he has already done people are quite justified in believing that is what he intends to do. His military program is not for the defense of the United States. It is not built that way. It is built for foreign service, and well informed military men can point out each detail which indicates that.

Mr. Roosevelt's government and the British government are working in complete accord in the far east. There may be no secret understanding, but there is an open plan which develops in consultation between the two governments just as if there were an alliance. Mr. Hull's warnings to Japan serve the purpose of the British foreign office. When the British closed the Burma road to supplies to China there was a momentary divergence of policy, straightened out when the British reopened it and, in coöperation with the Washington government, started the supply trains moving again.

No one can doubt that there is a naval agreement between Great Britain and the United States, and very likely it need not be called secret. The United States has the use of the Singapore naval base; American naval and army advisers have visited London within the last few weeks. The two nations are agreed on the Netherlands East Indies and are working together. All these things are open and are as significant as if they were stipulated in duly ratified treaties.

In a most substantial fashion Great Britain at war and the United States ostensibly at peace are working together. Mr. Roosevelt's disavowal of secret understandings does not alter these facts nor does it change their meaning as to the future. In his self-defense campaign he cannot extricate himself from the record nor will he extricate the country from the war, on which he has so far advanced, if he should get his third term. He will not want to extricate it. What he has done thus far is merely preliminary to what he will do if he gets in the election what he will call the authority to do it.

If America wants any assurance that it will not be sending men to foreign battlefields it must make a fresh start with a new government. No matter what Mr. Roosevelt promises now, he will find the opportunity to say later that he was forced to do differently. That is his answer to every one of his broken promises that he wants to explain.

NINE FORGOTTEN MEN.

Cook county is entitled under the existing apportionment to nine seats in congress. It shares the 10th district with Lake county and that seat, as most citizens know, has been capably filled in recent years by Mr. Church. But it is more than a little difficult to remember who occupy the seats from the nine exclusively Cook county districts.

There is, of course, Half-a-Congressman Sabath, who keeps in the public eye not thru any ability but as an over-ripe candidate for a congressional slum clearance program. There come to mind his two little Red colleagues, Congressmen Mitchell and McKeough, who gained transitory notice by joining him in the corporal's guard that sought to kill the Dies committee.

But who the other six are we forget at the moment, and we are not going to take the trouble to look up their names, because if we did so they would be meaningless to nine out of ten of their constituents. There is only one city in which these nine Democratic ciphers are less well known than in Chicago, and that is in Washington. They do show up every two years in Chicago, bawling "Roosevelt and Humanity," but where they spend the periods between elections is a great mystery. No one in Washington has ever heard of them.

They are all Roosevelt rubber stamps, but such a particularly low variety of rubber stamps that the Great Humanitarian does not deign to give them their orders direct. He gives the orders to Ed Kelly and at the boss' command the whole pack of them rolls over and plays dead or sits back on its haunches and howls, whichever the scenario calls for.

It is time that Chicago retired its nine ciphers to the complete anonymity of private life. They are as bereft of influence as they are of ability. In nearly eight years during which their party has been in power they have produced nothing for their districts, their city, or their state. The second city of the nation deserves a voice in the nation's councils. It will not get it until it elects some Republican congressmen.

WASTED POSTAGE.

A friend of this department came to us the other day with a grouch. His son had moved to Detroit five years ago, but half a dozen advertisments a week came to him thru the mails at the old address. A daughter had married and was living in California, but she, too, continued on a dozen sucker lists, under her maiden name. His wife had died, but appeals for charity and announcements of sales still came to the house, addressed to her. We ought, he said, to write an editorial condemning this irritating waste of money.

We explained to this gentleman that he had our sympathy, but the subject was an awkward one for us. We sell advertising in a newspaper and any observations we might make about our direct-by-mail competitors would be suspected of bias. He hadn't thought of that, he admitted, but he didn't regard it as important. After all, he said, if you can succeed in shaming your competitors into keeping their mailing lists up to date you will have stiffer competition to face. At present a large part of the direct-by-mail advertising is so much printing and postage wasted.

We suspect that is true. What portion of the mailing lists must be regarded as a total loss we do not know, but experience suggests that it is considerable. We should suppose that in their own interest the mail advertisers would make a far more strenuous effort than they do make to keep their lists up to date.

Editorial of the Day

IN HIS STRIDE.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

The results of the latest Gallup poll, which shows greatly increased strength for Willkie in the middle western states, suggest that Mr. Willkie has now hit his stride and is the thorogoing master not only of his own views but of the paraphernalia which surrounds any Presidential candidate.

The mechanics of campaigning must be particularly baffling to any one who first encounters them from the top, as Willkie has. Just how great a feat this adjustment is few who have not been involved in politics at first hand are likely to realize. Here was a man who, in his preprimary days, was free to travel about the country as and when he wished, saying exactly what he chose. The conditions following his nomination were wholly different. Suddenly he found himself surrounded with the unfamiliar machinery of politics, with endless advisers—all of whom had to be heard but few of whom could do much more than contribute to a state of confusion—advisers urging him to soft pedal this, to disregard that, to promise such and such.

This indomitable man stuck to his guns. He had stated his views. He continued to reiterate them, and in his own fashion. And now it is quite obvious, not only from the nature of his campaigning but from the public response, that he has mastered the strange and, to the outsider, baffling art of campaigning. So far as the Republican campaign and Republican policies are concerned, Willkie is indisputably in charge.

A BOMB FOR SHAKESPEARE.

Airplane raids do not deserve scholarly footnotes, but the German bomb that recently damaged the hall of the Middle temple in London calls for a few remarks from an angry bookworm. In that stately place of legal assembly, one of the finest pieces of Elizabethan architecture in England, Shakespeare's merry "Twelfth Night" had, perhaps not its first but certainly one of its earliest performances.

The evidence on this point is as cleancut as anything in Shakespearean lore. You may find in the British museum a manuscript diary written by a lawyer of the Elizabethan period named John Manningham. He was a member of the Middle temple. Under the date of Feb. 2, 1601, he jotted down this:

"At our feast we had a play called Twelve Night, or What You Will. Much like the Comedy of Errors or Menechmi in Plautus and near to that in Italian called Inganni. A good practise in it to make the steward believe his lady widowe was in love with him, by counterfeiting as from his lady in general terms, telling him what she liked best in him, and prescribing his gesture in smiling, his apparel &c., and then when he came to practise, making him believe they took him to be mad."

The Middle temple, so called because the original buildings on the site belonged to the Knights Templar, is one of London's "inns of court." They are legal rookeries, rich in tradition—law schools, offices, chambers, dining halls and libraries rolled together in a fascinating historical scramble. The halls of these "inns" were frequently used for theatrical entertainments in the Shakespearean period. They have provided atmosphere for many English novels.

We have nothing like them in this country, but in Dover, Del., near the capitol, you may find a quaint cluster of small, red brick lawyers' dens, in Georgian architecture, that are a colonial reflection of the London tradition.

C. O. R., "while looking at a blonde" [Oct. 23], is inspired to anagrammatic fury, and from the plaque on her desk bearing the word "Information," picking letters left to right, finds 26 words, none of which would seem to be arresting, luring, inductive, or persuasive. The word "fain" expressing pleasure or desire should have been added. "Noon" or "matin" might suggest the "notion" of "a" luncheon at the "inn."

To C. O. R.'s list may I then add at least an equal number: Inform, inn, into, ion, Ira, noma, noon, norm, Norman, Norn, notion, fain, foin, format, fort, oat, on, Ora, ort, rain, ratio, main, matin, a, an, Ana, Io, rio. Renard.

"I LAID AWAKE ALL NIGHT."

SOME of us have difficulty in falling to sleep. Perhaps the trouble does not come regularly, but every now and then we find ourselves so keyed up that Morpheus cannot be captured.

By nature there are good as well as bad sleepers. In other words, consciousness may be aroused in one by the touch of a feather, while another will require a blast of artillery to bring even a semblance of alertness. The difference lies in nervous stability. Those who are anxious, worried, or jittery never relax completely.

At the outset we can understand why every sufferer should receive a careful physical inventory, as internal or external causes may be responsible. If toxins are circulating in the blood because of kidney disease they may keep the nervous system in a state of constant agitation. Liver disorders and infections play the same rôle. In addition, high blood pressure acts as a persistent irritant.

If some organic "starter" can be remedied the symptom will disappear. For example, the wakefulness of a victim of pneumonia vanishes with convalescence. If discomfort somewhere in the body can be eased, the patient will immediately pass into dreamland. It calls for a rather phlegmatic disposition to snooze with a jumping toothache. But such a trifling cause as too many blankets on the bed—with an undue sense of heat and weight—works to the same end.

Many of us forget that the old adage, "I am too tired to eat or sleep," has a real basis in fact. One can be so fatigued mentally, so worn out, that cerebral congestion results. Pondering over perplexing problems—constantly going over the pros and cons—cannot fail to force a large supply of blood into the brain. Thus it is that insomnia ensues.

For this type there is no better remedy than restoring the balance of the circulation by means of a hot bath. With this procedure the skin glows—becomes filled with blood—and the head region is thus relieved. Tepid baths have much the same effect—many individuals dozing off shortly after immersion. Occasionally a hot water bottle to the feet is helpful.

Eating habits must also be considered. The heaviest meal of the day may be taken at noon, with but light nourishment after 4 p. m. On the other hand, some persons find that a glass of milk and a few crackers at bedtime will be followed by a feeling of comfort. Then, too, we can practice self-control. If mastery can be acquired over wild and bizarre cogitations, the battle is half won.

Of drugs there are legion. By and large bromides are the least harmful, altho barbituric acid preparations are now more popular. But we must recall that if luminal is used it may come to be depended on to the detriment of health. One thing that we do know is that we must not employ opium in any of its forms. To resort to habit forming compounds is tantamount to playing with fire.

How much slumber will one need to keep well and at optimum efficiency? There is no set rule. Six hours will be sufficient for a large number, while others must have eight or nine. We can remind ourselves also that considerable rest—rebuilding of reserve—occurs when we are merely lying down—possibly staring at the ceiling. Many observe that a half hour of reading often brings drowsiness.

BACKACHE.

A. L. writes: Why is it that my back aches when I get up in the morning?

REPLY.

Perhaps it is lazy. It may be reluctant to go to work supporting the trunk of the body. A number of possible causes should be investigated—arthritis, muscle strain, an infection [from teeth, tonsils, or sinuses], the postion of parts of the spinal column, etc. In women, disease of the pelvic organs may be responsible.

ANESTHETICS.

Mrs. J. G. writes: Is it dangerous for an adult to take ether when having the tonsils removed?

REPLY.

In skilled hands, ether is a safe anesthetic. Its use, however, has been replaced quite largely by ethylene or cyclopropane.

NOT NICOTINE.

Mrs. W. L. writes: Is nicotinic acid a form of nicotine?

REPLY.

No. The substance is derived from lean meat, liver, milk, and rice. It can also be prepared in the chemical laboratory.

EGG THROWING PARTISANS.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—It seems a shame that a candidate for the Presidency should be subjected to such indignities as displayed in Chicago last evening.

This seems to be another of the New Dealer tactics to curtail American liberty. F. D. R. should be proud of the caliber of his vociferous supporters.

Such actions as these were not as prevalent as this before, and after another "reign" of Boss Roosevelt, all I can see for us is "Heil Roosevelt."

Are we as Americans going to sit by and allow this to happen?

An Ex-Democrat.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—The dastardly attack on Mr. and Mrs. Willkie last night is just another blot on the fair name of Chicago. I notice that no one throws tomatoes or eggs at Mr. Roosevelt. Are all the hoodlums lined up with the New Deal? Anyhow, such un-American outrages make thousands of votes for Mr. Willkie.

Fair Play.

[The Tribune acknowledges the receipt of numerous other letters commenting on the egg throwing episode.]

A CROSS IN THE SQUARE.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—I want to call attention to something important that has been overlooked in this discussion of how to vote.

The mark must be a cross placed in the center of the square. Why, then, should any one use a check [✓] mark or carelessly place the cross outside of the square [even partly]? Such ballots are thrown out. M. K.

INSPECTION TOUR NEEDED.

Moberly, Ind., Oct. 23.—A letter to Dear President:

"I was examining the Spanish-American cannon that our congressman some 20 years ago had placed in our courthouse yard. I find that some of the spokes in the wheels are rotting and it is leaning on its foundation. We have found that the balls piled near by don't really fit the bore. That's a distressing fact. Couldn't you run out here before election day and give it a once over? We will arrange for a pitch-in dinner in the courthouse basement and you could make a few nonpolitical remarks. We're awfully distressed over the condition of our defense, for no telling when we might need it. The sooner you come the better. Let us hear from you. Peter Highhouse.

BOOK LOVERS IN OAK PARK.

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 21.—The civic minded citizens of this village will give a new main library to Oak Park despite the negative attitude taken by a local publication.

The infuriating horse-and-buggy attitude of '88 is neither consistent with the policies of progress which we have long been proud to call our own, nor worthy of the spirit of culture.

While we are not unmindful of, nor lacking in sympathy with, the sentiments wrapped up in Scoville institute we, the youth of Oak Park, feel that adequate library service, modern facilities for cultural, civic, and spiritual growth are the life blood of progress, the one ideal we feel certain was in the mind of the great visionary, James W. Scoville, when he made the then bounteous gift of the institute building.

We, the book lovers of this village, who until now have been willing to "take," are more than willing to give of our hearts, our hands, and our votes in grateful appreciation to the library board and staff for our literary legacies and opportunities afforded us in the cause of education. Jack Miller.

INTERESTING NEWS.

Pontiac, Ill., Oct. 23.—I don't talk much, but I get around and listen. Willkie will be elected Nov. 5, if that is interesting. It should be. Homer W. Hall, Acting County Judge.

THAT GRASS GROWING YARN.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—In your column a letter signed J. L. H. states that back in 1932 Mr. Hoover said "Grass would grow on the streets" if the present indispensable self-drafter should be elected at that time. This is a deliberate falsehood used many times by New Dealers. Yes, the present third term candidate uttered the same falsehood from the Chicago Stadium in 1936. Mr. Hoover was explaining what would have happened to the small midwestern towns had our Chicago banks been forced to close their doors due to the run on the banks at that time and which he prevented by sending or having sent large sums of money to bolster the banks. New Dealers should look up facts before drooling at the mouth.

F. A. MacDonald.

FIGURATIVE ROTTEN EGGS.

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 23.—The sadly misnamed "World's Greatest Newspaper" gives first page prominence to the fact that Willkie had a couple of rotten eggs thrown at him; since The Tribune indorses him so heartily, I don't wonder at that. But I do wonder that your paper can brand such acts as insulting, while in the same issue [and all others, too] it figuratively does the same thing to our great President by its nasty cartoons and editorials. We all know that The Tribune never fights fairly, but even it can go too far for self-respecting people.

Anyhow, we can thank heaven that there are many decent citizens who can't be influenced to think as your paper does; in fact, one word from that smear sheet and decent people do the opposite. It's a good guide of what not to do. B. S.

PROVING DICTATORSHIP.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Quoting from today's Tribune we read: "At his press conference today Mr. Roosevelt said [in effect] with a broad smile that he is cutting thru the red tape which has held up the completion of his pet project. He said that he is able to act without senate ratification, etc."

All this refers to development of the St. Lawrence river. In this he is going ahead with a matter twice turned down by congress—once under Hoover and once under himself. A. S.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—We are grateful for the life Lincoln lived, for the influence he wielded on the youth of the land and for the memory which he has left as a heritage to all of us.

We can draw deep inspiration from the ideals which he exemplified in his life and work and from these ideals we can gather wisdom for our guidance in these anxious hours when the national defense has become the paramount issue of the day.

Our need today is for more men with the noble character of that great man—Abraham Lincoln. F. Marion Smith, 87 Years Old.

ATTORNEY'S SERVICES.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—What is the obligation of a person to a contract when he has affixed his mark to it, signed by witness, and now desires to withdraw from said contract as a client?

The case concerns an automobile-pedestrian accident. The victim is still far from recovery but desires a free hand to deal directly with the insurance company in effecting a settlement if and when he has fully recovered.

As yet no services have been rendered by the contracting attorney except that perhaps he may have issued a lien on the insurance company. K. W.

"The law is well settled that a client has the right to discharge his attorney at any time either with or without cause. The relation between attorney and client is such that the client is justified in seeking to dissolve that relation whenever he ceases to have absolute confidence in either the integrity, the judgment or the capacity of the attorney."

"Where a client makes no charges against an attorney, merely electing to have a substitution, the court has undoubted power, before granting it, to impose such terms as are just. Ordinarily such a substitution will not be ordered without providing that the former attorney's fees and expenses shall be paid or secured to him, or that his lien shall be preserved; and an original attorney is not bound to consent to a substitution, or to deliver papers upon which he has a lien, until this has been done."

"Where the complete performance of an attorney's services has been rendered impossible, or otherwise prevented by the act of his client, the attorney may, as a general rule, recover on a quantum meruit for the services actually rendered." 6 Corpus Juris 725.

COURTNEY SAYS HE'LL CONTINUE WAR ON RACKETS

Scott Lucas, Louie Lewis Assail Willkie.

A pledge to fight labor racketeers until they are driven from Cook county was made by State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney in a radio talk last night. Racketeering has been reduced in his eight year campaign, Courtney told his audience, but the work is not finished.

"In those unions which unfortunately fall into the hands of racketeers you have men posing as the friends of labor who are really enemies of labor," the state's attorney said. "They will publicly proclaim how they love labor, but their only interest is the illegitimate profit they can make for themselves.

Take Toll from Workers.

"They take a toll out of every dollar's worth of dues paid in by these hard working men and women—janitors, scrub women, laborers, and the like. A few are clothed in a robe of respectability. Some pose as professional men, but all alike are hidden conspirators of the unlawful combine.

"They are the kind that give to labor the Scalises, and men of that type. And to this element I say that the fight against them has not ended. It will carry on, not just for today, not just for this campaign, but until they are successfully driven out."

United States Senator Scott W. Lucas and Louie Lewis, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, also took to the airways with attacks on Wendell L. Willkie and Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor.

Lucas Tells of Dangers.

Lucas said the Republican party is offering a "utility lawyer-lobbyist for President and a utility lawyer for governor of Illinois," and termed the campaign "a fight between the public utilities and the public defenders."

He told his listeners that the fall of England would place dictators in control of air, sea, and land in Europe and Asia. He warned against the danger of Japan in the Pacific and urged voters to "keep our government in the hands of men who are experienced and can be trusted."

Lewis charged that election of Green as governor would lead Illinois back to "Len Smallism." He told his listeners that Werner Schroeder, Republican national committeeman from Illinois, was treasurer of the statehouse committee for Small.

"Just as he advised Len Small, so is Werner Schroeder now advising Green what to do and how to do it," Lewis said.

Harry B. Hershey, Democratic candidate for governor, spoke at four ward meetings and charged that the "Republican party is committing the most heinous crime against patriotism in this campaign by playing politics with out national unity."

"The American people realize that the dictators of Germany, of Italy, of Russia, and of Japan applaud everything that is done to discredit President Roosevelt's foreign policy," Hershey declared. "National defense must be kept a nonpartisan matter. National defense must be kept free from political double dealing."

Granted Divorce

MRS. VIRGINIA LEE PARR.

Virginia Lee Parr, blonde photo model, could not endure the prospect of spending the remainder of her life in Clarion, Ia., she told Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday. Harry X. Judge Desort granted an uncontested divorce to Mrs. Parr, who is 24 years old and lives at 1830 Henderson street, and gave her custody of her daughter, Susan Penny, 1 year old.

N. Y. DEMOCRATS, FACING DEFEAT, CALL ROOSEVELT

Betray Panic Over Big Gains for Willkie.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 24.—The Democratic high command is worried—in fact, betraying some of the well known political signs of panic.

Fear that Wendell Willkie is going to win the Presidency despite Roosevelt prestige, the distribution this month of 900 million dollars of federal funds to 13 million beneficiaries and the power of the Democratic machines in pivotal states has seized upon the leaders at Democratic national headquarters here.

That is the reason the President abandoned his pose of being drafted by the people and announced that he would make five avowedly political speeches before the election, ostensibly to answer what he called deliberate falsification by the G. O. P.

First Christopher D. Sullivan, boss of Tammany hall, went to the White House and laid the perilous situation before the President, obtaining a promise from Mr. Roosevelt to make a political speech in Madison Square Garden next week. He was followed by Frank V. Kelly, boss of the Brooklyn Democratic organization, allied to Tammany, who dwelt on the party plight and obtained Mr. Roosevelt's promise to speak in Brooklyn.

Both Predict Defeat.

Both machine bosses gave Mr. Roosevelt to understand that as matters now stand the party faces defeat and that it is up to him to stem the tide of public sentiment rolling in favor of Mr. Willkie.

At first Boss Ed Flynn of the Bronx, whom Mr. Roosevelt made chairman of the Democratic national committee, and other leaders at national headquarters essayed to laugh off the evidence that the middle west and the plains states were preponderantly pro-Willkie. They were banking on the southern states and Democratic machine controled northern states to put Mr. Roosevelt over.

There are 134 votes in the solid south and with the states of Maryland, Missouri, and Oklahoma, which generally go Democratic, the President starts with 168 votes in the bag.

The northern states which have been controlled by Democratic machines for the last decade or more are New York with 47, New Jersey with 16, and Illinois with 29 votes, a total of 92. With these accessions the President would have 260 electoral votes and would need to pick up only six more elsewhere to win.

Despite local campaigns to thwart their ballot box stuffing operations that have enabled them to steal elections in the past, Tammany in New York, the Hague machine in New Jersey, and the Kelly-Nash machine in Chicago were relied upon to deliver.

But the registration of voters, the party precinct canvasses of sentiment and the straw votes brought a day of sad awakening. It began to look as if the machines would not be able to deliver the customary avalanche of Democratic votes.

3,400,000 Registered.

At a meeting of leaders in Tammany hall the other day, one after another reported defections from Mr. Roosevelt's 1936 strength in their respective districts, ranging all the way from 25 to 50 per cent. While some of the Tammany leaders believed Roosevelt might get a New York City plurality of as much as 900,000, compared with 1,300,000 four years ago, others suggested it would not be safe to count on more than 700,000.

In the light of the enormous registration upstate the Republicans expect to come down to the Bronx with from 700,000 to 800,000 plurality. They concede the Democrats not more than a 600,000 margin in New York City, therefore calculating Willkie will carry the state by upwards of 100,000.

The registration in New York City is also record breaking. Out of 3,600,000 qualified to vote, 3,400,000 have registered, an increase of 500,000 over 1936. What has caused this tremendous movement has the politicians guessing. Significant is the fact that the greatest increases in registration were recorded in quarters of the city inhabited chiefly by the Jews, who are overwhelmingly for Roosevelt; the Italian-Americans, alienated from Roosevelt by his Charlottesville "stab in the back" speech aimed at Mussolini; the German-Americans, also against Roosevelt, and the citizens of Irish stock, mostly Catholics, who have turned against the President.

The New York News poll shows that whereas Roosevelt has received 63 per cent of the straws in the city his percentage in the Irish-American neighborhoods is 56, in Italian-American, 54, and German-American, 53.

The Negroes are standing pat for the President.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

by BOB BECKER

October 24, 1940.

Wild Geese on Wing

THE workers on the Du Page county farm felt that the autumn scene was completed this week when they saw and heard many flocks of wild geese go over the farm. These highly prized game birds, just about the noisiest of all migrants that go south each fall, arrived at a time when every feature of the landscape was quite typical of the autumn scene.

There are gay pastel tints in the foliage of the oaks and other trees in the wood lots. In some places the brilliant scarlet of the sumac may be seen. There is fruit on some of the vines which cling to the fences and small shrubs. And saffron sunsets add to the color of the landscape each evening. Against this beautiful autumn backdrop the wild geese made their appearance.

All farm residents were talking about the migration. Most of the birds flew over the farm early in the week when there was a heavy flight southward into Illinois. One of the men reported that he saw 10 flocks last Monday, the largest of which had about 500 birds in it.

Pass Up the Farm.

None of the honkers sailed into the farm ponds to rest and get some food altho nearly every flock considered the idea. One of the men reported that when the birds flew over the farm some of them apparently noticed the Canada geese which are on the property the year around. When they sighted these domestic honkers and heard their calls the wild birds hesitated, swung back and took another look. But the domesticated geese couldn't bring the wild birds down from the sky.

Without doubt one of the reasons none of the honkers came into the farm was the lack of water in the big pond due to the autumn drouth. With normal fall rains the big pond has plenty of water in it, but this year it's a different story. When it has been full geese have dropped down to spend a day or two with the domesticated birds. But this fall the pond has been going down slowly but steadily, leaving an area which is predominately mud.

Duck Trap Marooned.

Even the duck trap which attracts waterfowl when the pond has a normal level of water is marooned on a mud flat this fall. And the farm workers are puzzled as to how they are going to move this structure to another pond.

When we walked into one of the barn lots the other morning we found four of the farm workers doing two things at once: repairing a drain and holding a debate. They agreed on the correct procedure for repairing the drain but they certainly couldn't settle their debate with any satisfaction. They were arguing about the flight speed of the geese which had gone over the day before. One man said they weren't going more than 25 miles an hour; another said he thought they were going at least 45, and a third said geese could fly 90 miles on hour.

Average 40 M. P. H.

By checking in the records we found that the man who argued for the 45 mile per hour "speed limit" was the closest to being correct. The United States Fish and Wildlife service has compiled a booklet dealing with the flight speed of birds, and this record shows that during long migration flights the Canada goose averages 40 to 45 miles per hour.

There are a few cases in which geese have been scientifically clocked traveling up to 60 miles per hour, but that is a top speed which could be maintained for only a very short length of time.

CITY APPEALS FIGHT ON PAPER MILK BOTTLES

Plea to Stay Injunction to Be Heard Today.

An appeal by the city from an injunction issued earlier in the week by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward restraining the city from interfering with the sale of milk in paper bottles, was filed by the city late yesterday in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Hearing on Motion Today.

A hearing on the city's motion to stay the power of the injunction pendthe outcome of the appeal is to be heard in the same court this morning.

Yesterday Fieldcrest Dairies, Inc., the victors in the injunction suit, acted under a board of health permit issued Wednesday and brought 22,000 quarts of paper bottled milk into the city.

Others to Meet Competition.

Other major dairies indicated that if Fieldcrest, a subsidiary of the Dean Milk company, is still in the stores with paper bottles today, they will "meet the competition." No dairies have indicated any plan to distribute milk in paper bottles to homes. Bowman Dairy company yesterday delivered paper bottled milk to store customers requesting it.

TISSUE EXTRACT PROVES SUCCESS FOR OPERATIONS

Results of direct operations on blood vessels for injury and disease have been improved by the use of a purified form of heparin, a tissue extract that retards clotting of the blood, Dr. Gordon Murray, demonstrator in surgery of the University of Toronto, Ont., reported yesterday.

Dr. Murray spoke before the 30th annual clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons which will close its five day session today. He said 700 clinical cases were treated with the substance and that no venous or arterial thrombosis [blood clots] occurred. The discovery of heparin and its purification, which puts it on a basis for clinical use, will allow certain operations which otherwise were doomed to failure, he added.

The surgeons named the following officers, who will take office a year from now: W. Edward Gallie, Toronto, Ont., president; Clarence G. Toland, Los Angeles, Cal., first vice president, and Albert C. Furstenberg, Ann Arbor, Mich., second vice president.

Confesses Part in $20,000 Holdup of Gem Salesman

Dominick Laino, 27 years old, 819 South Carpenter street, was held at the detective bureau last night on a charge of being one of a band of four robbers who took $20,000 in jewels on Aug. 31 from Jacob Jentleson, a New York salesman. Police said that Laino, arrested Wednesday, had confessed. The loot was recovered about a week after the robbery, which occurred at Roosevelt road and Campbell avenue. Two other men await trial in connection with the holdup. A fourth is at large.

REDUCE FARES FOR AMERICANS LEAVING ORIENT

SHANGHAI, China, Oct. 24 (AP).—Protests by Americans against rates charged by steamships sent to remove them from the far east resulted in announcement of some reduction today. Officials said a limited number of cabin accommodations on the Monterey would be available at $240 to $250, but the minimum first class rate remains at $395. United States naval officials announced that all dependents, numbering 220, of the regular United States navy and marine personnel in Shanghai would be sent home before mid-November. Wives of naval reservists recently called to duty with the Asiatic fleet also will be sent home.

Attempts to Kill Governor General of Indo-China

New York, Oct. 24 (AP).—Domei, Japanese news agency, reported in a radio broadcast quoting the Tokio newspaper Nichi Nichi that an attempt was made today to assassinate Admiral Jean Decoux, governor general of French Indo-China. The report said a French officer at Hanoi fired a pistol at the governor, but missed him.

1ST DRAFT BOARD GIVES NUMBERS TO REGISTRANTS

Cards Are Shuffled and Names Posted.

The first Chicago draft board to shuffle registration cards and assign serial numbers to registrants completed its work last night as new steps were taken in Chicago and in Springfield to get the state's draft machinery into shape for the national draft lottery next Tuesday.

The board was No. 14 [in the 8th ward], of which Sidney H. Geist is chairman and Robert Welch is secretary. Headquarters are in a store at 231 East 79th street. The first 10 numbers were assigned as follows:

1. Warren Rogers Sparks, 8035 St. Lawrence avenue.
2. Gunnar Thulin, 7815 Drexel avenue.
3. David Harold Davidson, 903 East 80th street.
4. Edward Abraham Kramen, 7626 Drexel avenue.
5. Frank Herman Pedersen, 7310 Woodlawn avenue.
6. Walter Richard Meehan, 735 East 80th street.
7. Fred William Love, 7959 Ellis avenue.
8. Richard Hudson Aylward, 7834 Drexel avenue.
9. Albert Paul Esch, 7542 Champlain avenue.
10. Victor Dana Bohn, 512 East 75th street.

Service Order Not Determined.

These numbers do not indicate the order in which the registrants will be listed for service, but are the serial numbers, which will be drawn in the lottery in Washington. The order in which the numbers are drawn will determine the registrant's position on the service list.

Regrouping of nearly half a million cards of draft registrants in Chicago and the nine Cook county country towns under the board of election commissioners was completed. Chairman of the original draft boards were notified immediately to call at vault 12, floor 3½ of the city hall for the cards of their respective draft board areas.

Board Members to Meet.

The three members of each of the 73 new draft boards for Chicago and of the three new boards for suburban Cook county will meet at 8 p. m. today on the second floor of the Engineering building, 205 West Wacker drive, where they will receive instructions. Afterward they will receive the cards of registrants in their respective areas. Members of the 73 new Chicago boards were announced last night. The three suburban boards were expected to be announced today.

In Springfield, Paul G. Armstrong, state selective service director, wired each Illinois local board directing that it notify state headquarters by Saturday, and not later than Monday, of the highest serial number used in numbering its cards. In addition, the boards were told to send a list of their registrants with the serial number of each to state headquarters.

Satisfied with Progress.

Capt. Gareth N. Brainerd, acting chief of the field section of the selective service national headquarters, who is in Illinois and who will also make inspections in Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa, told Armstrong he was satisfied with the progress Illinois draft officials are making.

Armstrong said he was confident local boards would complete the work which must be done before Tuesday's lottery. Each must organize, establish a headquarters, obtain the cards of its registrants from election officials, shuffle these cards, give each a serial number, and post the list of registrants and serial numbers.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that Flory Daludado, 28 years old, a Filipino, be held to the grand jury on a charge of murdering Mrs. Violet Caliboso in her home at 2850 North Clark street. Daludado said he stabbed the woman to death in a suicide pact, but lost his nerve about killing himself.

ORDERS GUARD FOR OFFICE OF BARMEN'S UNION

Judge Robert J. Dunne ordered a deputy sheriff stationed at the offices of the Bartenders' union yesterday after he was informed that on Wednesday a union organizer had appeared intoxicated and abusive at the office and threatened James U. Sammis, assistant to Roy D. Keehn, receiver for the union.

The organizer, who was discharged immediately by Sammis, is C. Sumner Smith, a member of the union faction controled by Louis Romano, president of the union and alleged front for Frank Nitti, Capone gangster. Smith is the fourth Romano aid ousted by Keene and Sammis since they took over the union seven weeks ago.

Attorney Charles McGuire said both Keehn and Sammis have received numerous anonymous threatening letters and telephone calls but have paid no attention to them. Today Master Isidore Brown will resume hearing on the civil suit brought by George McLane, veteran business agent for the union, to oust Romano, Nitti and others from control of the union.

CHARGE FRAUD IN $5,000 REAL ESTATE DEAL

Earl Johansen, 38 years old, an exconvict, was held last night by the blue sky division of the state's attorney's office as one of two men who allegedly defrauded two sisters of $5,000 in cash and securities in a real estate deal. The victims, Assistant State's Attorney Nathan J. Kinnally said, were Mrs. Margaret Kaufman, a widow, and her sister, Miss Ella Tiffany of Bushnell, in McDonough county.

Johansen was arrested yesterday at 63d street and Cottage Grove avenue and will be turned over to Bushnell authorities today. His companion, Harry Kassmir, is being sought. According to Kinnally, Johansen admitted failing to deliver deeds to lots to the women after getting their money and bonds.

ELEVATOR UNION AIDING REFORMS OF M'FETRIDGE

Albert Matha, chairman of the executive board of the Elevator Operators' union, said yesterday the board has pledged full coöperation to William McFetridge, president of the International Building Service Employés union, who has assumed supervision of the Elevator Operators' union since the death of Mathew Taylor.

McFetridge took over the union to get rid of any hoodlum control after Taylor in a deathbed statement charged he was forced to hand over $30,000 in union funds to protect his life from gangsters. Taylor also alleged he was forced to pay tribute to George Scalise, convicted hoodlum and panderer who was ousted as international president of the Building Service Employés' union.

"Our executive board is furnishing Mr. McFetridge with complete information of the union," Matha said. "We are operating in accordance with his instructions to maintain status quo as to officers and to limit expenditures until he has completed his report and recommendations."

W. B. STOREY, 82, RETIRED HEAD OF SANTA FE, IS DEAD

Railroad Man 60 Years; Born on West Coast.

William B. Storey, 82 years old, president of the Santa Fe railway from 1920 to 1933, died yesterday in his home at 199 Lake Shore drive.

William B. Storey.

Storey a native of San Francisco, Cal., began his railroad career in 1881 on the Southern Pacific. He joined the Santa Fe in 1900 as chief engineer. He served as vice president from 1909 to 1918 and as federal manager of the system from 1918 to 1920.

He remained a director and member of the executive committee after he retired from the presidency seven years ago.

Funeral arrangements have been postponed pending word from California relatives.

LEW LOYAL WILL FIND ADVENTURE ON CIRCUS VISIT

Action for tonight's broadcast of Lew Loyal centers on a visit by Lew Loyal, Betsy True, his young friend, and Uncle Mack, a government agent, to a circus in pursuit of clews to activities in the mysterious Brothers of Freedom, an anti-American organization. The adventures of Lew Loyal are broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system every Friday evening from 7 to 7:30 o'clock.

Jack Bivans.

Young Jack Bivans, Chicago boy, plays the part of Lew Loyal, Patti Willis that of Betsy True, and Bret Morrison takes the part of Uncle Mack.

The adventures of Lew Loyal also are presented in the comic magazine of THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE. A $10,000 cash prize contest for boys and girls is being sponsored in connection with the Lew Loyal comic strip and radio program. Details are given on the radio program and in the SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

JAMES B. BROWN, FINANCIER AND PUBLISHER, DIES

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24 (AP).—James Buckner Brown, 72 years old, former Kentucky capitalist, banker, newspaper publisher and politician, died tonight after a heart attack Saturday.

A native of Lawrenceburg, Ky., he rose from a bookkeeping job with the Southern railway to the head of a $50,000,000 financial empire in Kentucky which crashed in 1930 after collapse of Caldwell & Co. of Nashville. Brown was indicted on charges of misapplication of funds, but was acquitted.

At his peak Brown controled numerous banks in Kentucky and Cincinnati thru his bank and a holding company, BancoKentucky corporation. Among the holdings he lost was his newspaper, the Louisville Herald-Post, which Brown later testified in court cost him about $5,000,000 over a seven year period.

OBITUARIES

Beverly Taswell White.

Beverly Taswell White, 65 years old, circus and carnival publicity man, died of a heart attack yesterday in a tavern at 107 West Lake street. White once was a reporter for the old Chicago Record and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. He left newspaper work 25 years ago to enter publicity. He lived at 741 North State street. Funeral arrangements are being made by the Showmen's League of America.

Mrs. Edna Fowler Bloomingston.

Mrs. Edna Fowler Bloomingston, wife of Attorney John A. Bloomingston, died yesterday in her home at 1209 Astor street after a long illness. She is survived by her husband and a daughter, Mrs. Caryl B. Parker.

GIRL CYCLIST KILLED BY AUTO.

Capt. William P. Kennedy.

Capt. William P. Kennedy, 57 years old, head of the bureau of criminal information and statistics of the police department, died yesterday in the Grant hospital after a long illness. Capt. Kennedy had received five creditable mentions for his work since he joined the department in 1911. He was assigned to the mayor's office during the administration of William E. Dever. He leaves his widow, Dora, and a son, Donald. He lived at 5049 Sheridan road. Services will be held in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue at 3 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Acacia Park cemetery.

Wesley A. Biekman.

Services for Wesley A. Biekman, police chief of South Holland, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the First Reform church in the suburb. Chief Biekman, who was 43 years old, died Wednesday in St. James' hospital, Chicago Heights. He lived at 153 East 155th street, South Holland, and had been in charge of the police department three years. He was director of the south unit of the Illinois Police association. He leaves his widow, Josephine; a son, Wesley Jr., and three daughters, Virginia, Ruth, and Violet. Burial will be in Oak Lawn cemetery.

Dr. Chang Shan Tze.

Requiem mass for Dr. Chang Shan Tze will be celebrated at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow in the Chinese Catholic church, 2302 Wentworth avenue. Dr. Chang, who died of heart disease Oct. 19 at Chungking, China, was a member of the relief commission for the national government. He was admitted into the Roman Catholic communion in 1938 by Bishop Yu-Pin, and visited America the following year. Dr. Chang was noted as an animal painter and especially for his drawings of tigers, which he exhibited in this country in furtherance of Chinese relief.

Mrs. Mary Coffey.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Coffey, 74 years old, will be held at 8:45 a. m. tomorrow from the chapel at 7705 Cottage Grove avenue to St. Francis de Paula church, 78th street and Ellis avenue, with burial in Holy Sepulchre cemetery. Mrs. Coffey, widow of Thomas Coffey, one time secretary and treasurer of the Bricklayers' union, died Wednesday in her home at 7949 Evans avenue. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Marie Grove, and three sons, Joseph M., John E., and William P. Coffey.

Robert L. Vann.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 24 [Special].—Robert L. Vann, 61 years old, editor and publisher of the Pittsburgh Courier, a leading Negro newspaper, died tonight. Vann was a special assistant to the attorney general of the United States from 1933 until 1936, the first Negro Democrat to hold that position. He had been chairman of the commission appointed by President Coolidge to study conditions in the Virgin Islands.

Michael J. O'Leary.

The funeral of Michael J. O'Leary, an employé of Marshall Field & Co. for more than 50 years, will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow from the chapel at Austin boulevard and Lake street to St. Catherine of Siena church, with burial in All Saints' cemetery. Mr. O'Leary died Wednesday in his home at 136 South Menard avenue. He leaves his widow, Mary; two daughters, Helen and Katherine, and a son, Frank J. O'Leary.

William Hirth.

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 24 (AP).—William Hirth, 65, Missouri farm and political leader, died today of a heart ailment. He was president of the Missouri Farmers association, which he founded in 1914. A foe of political machines, he unsuccessfully sought the Democratic nomination for governor in 1936.

Sir Charles Des Graz.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The death of Sir Charles des Graz, British minister to Serbia at the outbreak of the world war, was announced today. He was 81 years old and had served in the diplomatic service for 36 years.

They Show How Over 2,000,000 Women Get Rid of Grease That Causes Over 90% of the Scouring and Scrubbing You Do!

1. Scour part of bathtub with ordinary "lazy" cleanser. Notice how hard you work, how slowly dirt disappears.

2. Now try Bab-O. See how it dissolves grease so dirt gently wipes off, leaving bathtub sparkling white with far less work.

See How Grease-Dissolving BAB-O Acts Faster —Saves You Time, Work, Money!

● Yes . . . grease, not merely dirt, is the modern cleaning problem. And don't think this means just pots and pans. It's also grease that makes dirt stick to stoves, bathroom fixtures, painted walls, sinks and refrigerators and actually causes 90% of the scouring you do!

With ordinary "sluggish" cleansers you have to scour and scrub needlessly to get rid of this greasy binder. But not with Bab-O. Bab-O was perfected especially to meet this problem. Bab-O contains an active special ingredient that quickly dissolves grease, so dirt easily wipes off. And because Bab-O does dissolve grease, it works faster, more effectively. A little does more cleaning. So you can use less of it—you save not only time, work, but money too. Get Bab-O today at your grocer's and try it. You'll be amazed!

NOTE: Bab-O is white—stays white even when wet—because it contains only pure cleaning ingredients.

BY MARY MEADE.

Wanna buy a duck? You can get one rather reasonably this week-end. Roast it like chicken, unless it is very fat. Then you'll want to cover the roasting pan for the first part of the cooking period, so that some of that excess fat may steam out. Put apples and celery in the stuffing, or perhaps prunes and raisins. A sweetish dressing is very good with duck.

If you prefer roast chicken, there are nice ones available at little cost.

For real bargains in meat this week-end, look to pork. Any kind of pork is a good buy, from fresh and smoked hams to sausage and bacon, and lard. Loin roasts are cheaper than they have been. Beef steaks are reasonably priced, too—sirloins and T-bones as well as round steaks. And chuck roast. Corned beef brisket is lower in the wholesale market. Or if it's lamb you hanker for, buy a shoulder or leg roast.

Green Beans Inexpensive.

The wholesale fruit and vegetable market isn't much different this week. Green beans are plentiful and inexpensive. Broccoli, Brussels sprouts, and cabbage, especially cabbage, are penny savers. Cauliflower has gone up a bit, but still is reasonable.

Cucumbers are coming from the south and from hothouses. They're up a notch. Lettuce from Oregon and Idaho ranges in quality from indifferent to good, and in price to correspond. The supply of tomatoes is lighter, so it is to be expected that the best ones are somewhat higher in price than they were last week.

Celery and carrots remain at a moderate level; peas have gone neither up nor down; spinach is rather low priced.

As for fruit, grapes remain abundant and moderate; fall varieties of pears are here, and not too cheap; Texas grapefruit, while not inexpensive, is low priced for this early in the season. Quality is not of the best. Some stores are featuring good Florida grapefruit at very reasonable prices.

Cranberries Are Plentiful.

Cranberries are plentiful, and so are apples, of course. Jonathans and Delicious are especially good, and selling at 5 cents a pound in some markets.

Escarole and romaine are available to offer salad changes from lettuce. Good honeydews still are with us, and Persian melons may be found in most big stores.

There are week-end specials [and you'll have little trouble in finding them] on such things as these: Butter, cheese in glass jars, popular blends of coffee, canned peas, bottled drinks, olives, pickles, doughnuts, facial soap, canned pineapple, and baked beans, apple cider.

2 RICE PUDDINGS COOK WITHOUT BOSS OVER THEM

A creamy rice pudding makes a substantial dessert for the not-too-heavy meal. These two flavorsome puddings can be cooked in the top of the double boiler, without any watching, while you're preparing the rest of the dinner.

ORANGE RICE CREAM
[Serves 6]
⅓ cup rice
½ cup water
1 cup milk
¼ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup orange juice
Grated rind of 1 orange
¾ cup heavy cream, whipped
Orange sections

Wash rice; put in top of double boiler. Add water and milk. Cover and steam until rice is tender, about 50 minutes. Add sugar, salt, orange juice and rind. Cool and fold in whipped cream. Serve in sherbet glasses with garnish of orange sections.

COFFEE RICE PUDDING
[Serves 4]
⅓ cup rice
1 cup strong coffee
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla
Whipped cream

Cook rice in boiling water for 10 minutes. Drain. Cook in double boiler with coffee, milk, salt, and sugar until tender, about 1¼ hours. Add vanilla and cool. To serve, garnish with whipped cream.

Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thickened.
Add
1 cup grated American cheese.
Stir until melted, then add
2 tablespoons Heinz Tomato Ketchup.
Serve hot over cooked cauliflower.

HEINZ
TOMATO KETCHUP
57

THERE'S nothing like a dash of thick, ruddy Heinz Tomato Ketchup to step up the flavor of meat loaf, hashes and other old family favorites. To simple foods, this sauce brings the tang of Heinz-grown tomatoes, Heinz aged-in-wood vinegar and rare aromatic spices. And men find it indispensable with steaks, chops or roasts. Rich and concentrated, Heinz Tomato Ketchup goes much further. That's why it's sensible and economical to insist—always—on the world's largest-selling ketchup.

Use Accurate Measures; Avoid Cooking Failures

To avoid cooking failures use standard measuring utensils and measure accurately. A set of measuring spoons and a set of measuring cups, including fourth, third, half, and full cup, are necessary. It is also advisable to have an extra glass 1-cup measure with fourth, third, half, and other fractions of a cup marked on the outside. A pint measure is useful for measuring water for coffee or flour for bread.

For Serving Mulled Wine

Piping hot mulled wine finds a perfect Halloween setting in this golden pumpkin shell. Serve the spicy beverage with fresh, sugared doughnuts to your holiday guests. For one bottle of wine (either sweet or dry), use two cups of water. To the water, add 1 teaspoon of powdered cloves and two sticks of cinnamon. Boil for 5 minutes. Then add the wine with enough sugar to give the desired sweetness. Bring the spicy wine to the simmering stage, but do not boil. Serve steaming hot.

BAKED APPLES NOW READY FOR GOOD STUFFING

Here Is Wide Variety of Suggestions.

It's getting around to baked apple season, if there is a season for this goody other than the apple season itself.

Of the apples now in season, Jonathans are the best for baking purposes. McIntosh apples are also good bakers. Select firm, uniformly sized apples for baking. Whether to peel or not to peel baked apples is a matter of personal preference. The skin does tend to wrinkle during baking, but it also helps to hold the general shape of apples which tend to be mushy. If apples are unpeeled, uniformity of color is another point to consider in their selection.

How to Bake Them.

The baking process is the same regardless of the variety of apple and stuffing used and whether or not the apples are peeled. Place the apples in a shallow baking dish, cover the bottom of the pan with water or some other liquid, and bake in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven until apples are tender, about 40 minutes. The apples may be basted several times during baking with the liquid in the pan.

When baked apples are to be served as dessert the liquid used may be orange juice or some other tart fruit juice, or maple sirup or honey, or a sirup made by cooking equal parts brown or white sugar and water together for five minutes. But the greatest variation comes in the stuffing of the apple. Here are a few apple stuffings to try during the coming weeks and months:

MINCEMEAT — Fill cored apples with canned or homemade mincemeat and bake, basting occasionally with water in the pan.

DATE—Stuff cored apples with chopped dates and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon, mixed together. Dot with butter and bake.

DATE-NUT—Combine chopped dates and nutmeats, using about ¼ cup nutmeats to each cup of dates, moisten with orange juice. Stuff apples with this mixture and baste with orange juice during baking.

Chopped Preserved Ginger.

GINGER—Place teaspoon of chopped preserved ginger in cavity of each apple. Make a sirup of ½ cup sugar and 1 cup water and add a tablespoon of the sirup from the preserved ginger. Pour over apples and baste occasionally during baking with this mixture.

PINEAPPLE—Stuff apples with crushed pineapple, sprinkle with brown sugar and dot with butter. Baste with pineapple juice.

CRANBERRY—Stuff apples with jellied cranberry sauce. Baste during baking with liquid in pan.

RAISIN-NUT—Stuff apples with ¾ cup raisins combined with ¼ cup nutmeats, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and ½ cup brown sugar. Dot with butter and bake.

SWEET POTATO—Core apples and scoop out sides somewhat, to make extra large cavity. Stuff with mashed sweet potato, dot with butter and top with half a marshmallow. Bake in a sirup made of equal parts water and brown sugar and baste with this sirup occasionally during baking.

FOR HALLOWEEN: POPCORN BALLS, CARAMEL APPLES

Here Are Good Recipes for Making Them.

Halloween parties wouldn't be complete without those traditional goodies—caramel apples and popcorn balls. There's just as much fun in the making as in the eating of these confections, so let every one lend a hand in the proceedings.

CARAMEL APPLES

1 cup granulated sugar
½ cup boiling water
½ cup cream
1 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1 dozen small, firm apples
1 dozen wooden skewers

Melt ½ cup granulated sugar in a heavy pan over direct heat. Add the boiling water and cook to a smooth sirup. In a separate pan cook the cream, brown sugar, butter, and remaining ½ cup granulated sugar to the soft ball stage [234-238 degrees]. Combine sirups and cook to the firm ball stage [244 to 248 degrees]. Cool to lukewarm. Dip each skewered apple into the sirup and twirl until well coated, then dip in ice water. If desired, dip in chopped nutmeats after coating with caramel sirup. Place on oiled paper until caramel is set.

PLAIN POPCORN BALLS
[25 medium]

5 quarts popped corn
2 cups sugar
1½ cups water
½ cup white corn sirup
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vinegar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Shake unpopped kernels from popcorn. Boil sugar, water, corn sirup and salt to the very hard ball stage, 254 to 260 degrees, by the candy thermometer. Add vinegar and vanilla and boil to light crack stage, 264 degrees. Pour sirup slowly over the corn. Stir well and quickly to coat all of the corn. When cool enough to handle, butter the hands and shape corn into balls. Let stand until hardened. Wrap individually in waxed paper.

MOLASSES POPCORN BALLS
[15 medium]

3 quarts popcorn
1 cup molasses
½ cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons vinegar.
¼ teaspoon salt

Remove unpopped kernels. Put molasses, sugar, butter, and salt in a saucepan, and cook to soft ball stage. Add the vinegar and cook to firm ball stage. Remove from heat. Pour over corn and mix well with a spoon. When cool enough to handle grease hands with butter and shape into balls. Let stand until cold.

SAVORY STUFFING ADDS VARIETY IN WINTER SQUASH

Winter squash may be simply baked with butter and seasonings, but for variety, serve it with a savory stuffing. It makes a delicious luncheon dish.

BAKED STUFFED SQUASH.
[Serves six.]

3 squashes, halved lengthwise
2 slices bacon, chopped and pan-broiled
2 tablespoons grated onion
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup buttered crumbs

Bake the squash until tender, about half an hour, at 400 degrees. Cut in halves lengthwise and scoop out centers, leaving shells about ¼ inch thick. Mash the pulp and combine with chopped bacon, grated onion, butter, and seasonings. Pile the mixture into the squash shells and top with buttered crumbs. Return to oven for about 10 minutes, to brown the tops. Serve immediately.

How to Serve Canned Spinach Attractively

To serve canned spinach attractively, heat it as it comes from the can, season with salt, pepper, and butter, and serve portions on hot buttered toast, with cheese sauce poured over the top. A garnish of bacon strips and sliced tomatoes will make a good luncheon dish of the spinach.

The Borrowed Cottage

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce in England to do some studying. Arriving alone at night, she begins investigating the house and when she opens a closet door, a dead man falls out. As she rushes from the cottage, she runs into 32 year old Stephen Smedley, a young publisher, who has come to the country for a rest. He is living in an old chapel nearby. Stephen tells Rowan he will go for help but when he fails to return she goes in search of him and stumbles upon him prostrate. Helping him into the cottage, Rowan lets him sleep on the sofa while she goes to bed upstairs. She is awakened by him entering her room holding a butcher knife, but a sharp command from Rowan makes him drop the knife and retreat. The next morning he seems to remember nothing of the knife incident and the body has disappeared. He advises her not to mention finding the body as its disappearance might get them both into trouble. Mrs. Yalilee, mother of Egbert, the caretaker, arrives to get Rowan's breakfast and later the Rev. Bogge and Lord Romrytch, neighbors, call trying to find the whereabouts of the vicar's brother, Bertram, who was allowed to study in the cottage. Rowan keeps quiet about the corpse but realizes the dead man is Bertram. Stephen admits knowing Bertram, saying that he had written a book he was trying to interest Stephen in publishing. Rowan has found a manuscript by Bertram in Stephen's brief case, and hides it, unbeknown to Stephen, whom she still suspects as the murderer, tho she is beginning to like him. She learns that Bertram had a bad reputation, having assaulted the vicar's maid who is Egbert's fiancée, and having forged notes. Lord Romrytch informs her he suspected Bertram of being insane as he claimed a close friendship with the dictators of Europe. Rowan invites Stephen to dinner planning to return his brief case but she opens a cupboard and the corpse falls out. She faints and when she comes to, Stephen is standing over her and the corpse has again disappeared. They notify the police. That night Rowan is awakened by the pounding of typewriter keys downstairs and later, typewritten notes are slipped under her door demanding the return of the brief case under penalty of death. She escapes to Stephen's chapel and sleeps on his cot. The next morning the police find the body down the well and lock Rowan out of her bedroom so they can search for evidence as to the murderer. At the coroner's inquest Rowan does not tell of finding the body the first night nor of the typewritten notes slipped under her door. Egbert is suspected of the murder but Rowan also suspects Forbes, Romrytch's secretary, as she sees him prowling around the cottage.

INSTALMENT XXXV.

ARREST.

Rowan asked the sergeant if Mr. Forbes had been there long.

"Ten minutes, anyway." The young officer shrugged. "Seems to have got his pen; but when I first came on him he was round the far side trying that other door." He jerked a thumb towards the locked Tudor room.

"O?" Rowan regulated her expression. "He knew the dead man," she said carefully. "Got rather friendly with him, it seems. Do you suppose he didn't realize any one would be here?"

"About the size of it, I'd say."

She could not know if the sergeant had been taken in. With his wooden type there was simply no telling. She abandoned a tenuous idea of asking whether she might take a bath in Hazel's superior bathroom.

Soaking in the simpler bath she consoled herself by reflecting that anyhow she had not been arrested.

"And I would have been if they'd found that skirt. Stephen and me both, locked into separate cells."

She heard Mrs. Yalilee come in—arrived by bus, she supposed — and making a subdued clatter in the kitchen. She heard the sergeant talking with her, and then the sound of convulsive sobs. Throwing on her clothes, she went down.

"O, Mrs. Yalilee, has anything happened?"

From under the black apron came the whimper, "Lies—all of it! Ask 'im."

Him? The sergeant dumbly nodded. And then in the dimness of the kitchen Stephen stepped forward.

"Yes," he said quietly, "Yalilee's been taken in charge. He didn't sleep here Tuesday night, and he was seen going into the Tudor room about 7:30."

It was a horrible blow. Before she could reason or think, Rowan went up to the rocking figure on the hard kitchen chair, took it firmly by the shoulders and spoke positively.

"Your son's not a murderer, Mrs. Yalilee! I for one simply won't believe it. Don't worry, Lord Romrytch will see he's cleared. Now if you'd like to go home it will be quite all right."

She realized her mistake when, the kitchen door shut on Mrs. Yalilee's woe, the sergeant took her gravely to task.

"That was kindly meant," he admonished, "but I don't know as it will do to raise any hopes. The chief's not had any real doubt about the culprit, you know. It's one of them open and shut cases—motive, threats, ungovernable temper, drink and opportunity. Add on the disposal of the body, which by itself would have pretty well pinned it on this lad. Unless some fresh evidence turns up Yalilee will swing."

"But——"

Stephen touched her arm, quickly engaging the sergeant's attention. "He may yet produce an alibi for the actual time of the killing," he reminded.

"He may," admitted the sergeant with skeptical emphasis. "By the way, sir, did Yalilee put up any resistance?"

"I understand that he did."

"You see? I know his sort. Stir 'em up, get a few drinks under their belts, and you've got a maniac on your hands. Don't suppose he intended to murder this man Bogge. Took the razor along to frighten him, lost his head and just let it rip. You were saying, Miss Wilde?"

Rowan gulped. "Only that I can't see it happening like that." She stumbled blindly outdoors. To Stephen she groaned, "Why wouldn't you let me?" She didn't mind if the sergeant heard. She almost prayed that he did.

Fingers drilled into her flesh. Once again she found herself being propelled to a safe distance, a harsh mutter in her ear.

"Wait," Stephen commanded. "Wait till you know."

"Till Egbert Yalilee is sentenced to death?" she flung at him. She hated Stephen Smedley—more, she thought, than any man she had ever known. For his sake she had bartered common sense. Now he wanted her to shed common decency as well. "You can wait, I'm going to tell. Leave go my arm!"

He freed her; and then for some reason she did not go. Some force of superior intelligence which still, it seemed, compelled her respect, chained her there, unwillingly to hear what he had to say.

"Listen, Rowan Wilde. You're mixing it up. Yalilee may be guilty of the actual murder. That's not to say he's responsible for the rest of it—things that will sound a cock and bull story if we try to tell them. Keep your head. If he's not guilty, they'll find out and let him go. In which case they'll extend the hunt for the criminal—and have the devil's own job bringing him to book. If my guess is right, no one will be punished. There'll be just one more unsolved murder-mystery to chalk up. You'll see."

There was reason in this. Her stunned mind began to pick up the threads.

"Mr. Forbes," she whispered. "I met him when I came in. The sergeant had caught him trying the Tudor door, and the only excuse he could offer was a fountain pen lost out here when he fainted."

"Forbes!" Stephen's eyes contracted. "I see. Yes. That wants thinking about, doesn't it?"

"And the vicar." She was watching the curious hardness in his eye. "There's another one we can't entirely discount."

"Quite." Stephen spoke absently. "Well, I think we may take it our incriminating articles have been burned long ago. It wouldn't do to produce them as evidence against us. That action would damn the person who broke in."

"Why, then, are they still keeping Hazel's room locked up?" Her gaze took in the distant figure of the sergeant, stationed at the drawing room window overlooking their conference. "Stephen," she said with awful conviction, "it's me—us—that are being spied on. You and I are being kept under observation, maybe because they know I climbed out of my window and went to you."

"Perhaps," he said callously. "While I was gone today some one undertook a pretty thoro ransacking of my premises. As our band of suspects were foregathered in Lydport I conclude it was the police."

"Your place, too? Stephen, Mr. Forbes didn't attend the inquest."

"O? Well, whoever it was is a careless bedmaker. I suppose you realize your knee left blood on my top blanket?"

Rowan went chalky-white. The hills swam, and suddenly she awoke to the fact that Stephen's hand was steadying her.

"Don't take that item to heart," he said lightly. "It's not the first time these past days that the chapel and my car have been combed over. Which reminds me, the car's mended now. Shall we get into it and clear out?"

O, she thought, if they could do that literally! Quit this tangle, never come back. . . .

Miles away, in the deep lanes of Devonshire, some quality in Stephen's preoccupation stuck a barb into her mind. She wondered if this jaunt was designed solely to prevent her making a clean breast to the sergeant. Curiously enough, she was past caring. Once more he had convinced her that having plunged from silence the one sensible thing was to carry the course thru to the bitter end—or at least for the immediate present. Morally she felt done up, thankful for this brief escape.

FRESH COCONUT—THAT'S A SECRET OF CHICKEN CURRY

Milk and Meat Both Do Their Share.

Fresh coconuts have more culinary uses than one might suppose. In making a real chicken curry, for example, one is required. Drain the milk from the coconut for the curry, and shred the meat to serve as an accompaniment. Hot boiled rice also goes with chicken curry. In fact, rice is almost indispensable to the dish.

CHICKEN CURRY
[Serves Four]

1 4-pound stewing chicken
3 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 large onion, minced
3 stalks celery, minced
1 carrot, minced
1 apple, minced
¼ cup olive oil
2 tablespoons curry powder [or less]
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon tabasco sauce
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons flour
1 fresh coconut
1 cup whipping cream
2 well beaten egg yolks

Cook chicken with water and salt until tender. The stew should simmer, not boil, if the meat is to be tender. Remove meat from bones in rather large pieces. Save the stock. Cook onion, celery, carrot and apple in olive oil until lightly browned. Add curry powder and cook 5 minutes. Add other seasonings and flour and blend until smooth. Add stock and cook gently for 20 minutes. Add coconut milk and chicken, let stand three hours and, just before serving, add cream and well beaten egg yolks and heat to the boiling point, stirring constantly.

Here's a good curry of chicken that omits the coconut and has somewhat different seasonings.

CHICKEN CURRY
[Serves Four]

1 4-pound fowl
3 cups water
1 sliced onion
2 stalks celery, with leaves
Salt, pepper
2 chopped carrots
1 chopped onion
1 chopped sweet potato
1 or 2 tablespoons curry powder
1 tablespoon cornstarch per cup stock
1 cup heavy cream
Boiled rice

Cook chicken until tender in simmering water with the onion and celery. Add seasonings to taste. Remove meat from bones in rather large pieces. Add carrots, sweet potato and onion to stock from which the onion and celery used for seasonings have been removed. Simmer until tender. Add curry powder and cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water. Cook until sauce has thickened and is smooth. Cook 10 minutes longer thoroly to cook starch. Add chicken and cream and heat to the boiling point. Serve over rice.

Ice Cream Consumption Leaps 83% in Last 8 Years

American ice cream consumption has increased 83 per cent in the last eight years. In 1932 the average per capita consumption of commercial ice cream was 5.04 quarts. Last year it was 9.21 quarts.

Squash Flavored with Wine

As thoroly American as the native Indian, squash becomes a gourmet's treat when mashed and flavored with wine. Cut an inch slice from the entire length of a crookneck squash, remove seeds and pulp. Boil pulp for 15 minutes, drain, mash and measure. To each cup of pulp add 2 tablespoons of any dry white wine, 1 teaspoon brown sugar and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer slowly until excess liquid has evaporated and pile into squash shell. Brush with melted butter and brown quickly under broiler. The squash shown here is served with broiled Canadian bacon.

HERE ARE VARIOUS WAYS TO SERVE SCRAMBLED EGGS

Best Results if Cooked in Double Boiler.

Eggs in any form are good breakfast fare, but fluffy scrambled eggs offer the most possibilities for luncheon and supper dishes. For best results cook the eggs in the top of the double boiler, stirring the cooked portion from the bottom and sides of the pan to form soft, creamy flakes. Or if you prefer a custardy mixture, stir eggs until thick, but not dry and firm.

SCRAMBLED EGGS.
[Serves 4.]

4 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup milk or light cream
4 teaspoons butter

Beat eggs with fork until whites and yolks are well mixed. Add salt and pepper and stir in the milk. Melt butter in top compartment of double boiler; add egg mixture and cook slowly until the mixture is creamy, stirring from the bottom and sides of the pan. Remove and serve at once.

Variations of Scrambled Eggs.

Dried beef scramble: Add 2 tablespoons shredded dried beef to egg-milk-mixture. Chopped fried sausage, bacon, or other meat may be substituted for dried beef if desired.

Eggs with mushrooms: Substitute ½ cup undiluted mushroom soup and ¼ cup warm water for milk; serve with crisp slices of bacon.

Celery scrambled eggs: Cook ½ cup diced celery in 2 tablespoons butter until lightly browned; add egg-milk mixture and scramble.

Spinach scrambled eggs: Add ½ cup drained, seasoned chopped spinach to egg-milk mixture as it begins to cook.

Cheese scrambled eggs: Add ¼ cup finely cut or grated cheese to the recipe or add ½ cup cottage cheese when eggs begin to thicken. Season with a bit of minced onion if desired.

Eggs ranchero: Cook ½ small onion, minced, and ¼ cup green pepper, minced, in butter until lightly browned. Add egg-milk mixture and scramble. Turn into hot dish and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons grated American cheese.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS ARE AS TASTY INDOORS AS THEY ARE ON PICNIC

You needn't plan an autumn picnic or camping trip as an excuse to serve barbecued ribs. They're just as good—and easier to prepare—when served indoors.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS.
[Serves six.]

3 pounds spareribs
½ cup water
¾ cup vinegar
½ cup butter
½ cup chili sauce
3 tablespoons horseradish
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of cayenne

Wipe spareribs and crack bones across the middle [or have the dealer prepare them]. Place in a single layer on bottom of shallow baking pan. Cover with the remaining ingredients, which have been mixed together thoroly. Cover the pan and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] for one hour, or until done. Increase the time to two hours if spareribs are arranged in two layers.

Here's a Bracer That Will Hit Spot on Chilly Night

When friends drop in for a visit on chilly evenings, they're sure to appreciate a piping hot beverage to warm them up. Try this spicy punch served hot in earthen mugs.

SPICED CIDER PUNCH.

¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
3 sticks cinnamon
Grating of nutmeg
2 quarts sweet cider

Thoroly mix brown sugar, salt, and spices. Add to cider and simmer for 10 minutes, strain thru cheesecloth and reheat. Serve immediately.

MEAT and the Growth of Your Child

Will your child reach his potential in growth? That potential is already set the day he is born, but his nutritional habits can keep him from attaining the well-rounded development that is his birthright.

THERE is more than happenstance in the known fact that some races are shorter than others.

Tests over a period of generations among the yellow races have set the conclusion that these races are shorter as races due in part to dietary habits. For example, their diets are low in protein foods, such as meat.

On the contrary, facts show that many "hunting" races—which subsist largely on meat—have a tendency to be taller.

We know, too, that the modern generation, on the average, is slightly taller than the parent generation.

Naturally, no one in his right senses would flatly say, "Eat more meat and you will be sure to grow up to the potential growth nature set for you when you were born."

But we do say:

"Proteins are the secret of life; proteins build the tissues for growth; proteins are needed to keep those tissues repaired when the strenuous play of childhood tears them down—and meat is a major source of complete proteins."

Beef, pork, veal and lamb—all contain complete proteins.

That's why we say:

"Mothers, when you are planning meals for your growing children, and want to give them all the 'food breaks', put plenty of 'Meat on the Table' daily for those youngsters."

Facial Freshness Has Its Foundation in Cleanliness

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Freshness has come to be a standard by which women are judged every season of the year. No compliment envelops so much of youthful charm as is implied in: "She's such a fresh looking person." And none caps it for creating a picture of sheer feminine loveliness.

So, when we talk of a fresh face, we speak of but one of the phases of freshness that serves a woman even better than magazine girl prettiness. A fresh face is something that one may have without too much of a struggle. It means simply a clear, sparkling skin, arrived at by strictly cleansing measures, but by internal as well as external cleanliness.

Yes, you do see "stale" faces and plenty of them. They're overcast with a grayish spell, indicating plainly that not all is well within, often indicating not all is well without, either, without enough soap and water and such cream or lotion as the particular skin calls for. But that internal cleanliness cannot be minimized in the pursuit of freshness. Not all the outside scrubbing in the world will clarify the complexion if waste matter is retained in the system. Every one knows what to do to rid the system of accumulated poison, so do it for the sake of your face.

How to care for blonde hair is one of the important chapters in Antoinette Donnelly's booklet, "Bring Out the Beauty in Your Hair." If you are blonde or brunette, you need this booklet. Crocheted Pillbox Hat

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This young and flattering crocheted pillbox is the universal campus favorite of the season. It is worn at the new "back of the head" angle and finished off with a perky feather. A tiny one may be made to wear on the lapel. The pattern includes instructions for making both the hat and the miniature.

For instructions in crocheting the pillbox and matching lapel ornament, No. 846, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Grace Moore Here to Cheer Her Protegee

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Dorothy Kirsten sat down yesterday in a suite in the Blackstone hotel, in the midst of new hat boxes and an elaborate army of luggage, and pinched herself to make sure that she wasn't dreaming. But Grace Moore, the smiling fairy godmother, was there to assure her it was true, that Dorothy was to make her debut in opera this season.

"Two years ago," Miss Kirsten related, "I was scrubbing floors in a dentist's office and dusting and cleaning to make enough money for voice lessons. A friend in radio told Miss Moore about me. Miss Moore heard me sing, and things have been happening so quickly ever since that I sometimes can't believe I'm awake.

"First it was Italy, to study with Astolfo Pescia. And then months in Connecticut and New York in Miss Moore's new operatic school. And now the Chicago Opera company, and a chance to sing in grand opera!"

Miss Moore, who worked her way from a village church choir in Tennessee to international fame as an opera singer, and who has not forgotten the struggles of young artists, made Miss Kirsten her protégée. She predicts that the young soprano is destined for an important career in opera.

Miss Kirsten will begin rehearsing here this week. Miss Moore saw her comfortably established before continuing on her way south on a concert tour. She will return during the opera season to sing the rôle of Flora in "The Love of Three Kings."

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

The "perfect" frock usually is the simplest. What every one wants nowadays is a dress that may be worn everywhere, and with practicality, and that serves as a good background for costume jewelry. Such a dress is the one offered in today's pattern. Simple paneling creates the chic, and the rest is left to fabric, which may be crêpe, sheer woolen, jersey, or even velvet.

Style No. 3469 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 2⅞ yards of 39 inch material for short sleeved dress; 3 yards of 39 inch for long sleeved version.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Museum Gives Pre-Showing of New Wonders

Behind the classic façade of the Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park, dozens of press and radio representatives yesterday saw an exhibition of science's newest offerings. The occasion was a preview of millions of dollars' worth of new displays which will be opened to the public tomorrow.

The transportation exhibit, depicting the development of modes of travel from the palanquin of ancient Damascus to the modern airplane, is among the most spectacular. A miniature railway with 1,000 feet of track contributed by the Sante Fe line includes eight scale model trains which are electrically operated from a remote control panel with 400 relays.

The railway is complete with block signals, sidings, and depots. On the 3,000 square feet of miniature landscape are grain elevators, a portion of the Grand canyon, an oil refinery, highways, and a small town.

Above the railroad hangs a series of craft tracing the development of heavier than air transportation. A Wright brothers biplane built in 1911, with two pusher propellers operated by a chain and sprocket, contrasts sharply with the 1932 Travelair monoplane piloted to many speed records by Frank Hawks.

In the steel exhibit is a scale working model of the hot strip mill of the Ford Motor company at River Rouge. The mill completes the process of rolling bar metal into coiled strips, using lead instead of steel to avoid the necessity of heating the metal. Nearby is a full sized gray iron foundry, where the visitors see molten steel poured from an electric furnace and into bar molds. Other machines, some of which spectators may operate, include shaping, drilling, cutting, grinding and milling tools, and a machine which converts steel wire into nails.

Demonstrating the museum's 1,000,000 volt surge generator, attendants caused a 40 inch spark to jump thru the air, splintering a pine block and breaking the electric current leading to a miniature house. The report accompanying the lightning could be heard thruout the museum's 14 acres.

The printing exhibit—a complete shop—includes a press donated by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Power exhibits trace man's attempts to harness natural forces from a reaction engine toy of 120 B. C. to a modern turbogenerator of 105,000 kilowatt output.

The museum's coal mine, containing full-sized machinery, is again in operation. The agricultural exhibits include a "family tree" showing the development of hybrid corn, as well as the curious stick plows used in ancient Babylon, and other early and modern farming machinery.

In the center of the great hall, beneath a slowly revolving globe of the earth, stands a huge cylinder in whose lighted panels are collections of the 92 elements. This is said to be the only collection of its kind in the world, including such rare items as radium, hafnium, scandium, virginium, alabamine, and protactinium.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

There is a great deal of glib nonsense tossed off about nails. Of course, we could be wrong, but we don't agree with the people who say that nails need a chance to "breathe" because we doubt very much that nails do anything of the sort. The more we see of the common nail ailments the more firm we are in our belief that letting nails grow up at the sides is extremely important. Too close side filing is responsible for more nail breakage than this world dreams of!

Next in importance comes the necessity of lubricating the base. We suspect that dry, ragged cuticle is as unhealthy as it is unbeautiful. Have you ever seen long, strong nails above a rough, badly webbed cuticle?

All other things being equal, careful manicuring and the persistent, intelligent care of the nail base should keep nails not only presentable but healthy. Physical disorders that affect nails are quite something else again. No external treatment will be effective in that case—but those cases are extremely rare.

Some time ago we came across a colorless liquid that we thought excellent for helping to overcome the local conditions that cause nail chipping and breaking. It comes in a little bottle with a glass applicator and can be applied either over or under polish without affecting the color. It dries almost instantly and should be applied around the base of the nail, along the sides and under the nail tip. We found it very helpful, as did several other people we asked to experiment with it.

READ WHAT THEY GOT FROM THE Vitality Boost!

"Riding is my favorite recreation and I sometimes think that even the horses notice the difference in me since I've been taking my nightly glass of Bowman Milk. I feel better in the morning . . . have more pep and enthusiasm for everything. Take my word . . . the Vitality Boost is a habit to stick with." Lewis Weigand, 6628 Kimbark Avenue, Chicago.

"I had no idea milk could be of so much value to adults as well as children until I tried the Vitality Boost. That glass of Bowman Milk at bedtime helps me sleep much better. I get up feeling rested and finish my daily duties a lot fresher, too." Mrs. Alex F. Talbot, 1203 Harvard Terrace, Evanston.

Find out what the Vitality Boost can do for you!
Make the 30 day trial.

● Every day Chicagoans drink more Bowman Milk than any other brand. They drink it because they like it better . . . because it is so rich, pure, fine-tasting—"the Milk of Superior Flavor."

Now thousands have discovered a new reason for drinking it: The Vitality Boost. They simply drink an extra glassful of Bowman Milk every night at bedtime. From those who have tried it come truly amazing reports: Sounder sleep . . . better dispositions . . . more energy and enthusiasm. These results are based on three sound scientific reasons:

1) You take the milk when your stomach is empty. Preventing hunger pangs, it helps you get more restful sleep.

2) It reduces the tax on your energy store that even sleeping takes. (Your body's need of fuel each sleeping hour is actually 40% of the average for all your waking, working hours! That's because your heart keeps pumping, breathing continues, "relaxed" muscles are always under tension.)

3) It gives your body, in easily digestible form, a greater variety of nutritional essentials than any other food can provide!

Fresh milk is outstanding as a source of calcium and vitamins A and G . . . three of the four food requisites needed in abundance for retaining what scientists call "the characteristics of youth"!

Try out this simple, effective idea yourself. Start tonight. See if a nightly glass of Bowman Milk doesn't help make you feel better all the time.

THE VITALITY BOOST:
At bedtime EVERY night a glass of Bowman's!

Women World Wide

by Ruth DeYoung Kohler

WHEN the Senate Ladies' Luncheon club K yes, and the Congressional club—meet in Washington for the first time after the inauguration next January, introductions are sure to be in order.

Eleanor Roosevelt Roosevelt and Edith Wilk Willkie hold the spotlight among the women concerned in this 1940 political campaign, but there are also the wives of senatorial candidates, of congressional candidates, and of candidates for governor who are getting the cheers of political crowds as the campaign moves into its heated homestretch.

The brightest prospects on the senatorial horizon are those of Republicans. There are not enough senate seats at stake outside the solid south to make a Republican majority likely, but the Republican party confidentially expects to win the house with 60 new members.

As in my broadcast yesterday, it is my purpose in this column to introduce a number of the women who aspire to gain or retain a place in the Washington social scene thru the election or reëlection of their husbands to the national congress.

◆

HERE in Illinois it looks as if Mrs. Wayland Brooks, wife of the Republican senatorial nominee, is Washington bound. Mrs. Brooks is awaiting the returns of the Nov. 5 election with more than the usual wifely interest for she also is her husband's collaborator—albeit one who stays definitely in the background.

In fact this dynamic Titian haired lady of 38 is more or less responsible for her husband's career. Two years after their youthful marriage Mrs. Brooks persuaded her husband to study law. He didn't want to, but he did. Wayland Brooks' political start was made in a precinct of the 49th ward.

Mrs. Slattery, wife of Senator Slattery who seeks reëlection on the New Deal slate as Mr. Brooks' opponent, knows her way around the nation's capital. She's petite, vivacious, blue eyed. Golf and her 4 year old daughter are her primary interests, but she maintains that women should have an informed interest in politics.

◆

IN the Wisconsin senatorial race the Republican candidate, Fred H. Clausen, is having the able assistance of his wife in his fight to defeat the incumbent, Senator Robert M. La Follette. Mrs. Clausen, a woman impressive in stature, has worked for years in the woman's club movement.

At present she holds the post of American citizenship chairman in the General Federation of Women's Clubs. She has a host of friends, a lovely voice, is a gracious hostess. Since last spring she has campaigned Wisconsin up and down in behalf of her husband.

Mrs. La Follette is, of course, well known to official Washington and she has the experience to assist her husband in public life. Before their marriage in 1930 she was his secretary. The La Follettes and their two children divide their time between their estate at Alexandria, Va., and their Maple Bluff farm in Madison.

◆

THERE seems to be little doubt that the state of Michigan will return Arthur H. Vandenberg to Washington as its senior senator over the Democratic nominee, Frank Fitzgerald. This means that Washington society will continue to enjoy the parties and pleasantries of Hazel Whitaker Vandenberg, who has had 12 years' experience in the center of the capital's social-political whirl.

But with all of this experience Mrs. Vandenberg retains a breezy naturalness and complete lack of affectation which make her much beloved by old and young in official Washington.

Interesting is the fact that her mother brought her up on the unorthodox principle that marriage should not be the sole aim of a girl's life—that it should be incidental to an intelligent woman's interests and ambitions. As the result of this training Hazel Vandenberg has crowded into the last three decades the experiences of high school teacher, welfare worker, veteran platform speaker, newspaper woman, and advertising copy writer as well as mother and Washington hostess.

◆

AMONG all the senatorial candidates' wives there is, perhaps, none so glamorous as Mrs. James H. R. Cromwell, whose New Deal husband is fighting to wrest one of New Jersey's senatorial seats from Republican Senator W. Warren Barbour. Mrs. Cromwell was, before her marriage, Doris Duke, heiress to James B. Duke's vast tobacco fortune, reputed to be the richest girl in the world. In 1936 it will be remembered Mrs. Cromwell made a donation of $50,000 to the Democratic campaign fund.

Now the Cromwells commute by air between Shangri-La, their elaborate hideaway in Hawaii, and either New Jersey or their 2,400 acres of lakes and woods in Somerville, N. Y. If Mr. Cromwell makes the senate, he and Doris Duke, perhaps, will spend week-ends in Hawaii.

And if Mr. Cromwell is successful, Mrs. Barbour, wife of New Jersey's present senator, will be missed in Washington. One of the handsomest women in the nation's capital, Mrs. Barbour is a popular hostess. She is tall, athletic, interested in dogs, and devoted to her family.

◆

THERE is no doubt about Mrs. Hiram Johnson returning to Washington, for her distinguished husband is unopposed for reëlection to the senate by his home state—California. Mrs. Johnson is held in high respect in the capital city. She has her own coterie of friends who know her as a woman of strong conviction.

THE senatorial race in Pennsylvania is one of the most crucial and heated in the country. Bachelor Senator Joe Guffy, persistent New Dealer, seeks reëlection but he has strong opposition in Jay Cooke, a political newcomer, member of an old and distinguished Philadelphia family.

If Senator Guffey goes back to Washington, his three sisters, including Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, Democratic national committeewoman in Pennsylvania, will continue to live in the mansion they built a few years ago under the shadow of the capitol dome.

But if Jay Cooke is victorious, the Guffeys will probably dispose of their Washington mansion and Mr. Cooke will take to Washington a wife who is a perfect hostess. As Mary Glendenning Mrs. Cooke was born into an aristocratic Philadelphia family. She loves to hunt, but most of all to be with their two young daughters.

◆

LIKEWISE the senatorial race in New York state has turned up a colorful Republican candidate who is causing a headache or two for the Democratic incumbent, Senator James M. Mead. Bruce Barton, the Republican, is no newcomer in politics, for he has served in the house of representatives. If Congressman Barton is elevated to the senate, Mrs. Barton, who comes from Oak Park, will continue to divide her time between Washington and their red brick New York town house. The Bartons have a family of three.

In Ohio Mrs. Harold H. Burton is campaigning actively in behalf of her husband's Republican candidacy for the United States senate. Mrs. Burton considers her biggest talking point the fact that her husband is the only Republican ever to have served three terms as mayor of Democratic Cleveland.

◆

VERMONT is expected to return Senator Warren Austin to Washington, which Mrs. Austin loves for its gayet and life. But much as Mrs. Austin is interested in the capital city she always is glad to go back to Vermont to see her grandchildren and tend her garden. Senator Austin's Democratic opponent is O. S. Searles.

In the house of representatives in Washington women are expected to have an important place thru actual membership, not alone by virtue of their husbands. This year there are 30 women aspiring to seats in the national congress. They are running on seven tickets, but only thirteen are headliners. Seven of these are Democrats. Six are Republicans.

The most colorful is Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who seeks to go back to Washington after an absence of 21 years. She was the first woman member of congress back in 1917, before suffrage was granted. Miss Rankin voted against war then and, she says, she'll vote against war today if she's given the chance.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

My! My! "Northwest Mounted Police" certainly did have a coming out party last night!

The likes of it you've never seen before, for world premières on ze so grand scale are as scarce in Chicago as hens' teeth and three headed calves. . . . HOWEVER—

My job isn't to record the doin's. These you will find competently reported in other columns. I'm just on deck to tell those of you who WERE NOT at the Chicago or State-Lake last night about the movie proper. . . . Well—let's see———

It's in glorious technicolor—those mounties—YUM! And, for a period of two hours and five minutes you find yourselves, via camera, in that area of God's country policed by the scarlet coated Northwest Mounted police. . . . The time is 1885 and the story of three men and two women is backgrounded by a frontier conflict known as the Riel rebellion. . . . The Metis nation, peopled with descendants of French and Scottish pioneers who had bred with the Indians, had regarded as their own. . . . Government surveyors come. . . . The country is remapped. . . . Farms are split and often—erased. . . . The people's protests to Ottawa are ineffective. . . . Finally rallying around Louis Riel, ex-school teacher patriot, they strike for independence—assisted in their revolt by hordes of Cree and Blackfoot warriors.

Until regular troops arrive it's up to 500 Northwest Mounties to hold the fort—which is Canada.

Chief renegade of the Riel forces is Jacques Corbeau—wanted for murder in both the United States and Canada. A certain long, lanky, lovable Texas Ranger, known as Dusty Rivers, eases ominously over into Canada, nose to trail, and finds that Sergeant Jim Bret is also hot on the scent. The two men like each other little, respect each other a lot—and both love the same girl—April Logan, nurse in the little hospital at Batouche.

April's brother, Ronnie of the Mounted, has the misfortune to become utterly enamored of the half breed daughter of Corbeau and thru her, lose all he holds most dear. . . . It becomes Dusty's lot to clear his name. . . . Now whom do you think does April give her heart to? Grand job by Miss Carroll!

The story unreels actionfully and dramatically. It is highlighted with suspense and has some really delightful humor. . . . You'll love Lynne Overman as a Scotch scout with the mounties.

◆

I assure you with bubbling enthusiasm that it was indeed a pleasure to watch Gary Cooper unravel the various situations that presented themselves for unsnarling, and O, that Preston Foster, so beeg, so strong, so umlala! . . . George Bancroft as just about the baddest man on earth is that little thing convincingly. Paulette Goddard is a vivid, passionate, and wicked Louvette. . . . Chief Big Bear made me think of Bette Davis as Queen Elizabeth. [Silly, wasn't it?]

The picture is alive with striking scenes. Haven't space here to tell you about 'em, but I know of two that will make you gasp.

Mr. De Mille directed the film with his usual lavish hand. He never stints. It seems to me I have NEVER seen such gorgeous photography.

"Northwest Mounted Police" never lets go of your interest for one moment—and it keeps you interested in so many different ways!

See you tomorrow!

See you tomorrow.

Saleswoman at Benefit

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Lincoln Harris will be one of the saleswomen at the rummage sale to be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday by the Kenwood center and the North Side center of the Infant Welfare society at 210 West Monroe street. The doors will be open from 8:30 until 4:30 o'clock. This picture of the former Jean Hyman was taken at the recent St. Luke's fashion show.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 24.—Almost every stage youngster who comes out of Broadway for a bout with the films has in his contract a provision that he can return at stated periods to the theater.

It's partly a kind of finger crossing and partly a notion that one's art really lies with the stage, while movies are just some stuff one does for money; very pleasant money, but possibly inartistic.

Gene Tierney, 20th-Fox starlet, fixed it so she could go back to New York every six months and she's back there now. Eddie Bracken, young and very able comedian of "Too Many Girls," had some similar provision when he first arrived—but Eddie is still in Hollywood and ca-razy about it.

◆

Claudette Colbert has no such notions about a part Broadway, part Hollywood career. It's been a long time since she has had a stage provision in a contract—because she has found out the two won't mix. You can't just dabble in movies and get away with it, she says, because pictures are a great medium and a full time challenge to ability. Besides which, suppose one did grace the boards for a while and the show turned out to be a hit. When the leave of absence was up the star would have to walk out, despite the screams of management and supporting cast. Sam H. Harris suffered such agonies a few seasons ago, when he had movie folk in a hit, and he swore he'd never do it again.

◆

I found Miss Colbert at a skating rink across Melrose from the Paramount lot. She was glowing [a] from the obvious and very handsome business of being Claudette Colbert; [b] from the enthusiastic New York reception of her latest film, "Arise, My Love," and [c] from skating with a fireman. Why the fireman? Well, his job was 24 hours on duty, 24 off, and he was spending some of his off time on the rink, and he was kind enough to skate around with her. He was kind! Here she was, with her reddish bob glowing and the Colbert twinkle in her eyes and the Colbert person done up in a figure fitting gray overall suit, and it was terribly nice of him to hold her up while she made the turn.

"I'll keep on skating," she says, "until we start shooting." I think maybe it's bear shooting, but it is only picture shooting—Gertrude Lawrence's "Skylark," in a month or so. "Then we'll go skiing in Sun Valley along in February. Jack is crazy about skiing." [Jack is her husband, Dr. Joel J. Pressman, just under 40, a chest and throat specialist and a naval reserve man.]

◆

By now the Pressmans are used to reports of a bustup. They'll go to Ciro's or some place and the doctor will get a phone call from a patient and leave Claudette flat. Two mornings later one of the twitter columns will report, "The Dr. Joel Pressmans are having a trial separation." Not long after one of these announcements the first of the season's big openings came—"The Thief of Bagdad." The doc decided he had business to attend to. "Not again!" wailed Claudette. "They'll have us divorced for sure." But he was firm, so she went to the première with her brother, who is an agent but not her agent.

"We've finally decided not to pay any attention," says Miss Colbert. "Usually when reports of a domestic fuss are printed the injured couple immediately make it a point to be seen together all over the place.

Club Expects Record Crowd for Lecture

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Woman's Athletic club is making plans for one of the biggest crowds in its history this morning when Congressman Martin Dies, chairman of the committee on un-American activities, speaks about "The Subversive American Front." As soon as cards were out announcing the lecture, reservations began to pour in and no more luncheon reservations could be taken after Wednesday.

Numerous members said their husbands wanted to attend, so the restaurant management immediately made plans to serve a heavier luncheon than usual. Potatoes, which practically never are included any more on a luncheon for women, will be on the tables at the W. A. C. today, and there will be other concessions to masculine appetites, such as larger portions and richer desserts.

Lecturer to Be Guest of Directors at Luncheon.

Three hundred and fifty can be taken care of at luncheon, but hundreds more will hear the speaker, for the ballroom seats about 700 and, in addition, loud speakers have been installed in the second and sixth floor lounges to accommodate the overflow. Representative Dies will be introduced to the members and their guests promptly at 11:30 o'clock by Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, president. Later Mrs. MacLeish and the directors will entertain the lecturer at luncheon in a private dining room adjoining the main restaurant.

Some of those who are giving luncheon parties after the lecture are Mrs. Robert E. Peacock, Mrs. Brode Davis, Mrs. David Arthur Hare, Mrs. Henry Pope, Mrs. Robert H. Ritchie, Mrs. Raymond Koch, Mrs. J. Raymond Murphy, Mrs. Charles C. Shedd, Mrs. Charles W. Seabury, and Mrs. Frank W. Howes.

Tonight Representative Dies will speak on the same subject before members of the Lake Shore club.

Still another lecture tonight will be that given at Orchestra hall by Clifton Fadiman, literary critic and master of ceremonies of "Information Please," who will discuss "Inside Radio." The talk will be a scholarship benefit sponsored by the Chicago Hollins College club.

List of Assembly Governors Is Unchanged This Year.

There is no change in the list of governors of the Assemblies this year and William McCormick Blair continues as chairman of the group. The assembly will be given on Friday, Dec. 6, at the Palmer House. Solomon Byron Smith is secretary and treasurer of the organization, the other members of which are Lester Armour, A. Watson Armour III., Arthur G. Cable, Dexter Cummings, Edison Dick, James H. Douglas Jr., William H. Mitchell, William R. Odell Jr., Edward L. Ryerson Jr., and John A. Stevenson.

The Arts club announces two interesting events for next week, a lecture on Wednesday morning at 11:30 o'clock by Roy Harris on "Contemporary American Music," and a tea on Friday afternoon to open the first art exhibition of the season. Mr. Harris is one of the most noted of present day American composers. His "American Creed," composed in honor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra's fiftieth anniversary, will be played by that orchestra next week. The art show will consist of 75 oil paintings selected from the collection in the British pavilion at the New York World's fair in 1939. Mrs. Walter R. Kirk will act as hostess that afternoon.

The days and evenings before Miss Elizabeth Buchen's marriage to Albert F. Winston on Saturday, Nov.

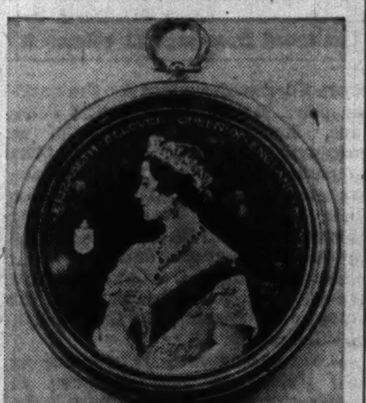
Queen



Colored portrait in wax of Queen Elizabeth by Ethel Frances Mundy which has been donated to the British War Relief fund benefit to be given on Nov. 3 at the Civic Opera house.

Wax Portrait of Queen Given for War Relief

The British War Relief society of Chicago has received a gift that is certain to add a large sum to the proceeds that will be realized from the Ballet theater's opening on Sunday night, Nov. 3, which is to be sponsored by the Chicago committee. The gift is a portrait in wax of Queen Elizabeth, donated by the artist, Ethel Frances Mundy. She is a noted artist and her colored wax portraits are in many museums abroad and in this country.

◆

Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. Bryan Reid, and Mrs. Philip Wrigley are among the Chicagoans who have Mundy wax portraits. Mrs. Armour had her grandchildren, the son and daughter of the John J. Mitchells, sit for Miss Mundy, and Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Wrigley had their daughters "waxed."

Miss Mundy did the British queen's portrait from a photograph made by Cecil Beaton. It is a profile and shows the queen wearing her crown. Those who have seen it describe it as an exquisite work of art and predict that every friend of Great Britain will want to own it. It will be exhibited in the foyer of the Civic Opera house on the night of the benefit and will be sold in shares.

◆

Mrs. Clarence Prentice is chairman of the committee in charge of the benefit and Mrs. Howard Linn is one of the most active workers. The headquarters are at 615 North Michigan avenue, telephone Superior 9565. Tickets may be obtained there.

Music Notes

Beginning today, tickets for all performances of the Chicago Opera company may be purchased not only at the Civic Opera house boxoffice but also at the Marshall Field & Co. store, Lyon & Healy's, and all Western Union offices, both in the loop and in outlying districts.

◆

Norina Greco, not Mobley Lushanya as previously announced, will sing Santuzza in the San Carlo Opera company's performance of "Cavalleria Rusticana" at the Auditorium tonight. The Lola will be Aileen Lonsdale, daughter of John G. Lonsdale, financier and former president of the American Bankers' association. This will be Miss Lonsdale's Chicago operatic debut.

◆

Sturkow Ryder and Georgia Kober will be heard in a two piano recital at the Chicago Woman's Club theater tonight.

New Symphony by Carpenter Wins Acclaim

BY EDWARD BARRY.

John Alden Carpenter, a Chicago composer with a reputation which extends some thousands of miles beyond the city limits, was called to the stage of Orchestra hall last night to listen to the hand clapping of the audience which had just heard a first performance of his new symphony. The performance was given under the conductor and by the orchestra to whom the new work is dedicated—Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

The symphony has the characteristics which we have always associated with its composer—moderation, urbanity, sensitiveness, a certain wistful delicacy of address—but it would be a mistake, I believe, to regard this work as simply another manifestation of the familiar John Alden Carpenter. It seems graver and more profound psychologically than Carpenter's earlier music. Its structure has a greater solidity and its texture a greater richness.

The new symphony's themes possess a remarkable evocative power, notably the one in 5-4 time, which climbs into the stratosphere so delicately and becomes more luminous and serene the higher it goes. The end of the piece contains something as near to an apotheosis as a man of Mr. Carpenter's discretion would ever go. The music becomes broad and majestic and affirmative, only to drop off at the end in a charmingly depreciatory manner.

By the way, either the composer or the conductor miscalculated in his handling of the symphony's close. The chord which ends the maestoso was an invitation to applause — a fact which partially spoiled the odd beauty of the actual conclusion.

◆

Preceding the new work Mr. Stock and his men set Beethoven's Second Symphony before us in all its purity and simplicity. Dynamic schemes were held within strict limits, phrasings were delicate and well considered, tone colorings were light and innocent.

The Grainger "Harvest Hymn" with which the concert began prompted the thought that never in memory has the Chicago Symphony orchestra played so well so early in the season as it does this year. The utterances of the brasses in the hymn were of an extraordinary accuracy and tonal magnificence.

The program also contained Bach's B minor suite [with Ernest Liegl's liquid flute meriting its usual large share of the applause], and two excerpts from Wagner music drama—the "Voices of the Forest" from "Siegfried" and "Siegfried's Rhine Journey" from "Twilight of the Gods."

Listen, Boys, and Give Girl Time to Talk

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Thomas admits suffering the blues over the way his girl has behaved toward him lately. She used to act as if every word he uttered were of importance to her. The last time he spent an evening with her she turned on him and asked him if he couldn't stop talking about himself and ask about her.

Well, that's what girls get, we suppose, for taking too literally the advice handed down from Eve herself to let the man talk about himself. Your young woman, Thomas, probably practiced the rôle so assiduously that she lived to regret it. However, you are not beyond the making-up stage, and we hope you do it right promptly. And let her talk about herself. We all like that, girls and women as well as men.

If we were advising your young woman, Thomas, we'd still tell her that letting the man talk about himself is good technique, but we'd also tell her to try to wangle a bit of interest for herself, too. Now we're telling you, Thomas, and you might pass it on to your fellowmen that you must not take advantage of that well known advice to girls to let the man talk. You needn't be worried. The girl will let you expand enough.

9, are filled with parties for the popular pair. Tonight the Francis Stantons, Herbert DeYoung, who is engaged to Mr. Winston's sister, Miss Virginia Winston, and Brayton Slade are giving a party. They will take their guests for cocktails to the Tavern club and then to the Palmer House for dinner and dancing.

Tomorrow night the Lauren Healys are giving a Halloween party at the home of her parents, the Carl Kellys, in Winnetka.

The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon in Christ church, Winnetka, with a reception following at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walther Buchen of Winnetka.

Miss Frances McNulty Also in Midst of Party Series.

Miss Frances McNulty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard L. McNulty of Wilmette, and Frank Southwick Read, who also are to be married on Nov. 9, are in the midst of a series of prenuptial parties, too. Miss McNulty's sister and brother-in-law, the Frank M. Bells of Niles Center, are giving a tea on Sunday. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Frank William Read of Lake Forest, will give a luncheon at her home on Tuesday. Mrs. Mary Baupré of the Drake, has planned a cocktail party for Wednesday and Mrs. William Rolfing of Cincinnati, will give a luncheon and hosiery shower on Friday at the home of her mother, Mrs. James Adler of Wilmette. The Philip Allens of Lake Bluff, sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, are having a tea on Nov. 3 and Miss Jane Hasting of Wilmette will give a kitchen shower on Nov. 6.

Mr. and Mrs. James Murray Washburn Jr. of Crilly court are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first son on Wednesday afternoon at the Passavant hospital. The Washburns have a 5 year old daughter, Deborah. The new arrival has not yet been named.

Mrs. Howard Vincent O'Brien of Winnetka, will return the first of next week from a visit in Omaha with her new granddaughter. The young lady was born Tuesday night to the former Jean O'Brien and Frederick P. Hamilton Jr. of Omaha. The Hamiltons have another child, 2 year old Joan.

LAST FRIDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 22: You are East, defending against a three no trump contract. [Your side did not bid.] Your partner leads the diamond ace. Dummy comes down with the 6-3 of diamonds; you hold the J-8-2. What card do you play, and why?

Answer: The diamond jack. When, defending against no trump, partner leads the ace of a suit not bid by you, he calls for your highest card in that suit. This is a standard convention [15 points demerit for playing the eight spot; 30 points for the deuce].

TODAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 27: North-South vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 diamond	1 heart	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:

♠AK1052 ♥K5 ♦632 ♣KJ10

What call do you make?

Question 28: You are East, defending against a three no trump contract, the bidding having gone:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Your hand and dummy are as follows:

Dummy.
♠A J 2
♥J 9 3
♦A K 10 9 7
♣9 7

You [East].
♠K 3
♥A Q 10 8
♦Q 5 3
♣6 5 4 2

West leads the five of spades, dummy ducks, you win with king, declarer plays the eight. What card do you return, and why?

Today's Hand

♣J 4

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	2 clubs	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	3 no trump [final bid]

West opened the jack of spades and, upon seeing the dummy, South went into a short huddle. The contract obviously depended upon bringing in the club suit. If the club finesse was "on," the contract could not be lost. South's only problem, then, was to find a means of safeguarding the contract in the event the club king were in East's hand.

After some deliberation, South found the solution. He let the jack of spades hold the trick. His reasoning was sound: If he won the trick and lost the club finesse, a spade return would defeat the contract, but by refusing the trick, he made it possible to exhaust spades from the East hand if that player had started with only two. The holdup play could not be dangerous since, regardless of the success or failure of the club finesse, South needed only one spade trick to fulfill his contract. South's care was rewarded by the score for game and rubber. Had he given less thought to his play on the first trick, he undoubtedly would have lost the contract.

Run Up of an Afternoon.

Mrs. William R. Odell of Lake Forest was motoring on the north shore when she saw a woman with a strange looking dog on leash, an animal Mrs. Odell thought as captivating as it was strange. She pulled up to the curb and spoke to the women.

"Where did you get that wonderful dog?" she asked.

"O, I had nothing to do one afternoon and I made him," answered the woman blithely.

Bombs and Children.

A letter from England received by D. Ryan Tuomey from his sister, who lives at Rottingdean on the south coast of England, tells a little story that shows how British children have adapted themselves to the frightful lives they now lead. The roof of a cinema in her town was struck by a bomb and there were a number of casualties, mostly children. A mother, weeping and wringing her hands, was looking for her boy and girl, both under 10, who had gone to the cinema. She could find no trace of them nor any one who had seen them. At last she went home. There she found the children, unhurt, hungry for their supper.

"Didn't you go to the Odeon?" asked their mother when she could speak.

"O, yes, mummy, but please hurry up with our supper," they chorused. "We went to the Odeon, but the roof was bombed, so we went to another cine!"

Add Poet Laureate and Ballerina.

The story about John Masefield, poet laureate of England, and Nina Stroganova, the ballerina who will dance at the British War benefit at the opening of the Ballet Theater Sunday, Nov. 3, was chopped off in the middle by the makeup man the other day. The rest of the tale concerns Stroganova's correspondence with Masefield since she has been in this country. Richard Pleasant, young director of the Ballet Theater, told about it to Mrs. Howard Linn of the war benefit committee. Mrs. Linn's portrait, in riding habit on her horse, was once painted by Edward Seago, who illustrated a book on the ballet, A Tribute to Ballet, with verses by Masefield, including one to Stroganova.

The lovely ballerina does not write English easily, so when she had written a letter to John Masefield she asked Pleasant to translate her letter into English for the English poet laureate, who had admonished her before she left England to keep working at her English. Pleasant did his best. A letter from Masefield in reply to her letter congratulated her on her progress. Her next letter to Masefield she also gave to Pleasant to translate, and the young ballet director, who likes a joke, put it in her pidgin English. A reply recently was forthcoming from Masefield. She apparently was becoming lax in her studies, he told her. Her second letter did not compare with the first in phrasing and grammar.

Alfeo Faggi of Woodstock, N. Y., one of the most important of contemporary artists and sculptors, strolling up Michigan avenue. The ink and brush sketches for the Stations of the Cross at St. Thomas' church on the south side and some new work are now on exhibit at the Roullier galleries. "They don't belong to me any more," said Faggi, who is a most uncommercial artist, sadly, indicating his drawings for the Stations of the Cross. The series was purchased by Arthur Heun some time ago.

Listen, Boys, and Give Girl Time to Talk

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Thomas admits suffering the blues over the way his girl has behaved toward him lately. She used to act as if every word he uttered were of importance to her. The last time he spent an evening with her she turned on him and asked him if he couldn't stop talking about himself and ask about her.

Well, that's what girls get, we suppose, for taking too literally the advice handed down from Eve herself to let the man talk about himself. Your young woman, Thomas, probably practiced the rôle so assiduously that she lived to regret it. However, you are not beyond the making-up stage, and we hope you do it right promptly. And let her talk about herself. We all like that, girls and women as well as men.

If we were advising your young woman, Thomas, we'd still tell her that letting the man talk about himself is good technique, but we'd also tell her to try to wangle a bit of interest for herself, too. Now we're telling you, Thomas, and you might pass it on to your fellowmen that you must not take advantage of that well known advice to girls to let the man talk. You needn't be worried. The girl will let you expand enough.

9, are filled with parties for the popular pair. Tonight the Francis Stantons, Herbert DeYoung, who is engaged to Mr. Winston's sister, Miss Virginia Winston, and Brayton Slade are giving a party. They will take their guests for cocktails to the Tavern club and then to the Palmer House for dinner and dancing.

Tomorrow night the Lauren Healys are giving a Halloween party at the home of her parents, the Carl Kellys, in Winnetka.

The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon in Christ church, Winnetka, with a reception following at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walther Buchen of Winnetka.

Miss Frances McNulty Also in Midst of Party Series.

Miss Frances McNulty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard L. McNulty of Wilmette, and Frank Southwick Read, who also are to be married on Nov. 9, are in the midst of a series of prenuptial parties, too. Miss McNulty's sister and brother-in-law, the Frank M. Bells of Niles Center, are giving a tea on Sunday. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Frank William Read of Lake Forest, will give a luncheon at her home on Tuesday. Mrs. Mary Baupré of the Drake, has planned a cocktail party for Wednesday and Mrs. William Rolfing of Cincinnati, will give a luncheon and hosiery shower on Friday at the home of her mother, Mrs. James Adler of Wilmette. The Philip Allens of Lake Bluff, sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, are having a tea on Nov. 3 and Miss Jane Hasting of Wilmette will give a kitchen shower on Nov. 6.

Mr. and Mrs. James Murray Washburn Jr. of Crilly court are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first son on Wednesday afternoon at the Passavant hospital. The Washburns have a 5 year old daughter, Deborah. The new arrival has not yet been named.

Mrs. Howard Vincent O'Brien of Winnetka, will return the first of next week from a visit in Omaha with her new granddaughter. The young lady was born Tuesday night to the former Jean O'Brien and Frederick P. Hamilton Jr. of Omaha. The Hamiltons have another child, 2 year old Joan.

LAST FRIDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 22: You are East, defending against a three no trump contract. [Your side did not bid.] Your partner leads the diamond ace. Dummy comes down with the 6-3 of diamonds; you hold the J-8-2. What card do you play, and why?

Answer: The diamond jack. When, defending against no trump, partner leads the ace of a suit not bid by you, he calls for your highest card in that suit. This is a standard convention [15 points demerit for playing the eight spot; 30 points for the deuce].

TODAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 27: North-South vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 diamond	1 heart	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:

♠ A K 10 5 2 ♥ K 5 ♦ 6 3 2 ♣ K J 10

What call do you make?

Question 28: You are East, defending against a three no trump contract, the bidding having gone:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Your hand and dummy are as follows:

Dummy.
♠ A J 2
♥ J 9 3
♦ A K 10 9 7
♣ 9 7

You [East].
♠ K 3
♥ A Q 10 8
♦ Q 5 3
♣ 6 5 4 2

West leads the five of spades, dummy ducks, you win with king, declarer plays the eight. What card do you return, and why?

Today's Hand

West, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 8 3

WEST

EAST
♠ 6 2
♥ 9 7
♦ J 10 8 5 2
♣ K 6 5 2

SOUTH
♠ K Q 5
♥ A 8 5 2
♦ K 9 7 3
♣ J 4

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	2 clubs	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	3 no trump [final bid]

West opened the jack of spades and, upon seeing the dummy, South went into a short huddle. The contract obviously depended upon bringing in the club suit. If the club finesse was "on," the contract could not be lost. South's only problem, then, was to find a means of safeguarding the contract in the event the club king were in East's hand.

After some deliberation, South found the solution. He let the jack of spades hold the trick. His reasoning was sound: If he won the trick and lost the club finesse, a spade return would defeat the contract, but by refusing the trick, he made it possible to exhaust spades from the East hand if that player had started with only two. The holdup play could not be dangerous since, regardless of the success or failure of the club finesse, South needed only one spade trick to fulfill his contract. South's care was rewarded by the score for game and rubber. Had he given less thought to his play on the first trick, he undoubtedly would have lost the contract.

Tomorrow's Hand

Run Up of an Afternoon.

Mrs. William R. Odell of Lake Forest was motoring on the north shore when she saw a woman with a strange looking dog on leash, an animal Mrs. Odell thought as captivating as it was strange. She pulled up to the curb and spoke to the women.

"Where did you get that wonderful dog?" she asked.

"O, I had nothing to do one afternoon and I made him," answered the woman blithely.

Bombs and Children.

A letter from England received by D. Ryan Tuomey from his sister, who lives at Rottingdean on the south coast of England, tells a little story that shows how British children have adapted themselves to the frightful lives they now lead. The roof of a cinema in her town was struck by a bomb and there were a number of casualties, mostly children. A mother, weeping and wringing her hands, was looking for her boy and girl, both under 10, who had gone to the cinema. She could find no trace of them nor any one who had seen them. At last she went home. There she found the children, unhurt, hungry for their supper.

"Didn't you go to the Odeon?" asked their mother when she could speak.

"O, yes, mummy, but please hurry up with our supper," they chorused. "We went to the Odeon, but the roof was bombed, so we went to another cine!"

Add Poet Laureate and Ballerina.

The story about John Masefield, poet laureate of England, and Nina Stroganova, the ballerina who will dance at the British War benefit at the opening of the Ballet Theater Sunday, Nov. 3, was chopped off in the middle by the makeup man the other day. The rest of the tale concerns Stroganova's correspondence with Masefield since she has been in this country. Richard Pleasant, young director of the Ballet Theater, told about it to Mrs. Howard Linn of the war benefit committee. Mrs. Linn's portrait, in riding habit on her horse, was once painted by Edward Seago, who illustrated a book on the ballet, A Tribute to Ballet, with verses by Masefield, including one to Stroganova.

The lovely ballerina does not write English easily, so when she had written a letter to John Masefield she asked Pleasant to translate her letter into English for the English poet laureate, who had admonished her before she left England to keep working at her English. Pleasant did his best. A letter from Masefield in reply to her letter congratulated her on her progress. Her next letter to Masefield she also gave to Pleasant to translate, and the young ballet director, who likes a joke, put it in her pidgin English. A reply recently was forthcoming from Masefield. She apparently was becoming lax in her studies, he told her. Her second letter did not compare with the first in phrasing and grammar.

Alfeo Faggi of Woodstock, N. Y., one of the most important of contemporary artists and sculptors, strolling up Michigan avenue. The ink and brush sketches for the Stations of the Cross at St. Thomas' church on the south side and some new work are now on exhibit at the Roullier galleries. "They don't belong to me any more," said Faggi, who is a most uncommercial artist, sadly, indicating his drawings for the Stations of the Cross. The series was purchased by Arthur Heun some time ago.

Separate Coat, Skirt Combines Lure Shoppers

BY REA SEEGER.

Imagination runs riot in the separate skirt and coat showings all over town. Nothing equals the call of these colors unless it's the eye blinding beauties made of velveteen for the shoppers unhampered by small or modest budgets.

More interesting loot for the shoppers arrives each day. Trim cut tops and separate skirts are worn in the same color, or you can mix these velveteens as you did wools and tweeds. The color rage of the week is the anything but subtle contrast of fire red with stop light green.

Beige and old gold velveteen duets are as easily separated to contrast with green, red, or brown. The skirts flare smartly around the hemline and the hiplines are smooth. All the blouse tops are high along the throat, sleeves are elbow length or a trifle longer.

Shirtwaists of velveteen have the usual cuffed long sleeves, the convertible collar, and tailored details such as pockets and seams of the classic shirtwaist styles.

Smart shoppers choose the dull blacks, dark brown, deep green, and blue velveteen duets for dress parade and Sunday night supper dates. Brilliant costume jewelry, ascots of gold or silver lamé or vivid chiffon add a lot of distinction to these simply fashioned outfits.

Bright striped taffeta jackets will change the entire costume idea; so will pleated taffeta skirts worn with the fitted jackets. So much is possible with these modestly priced velveteen finds, that it is small wonder they're going into circulation with such ease and speed.

GASOLINE ALLEY—WHISTLE WHILE YOU WORK

HORACE IS A GOOD KID. HE ISN'T AFRAID OF WORK.
HE'S ALWAYS WHISTLING—AND HE'S CUTE. HE'LL WOW THE GIRLS WHEN HE GROWS UP.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Oct. 25, 1940.

Universal day—Keep serious and full of purpose today. Not a gay or particularly cheerful day.

November—Those in a four year may feel a little discouraged to find that their obligations are not completed yet. It will be a few months before you can attain the personal freedom which your next year promises. There are still many duties to perform, and there are adjustments to be made this month in your relationships. Be tolerant and more than ready to take the blame. Watch your health, and don't try to "boss" those in your family. Teachers with this number will be particularly busy aiding children and helping with their problems.

Year ahead—You should be able to give a sigh of relief before long because you can shake off your limitations of the past year soon.

Would you like to know what kind of a year 1941 will be for you? Send for your personal yearly, monthly, and daily guide.

Classes are limited to 200 members, and will begin at 7 p. m. Dancing will continue until midnight.

★ Your Stars Today ★.

By WYNN

Friday, Oct. 25.

Today's leaning is toward sudden, ill-considered thoughts and moves having too much petty selfishness in them. Keep that long distance perspective and do only those things which you know rest on solid foundations for the future.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead, if born on this date, will affect existent status with your equals, both private and legal—some problems to face, but some gains resulting. Be absolutely honest. Danger: Nov. 20-Dec. 8, and April 7-15.

Tomorrow.

Can be made best day of week; work intelligently, hard, and long.

Do you want an individual interpretation for your own personal date? Send 10c for your 1941 horoscope (or 5c for balance of 1940 horoscope—15c for both) to WYNN, Tribune Astrologer, 286 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, date of birth, and address.

Election Ends Convention of Baptists at Mattoon

Mattoon, Ill., Oct. 24 [Special].—The Illinois Baptist state convention closed its four day 1940 session here today with the election of the Rev. James M. Lively, pastor of the Mattoon First Baptist church for 25 years, as president.

Britain's Queen Accepts 24 U. S. Red Cross Wagons

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP).—A gift from the American Red Cross of 24 utility wagons to be used to carry food and clothing to bomb damaged areas was accepted by Queen Elizabeth today on behalf of the women's voluntary services, of which she is president.

He offers you case-price savings on Meister Bräu Beer to serve at your Halloween party to put "spice" in the apple-bobbing, spook-and-goblin hilarity of the occasion—offers quantity prices on Chicago's favorite bottled beer. A beer you can be proud to serve.

Meister Bräu gained its astonishing popularity when people began to take our advice of "taste and compare . . . then decide!" It has made thousands of new friends the last few months with people who give beer the real low-down test of flavor we brewmasters use—the "50-Degrees" Test. You see, beer flavor, good or bad, shows up at 50 degrees. Delicate flavors you miss entirely when it's too cold. And if there's any "off" taste, you get that, too—the real low-down.

So, serving beer at 50 degrees accomplishes two things. You are able to judge beer like an expert. And a good brew tastes better than you ever imagined it could. 50° is only a little less cold than beer comes out of the average refrigerator. But those few degrees make a lot of difference in beer enjoyment.

HOW TO DO "50-DEGREES" TEST

Use an ordinary food thermometer such as you buy at a ten-cent store. Take a bottle of Meister Bräu and any other brand out of the refrigerator and let stand a few minutes. Then open, pour, take temperature and compare flavors.

N. U. PLANS TO MATCH PASSES WITH INDIANA

55,000 AWAIT MICHIGAN-PENN DUEL TOMORROW

Recall Harmon vs. Reagan in 1939.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 24.—Back there in 1899, when the universities of Michigan and Pennsylvania touched off one of the oldest feuds in football, a crowd of 6,000 saw the first game between the two on Franklin field in Philadelphia. On Saturday afternoon, a throng which may go beyond 55,000 is expected to sit in here for the 19th battle between the Wolverines and the Quakers.

There will be 22 players and four officials on the playing field. There will be one of the largest delegations of eastern experts of the season in the press box. And the reason for all this to-do narrows down to two of those 22 hands—Thomas Dudley Harmon of Michigan and Francis Xavier Reagan of Pennsylvania.

They Both Get Fine Support.

Thomas and Francis, of course, will be the first to allow that those other 20 gents are not out merely for the purpose of modeling football uniforms. Gifted as these two great backs are, it becomes plainer each week that they are receiving valuable collaboration, fore and aft, from their associates. But Harmon and Reagan, and the prospect of another such personal duel as they waged in last year's game, won by Michigan in a 19 to 17 thriller, is the real magnet in this fight between unbeaten elevens.

Harmon needs little, if any, introduction in any quarter, certainly not in these central states. The personable Gary boy has identified himself as one of the ablest back field artists in Michigan history, a fact attested by his record of 11 touchdowns, 15 conversions, and one field goal in 1939. That left him with a total of 84 points, and here he is already with 79 in his four 1940 appearances to date.

They Know Francis, Too.

Reagan is a newcomer to middle western audiences, but not to Michigan folks, who saw him work in last year's game against the Wolverines. Like Harmon, Francis, who weighs 185 pounds and stands 6 feet tall, can do just about anything in the football book. He warmed up last week for his Saturday chore here by scoring 31 points, including five touchdowns against Princeton, not to mention firing a touchdown pass. In the pitching department, Reagan has a western conference parallel in hurling Hal Hursh of Indiana. Both are excellent football passers, yet their real forte is catching baseballs, Reagan, as a matter of fact, has had offers from several big league clubs, but refuses to make a decision.

A member of a family of eight children, Francis is working his way thru school. He is a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, is deeply religious, and plays a prominent part in the affairs of the Newman club, the Catholic students' organization. He lives in the priests' house of St. Bede's chapel on the Penn campus.

The Boy Can Punt.

For two years, Reagan has been the Quakers' leading ground gainer, forward passer, and punter. He averaged 5.4 yards per ball toting attempt in 1938 and last year was restrained to 3.55 yards, but handled the ball more times than in 1938. He reached his peak in the aforementioned Michigan battle, outgaining Harmon, who rolled up an aggregate of 294 yards, including an incredible 63 yard touchdown dash after the Quakers practically had him trapped on his own goal line. Reagan came out of the game late in the fourth quarter with a mark of 356 yards, 85 from scrimmage, 21 on punt returns, 62 on kickoff returns, and 188 on gains off of his passes.

PENN SENDS THREE TEAMS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 24 (AP).—Three full teams carried unbeaten Pennsylvania's hopes aboard a Michigan bound train tonight, with Coach George Munger bewailing the fact that the final home workout was the most unsatisfactory of the season.

After complaining about missed signals, faulty blocks and the prevalence of fumbles, Munger recalled that the Red and Blue also looked terrible just before last week's conquest of Princeton. Munger expressed confidence that Francis Reagan will give the Wolverines a busy afternoon. The traveling squad:

ENDS—Bernard Kuczynski, Francis McKernan, Clifford Shane, Leonard Warner, John Creamer, Richard Martin, and Herb Nelson.

TACKLES—Clifford Engler, Walter Moeling, Jack Cohen, John Donaldson, Runte, John Redline.

GUARDS—Albert Brechka, Robert Hunt, Domini Di Battista, Irving Mendelson, Morton Shiekman, Robert Hartwig.

CENTERS—Capt. Ray Frick, Donald Bitler Walter Wiesmiller.

Wildcat, Hoosier Alumni Hold Luncheon Today

Northwestern university and Indiana university alumni clubs will hold a joint football luncheon at 12:15 this afternoon in the Bismarck hotel. Speakers will include Alvin [Bo] McMillin, Indiana football coach; Zora Clevenger, Indiana athletic director; Tug Wilson, Northwestern athletic director; and Lynn Waldorf, coach of the Wildcats.

MOON MULLINS—TOO MUCH OVERSPIN

64,000 TO WATCH MINNESOTA DUEL IOWA TOMORROW

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 24.—The big problem up here is how to get a good ticket to the Minnesota-Iowa game, and, if one comes from afar, where to put the body down tomorrow and Saturday nights. The biggest crowd that ever saw a football contest here—64,000—is assured for the Gophers' homecoming, a rather phenomenal state of affairs, inasmuch as the fans aren't especially hysterical over football as compared to many seasons here and as compared to the Iowa fever of 1939.

More than 10,000 tickets allotted to Iowans, who have no urge to boom the Minnesota homecoming, have been snapped up by Hawkeye partisans, obviously left unchilled by the Hawks' 10 to 6 upset by Indiana university last Saturday.

Just Like a County Fair.

Students today almost forgot to inquire about the condition of the Gophers' injured back field star, Bruce Smith, and other football matters as they prepared for this greatest of Minnesota homecomings. A barnyard motif is to be carried out, with live kine, swine, chickens, ducks, in fact domestic critters of all kinds, adding homey realism to the rural scene.

The football principals of course aren't spending any time roping shoats or stacking fodder. The Gophers, who, 'tis said, hadn't taken themselves so terribly seriously before the season opened, now have rather definite ideas about going back into the Western conference championship business after a year's layoff. They have won three games, none by so much as a margin of a touchdown and a point conversion. But they have conquered worthy foes in Washington [19-14], Nebraska [13-7], and Ohio State [13-7].

They Want to Get Even.

These early victories, tho most heartening to the Gopher constituency, are said to afford no pattern for their plans as they go about trying to avenge the 13 to 9 jolt Iowa administered to Minnesota last year. For one thing, the Gophers haven't tried a forward pass in their last seven quarters of play, the last three periods of the Nebraska game and all of the Ohio State battle.

Coach Bierman's boys are expected to toss a few tomorrow. We are not going into the usual "aerial circus" routine in this piece. We did that last week in a game involving Iowa—and the Hawkeyes, tho they tried seven passes against the Hoosiers, completed none.

Iowa's Been Hearing Things.

Iowa hears that the Gopher secondary isn't so hot and it is known that Coach Eddie Anderson expects to wipe out the complete flop of his boys' aerial maneuvers a week ago.

Iowans can go far back in the history of the Iowa-Minnesota series and find some of its greatest highlights. The 1918 eleven, for instance, was the first team to defeat Minnesota. Fred Lohman scored the lone touchdown in a 6 to 0 victory.

Cornell Faces Ohio Threat with Mighty Football Team

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 24.—A record breaking crowd will jam Schoellkopf stadium Saturday afternoon to see if a record breaking Cornell university football team can repeat last season's victory over Ohio State.

Cornell's eleven has not been defeated for two years. Syracuse university, beaten last Saturday, 33 to 6, by the Big Red, was the last team to beat these boys who last year won the championship of the east. In 1938 Syracuse surprised with a fourth period attack that gained a 19 to 17 triumph.

This fall, in defense of a perfect 1939 record that included the spectacular victory over the Buckeyes, 23 to 14, Cornell has whipped Colgate, 34 to 0; followed with a 45 to 0 humiliating triumph over Army, and now has added the orange of Syracuse to the scalps of the Red Raiders from Colgate.

Expect Crowd of 33,500.

When Cornell licked Dartmouth Nov. 12, 1938, and ended the reign of the Indians in eastern football, 30,480 were present. Saturday, 33,500 will occupy all stadium seats and a temporary bleacher extension.

Special trains from New York and Buffalo, Richmond, Ind., and Dayton, Cleveland, and Columbus, O., will bring thousands to this city of 20,000, the majority of whom, no doubt, wish to see Ohio State win. Excellent weather has been predicted, extension of the pleasant Indian summer of today.

Cornell is ready for the invaders, who will not reach the battle site until game time. The Buckeyes arrive tomorrow and will remain overnight in nearby Watkins Glen.

Big Red at Full Strength.

For the first time this season, Cornell will have its maximum strength in the field Saturday, thus, if Ohio State should win, its victory cannot be minimized.

Cornell does not have a power attack, according to Louis Boochever, sports publicist, but it does have a striking force comparable to the effective play of teams which are dangerous on any play and from any portion on the gridiron. To mention that Cornell can score by forward passing is to add that the percentage of completion for the Big Red is highest in the nation.

Cornell's strength includes Vincent Eichler, who two years ago was a great line plunger, but who missed last season by injury and was hurt in the opening game this year. Eichler will give Cornell a badly needed threat between the defensive tackles. The strength of the Big Red seniors —20 of the first 22 players will graduate next June—rests in the versatility of Hal McCullough, from Brooklyn, N. Y.

McCullough is the left half back who has sparked the Cornell attack with superlative passing, excellent open field running, and consistently good kicking. When McCullough needs a rest, Cornell has Wally Scholl, also a senior, and Dick Quigg, a junior from Pueblo, Colo.

Cornell's passing strength is well distributed. Bill Murphy, who pairs with McCullough, and Lou Bufalino, his relief, are as proficient as the triple threat men on the other side of the back field.

Cornell's line may not be the heaviest in the east. But it is uniform in ability and is sparked by Nick Drahos, who last year was one of four second year men to receive national recognition on the honor elevens. The line, from end to end, is that which went thru the 1939 season undefeated. All are seniors.

BUCKEYES ARE CONFIDENT.

Columbus, O., Oct. 24 [Special].—Ohio State's twice beaten Buckeyes, geared for an upset over Cornell, left for Ithaca, N. Y., tonight.

With the exception of Half Back Dick Fisher who is definitely out with a shoulder injury, the scarlet and gray squad has recuperated from injuries suffered in last week's battle with Minnesota. Jimmy Strausbaugh, who has seen little action because of a preseason ankle injury, will start at left half. Those making the trip are:

ENDS—Anderson, Clair, Hershberger, Massie, Newlin, McCafferty, and Fox.

TACKLES—Dixon, Daniell, Grundies, Gustavson, Maag, Piccinini, and Stephenson.

GUARDS—Nosker, Howard, Rosen, Thom, Bruckner, and Heffelfinger.

CENTERS—White, Bell, and Vickroy.

QUARTER BACKS—Scott, Sexton, Simione, and Graf.

HALF BACKS — Strausbaugh, Kinkade, Sweeney, Howe, Horvath, and Zavistoske.

FULL BACKS—Capt. Langhurst, Hallabrin, and Nichols.

Ohio State's 120 piece marching band and more than 2,000 fans will leave tomorrow night after a campus pep meeting.

Boots Weber to Leave Post as Cub Official in Spring

Charles A. [Boots] Weber, vice president of the Cubs, will retire early next spring he announced yesterday. His resignation is in the hands of President-Owner P. K. Wrigley who has intimated he is sympathetic with Weber's desire to return to California. Weber, who has been in baseball since 1906, came to the Cubs several years ago after a long term as business manager of the Wrigley owned Los Angeles club. Weber expressed a desire to resign last spring.

ILLINOIS, LIKE HORATIUS, FACES A TOUGH TASK

But Notre Dame's Might Fails to Scare Team.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 24.—The Illinois football players are preparing for Saturday's game with Notre Dame in the spirit with which the Greeks lined up to defend the pass of Thermopylae. Look at them closer and they also remind you of the Old Guard which would never surrender. Throw in a mental picture of Horatius at the bridge and you get the idea that the Illini believe they're up against a tough job.

You hardly can blame them. The players have read the newspapers and the scouts have brought back accounts of the three previous Notre Dame performances this season—and you can't laugh off 61 to 0 scores. But there's another angle. Notre Dame has been tripped unexpectedly in the past when apparently on the march toward an undefeated season —and the Illini are sensationally expert tripper-uppers. For that reason more than 60,000, the largest crowd since 1929, will gather here Saturday to watch this game. It will be homecoming day for Illinois.

Fans a Bit Superstitious.

Among the Illini fans you will find few who are willing even to speculate on the possibility of upsetting Notre Dame—but that's just because they're a bit superstitious. They'll fire quotations at you such as "A watched pot never boils" and refuse to talk above a whisper when they voice any wishful thinking.

They're much too modest, however, for the record of the Illini is replete with great performances. Under Coach Bob Zuppke, many a team has risen suddenly to the occasion. Only last year there was that amazing game in which Illinois conquered Michigan just when the Wolverines apparently had established themselves as one of the nation's strongest teams. Oldtimers like to recall the day in 1916 when Illinois defeated Minnesota's so-called perfect team in Minneapolis. Then there was that victory over Ohio State in 1921. Up to that time the Buckeyes had won all of their conference games and the Illini hadn't won any. Those are a few of the incidents that will keep Notre Dame wary.

Games Closely Fought.

This will be the first time in the history of Illinois football that a non-conference team has been the opponent on homecoming day. Notre Dame and Illinois have met only three times before. All of the games were closely fought. In the first game on the old Illinois field in 1898, the Irish won, 5 to 0. The rivalry was renewed in 1937 and the game ended in a scoreless tie. In 1938 Notre Dame won, 14 to 6.

Coach Elmer Layden is expected to be present tomorrow evening at a mass meeting which will be held on the Illini campus. President Arthur C. Willard and Coach Zuppke will speak. Red Grange, Illinois' most celebrated football alumnus, will be present. This will be the first game he has attended in Champaign since 1934 when he saw Illinois beat Ohio State.

36 MAKE TRIP FOR IRISH.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 24 [Special.] —Coach Elmer Layden gave the Notre Dame squad a final checkup this afternoon and then posted a list of 36 men who will leave tomorrow morning for Danville, Ill. The group will proceed to Champaign Saturday for its game with Illinois.

Three centers and Bob Leonard, senior full back, will be left behind because of injuries. The centers are Gordy O'Reilly of Chicago, Tom Brock of Columbus, Neb., and Jim Ford of Binghamton, N. Y. Bob Osterman, the starter, is in good shape.

Following is the squad named:

ENDS—Bob Dove, Johnny O'Brien, Phil Sheridan, John Kovatch, George Rassas, George Murphy.

TACKLES—Tom Gallagher, Paul Lillis, Jim Brutz, Walt Ziemba, Larry Sullivan, Bob Neff, Lou Rymkus.

GUARDS—Pete Kelly, John Gubanich, Bob Maddock, Joe Laiber, Eddie Sullivan, Herky Bereolos.

CENTERS—Bob Osterman, John McHale, John Lanahan.

QUARTER BACKS—Bob Hargrave, Tony Girolami, Jackie Hayes, Bob Koch.

HALF BACKS—Bob Saggau, Steve Juswik, Owen Evans, Steve Bagarus, Bill McGannon, Bill Earley, Don Hogan.

FULL BACKS—Capt. Milt Piepul, Bernie Crimmins, Al Lee.

BY ARCH WARD.

THE Brooklyn Football Dodgers' next two games will be played before capacity crowds. . . . Dan Topping, president of the club, says attendance on the road is up 80 per cent this season and the first two home crowds were 50 per cent larger than for the first two games in 1939. . . . The New York Giants and the Washington Redskins are the opponents who have sold out Ebbets field in advance of their engagements with the Dodgers. . . . Augie Galan, Cub outfielder who cracked both his kneecaps in a fence collision in Philadelphia last August, has shed the casts, but he can't leave for his Berkeley, Cal., home for another 10 days, at least. . . . Don Faurot, head coach at the University of Missouri, says his participation on the staff of the 1940 college All-Stars was the most pleasant experience of his coaching career. . . . Steve Juzwik, a right half back, is Notre Dame's leading ground gainer this season. . . . He has averaged 14.5 yards every time he has freighted the leather, while Bob Saggau, left half back, the position which usually produces the ball carrying ace for the Irish, has averaged only 1.3 yards. . . . Milt Piepul, captain and full back, has picked up 7.7 yards as an average try. . . . He has been held without gain only twice in his intercollegiate career. . . . The Army tossed him for a four yard loss at Yankee stadium last year and Georgia Tech stopped him a yard behind the line of scrimmage on one occasion this fall.

National Football league coaches, scouting Tom Harmon with an eye to the draft, have discovered that the Michigan thunderbolt carries the ball in the wrong hand on off tackle smashes and end runs. . . . Instead of clutching it in his right hand when he goes to the right and in the left hand when he swings the other way, a fundamental taught all high school ball carriers, Harmon lugs it on the inside arm. . . . But like Fritz Crisler, the pro coaches all will be willing to let him carry it in a basket, if he'll carry it for them—and carry it far enough. . . . Don Griffin, hero of Chicago's prep gridirons last season, now a freshman at Illinois, will play with the Delta Upsilon fraternity team against Pi Beta Phi sorority in a touch football game at Urbana. . . . Whoops! . . . No coyote in Bo McMillin's beloved Texas ever howled with the same shrill notes yelped by the wolves of Indiana the week before the Hoosiers broke into the victory column by defeating Iowa. . . . It's a new language, which Indiana's personable coach doesn't understand thoroly. . . . Sixteen men have been recruited from the Block C Society and Rambler squad to police the University of California male rooting section at football games "to prevent rowdyism and to confiscate all fruit, vegetables, bottles, and beer cans." . . . When Rollie Hemsley, Cleveland catcher, stopped in Montana the other day for an exhibition game he purchased some cowboy boots. . . . It took the combined services of a teammate and a reporter to pull off the boots so that Hemsley could appear on the field at game time. . . . A tenth of Utah's entire population took to the hills when the annual deer hunting season opened Oct. 19.

To Johann Strauss.

[On his 115th birthday anniversary.]

As war clouds darken all that's sane and sacred
Across the seas, where bitter hatred's fanned,
My heart stands still with dread and pity, fearing
For all the treasured Past, so grave and grand—

Those towered turrets, churches, and châteaux
Whose ancient walls we'd save from Demon's doom—
The bright stained glass, the pictured saints and angels—
Man's fruit of the chisel, brush, quill, and loom.

Then surcease from cold fear comes softly sighing,
From deep within my heart a murmur stirs.
Again I'm tuned to waltzes of Vienna,
My heart sings thru the bitter tear that blurs.

I sit and dream of Danube's blue and beauty,
Of Strauss' merry melodies so rare.
O, do you from your Music Halls in Heaven
Look down and sadly wonder, weep, and care?

HAHNENSTEIN'S READY TO TEAM UP WITH SOPER

Hal Hursh Carries Hoosier Hopes.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Northwestern's Wildcats, the lads who warmed up by belting Syracuse 40 to 0, and subsequently dusted off two Big Nine opponents to place themselves in the class of possible champions, may take to the air tomorrow.

They're overdue to display their pitching and catching talents, apparently because of a feeling that their ground game is good enough, so why change?

But Lynn Waldorf, ringmaster of the Wildcats' touchdown circus, wants to see the change without further delay. In fact, as he cracked the whip yesterday in the last strenuous rehearsal before the Indiana battle tomorrow in Dyche stadium, he put in a large order for passes, appreciating that they lead to quick scoring and quick scoring may be a necessity against a team like Indiana, which goes into the air at 2 o'clock and stays there until the referee breaks up the party.

Where Are Those Passes?

The figures on the Wildcats' three games are sufficient proof that Waldorf has reason to wonder what happens on Saturday to all the overhead plays his stalwarts rehearse on the practice field. Against Ohio State Northwestern threw only two, neither completed, but won, 6 to 3. Fourteen were tossed in the Syracuse and Wisconsin struggles. Seven were completed, sufficient proof that when the boys decide to to pitch and catch they do it unusually well.

The seven passes completed by the Wildcats all were thrown by the flashy Bill De Correvont, who, in latest reports, will be idle tomorrow as the result of the ankle sprain incurred in his meeting with the Badgers last week-end. But even if the De Correvont bulletin isn't a ruse, the team still will have the means of traveling above ground. Red Hahnenstein, who will start at left half in Bill's place, and Paul Soper, who played there until shunted to full back, are old hands at pitching pigskins.

Injuries Keep Occurring.

The Wildcats, who before the season opened were thought to be another so-so combination but who have confounded the dopesters, have yet to have all their talent available on a Saturday afternoon. Against Syracuse Soper, injured in an early practice, played only a few minutes, which was enough to aggravate a charley horse. That kept him out of the Ohio battle from which Hahnenstein also was absent because of an injured ankle.

Ira Kepford suffered a shoulder injury in the Ohio struggle, missed the Wisconsin game, and will be out again tomorrow. Don Clawson, the Purple's first string full back, saw less than five minutes of action against the Badgers. He went out with some painfully twisted side muscles and is still a semi-invalid.

Hoosiers Are Air Minded.

Indiana's attitude on passes is vividly shown by a total of 67 attempted in its engagement with Texas, Nebraska, and Iowa, the first two games resulting in defeats. That's a lot of passes but the added concern for the Wildcats is that 32 of the 67 found receivers. And Indiana makes no secret of the fact that its Hal Hursh in 47 efforts hooked up with a catcher 21 times.

In the excitement of making ready for Hursh the Hurler, the Wildcats haven't overlooked a few other important items. They've heard all about Hal Zimmer, the 155 pounder who last week put on the 54 yard run that defeated Iowa. And they also have been informed that some time during the afternoon a fellow named Harry Brooks, who had a long session with a sprained ankle, will be turned loose.

Coach Bo McMillin will pilot his Hoosiers into Chicago this morning, park them in the Edgewater Beach hotel, and in the afternoon take them on a trip to Evanston, where one of the stops will be at Dyche stadium for practice purposes.

HOOSIERS ON THE WAY.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 24 [Special].—Keyed for their second Western conference victory bid of the season, 36 Indiana football players entrained tonight for Evanston.

Coach Bo McMillin sent the Hoosiers thru a light drill this afternoon, pronouncing them physically ready.

Players making the trip were:

ENDS—Jack Nash, Howdy Elliott, Mike Dumke, Archie Harris, and Eddie Rucinski.

TACKLES — Graham Martin, Dick Behm, Frank Smith, Emil Uremovich, Al Sabel, and Jim Trimble.

GUARDS—Al Bragalone, Bill Smith, Mike Bucchianeri, Gene White, Dick Campbell, and Charles Steele.

CENTERS — Dwight Gahm, Ken Moeller, and Mike Naddeox.

CARDS CAN STOP PASSES, EXCEPT THE SCORING KIND

Pros Build a Defense and Hope for Luck.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The best pass defense in the National Football league belongs to the Chicago Cardinals, those earnest young men who have been able to beat no one but the best and are entrenched in last place in the western division with only a victory over the Bears.

Opponents have thrown 125 passes against them in seven games and completed only 46 for an average of .368. Yet pass defense was the main part of yesterday's workout at Comiskey park, where on Sunday the Cardinals play the Cleveland Rams. Why?

Well, while the Cardinals make it very difficult for any one to complete a pass against them, occasionally some one does and usually it goes for a touchdown. Opponents have crossed the Cardinals' goal line nineteen times this year. And 11 of the touchdowns have on passes.

Breaks—and All Bad.

This is just another one of those unusual little features that make the Cardinals the most amazing team in the league. Five times so far pass receivers have been covered perfectly only to have the Cardinal defender hit a soft spot in the turf and fall or stumble in a hole. And each of the mishaps resulted in an opponent's touchdown.

Last week at Cleveland the Rams were able to complete only four out of 18 passes. But three went for touchdowns. Washington had a little better luck in completions the week before, and it made all four of its touchdowns on passes. Yet the Cardinals lead the league on pass defense despite the fact that only one team, Green Bay, has had more passes thrown against it. Coach Jimmy Conzelman has given a lot of thought to these figures. Consequently pass defense continues to be a major item in daily drills. What probably would do them more good would be a little luck.

Tonelli Not Yet Recovered.

There has been nothing wrong with the Cardinals' running attack, altho it has not been up to par for the last two weeks and probably will be weakened Sunday against the Rams by the continued convalescence of Mario Tonelli, the former Notre Dame full back. It had been expected that Tonelli would be ready Sunday, but Conzelman said after yesterday's drill that he was not counting on him. The leg injured in the Detroit game still is far from healed.

The Bears headed east yesterday for their game against the Giants in New York on Sunday. The squad was in high spirits and good condition, except for George Musso and Bobby Swisher, who will not play. Andy Lotshaw, who has been trainer for the Bears longer than he has for the Cubs, was missing from the party. Lotshaw remained behind to be at the bedside of Mrs. Lotshaw, who is seriously ill. Workouts are scheduled in the Polo Grounds, site of the game, today and tomorrow.

SHORTEN SEASON FOR INDIANA PREP FOOTBALL

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 24 [Special]. —The Indiana High School Athletic association today voted to eliminate preschool opening football games. The association limited games to the period beginning with opening day of school and ending Nov. 30. This decision eliminates intersectional games in December. An effort to abandon spring practice was forestalled, but practice between June 1 and Aug. 20 will be prohibited. It was proposed that the number of football games permitted be reduced to nine, but the association agreed on a 10 game limit.

Early autumn basketball practice was not curtailed, the council agreeing to allow practice to start with the opening of school, instead of on Nov. 1, as proposed. The council decided against a plan to halt spring tennis practice after the state tournament in March.

ART WIEBE OF BLACKHAWKS IS HURT IN DRILL

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 24 [Special].—Art Wiebe, Blackhawks' defense player, who was injured in this morning's practice session, is expected to be able to rejoin the squad Saturday. Wiebe suffered a gash over the right eye and a slight brain concussion.

Maj. Frederic McLaughlin left for Chicago today, highly pleased with the team Manager Paul Thompson has molded for the 1940-'41 campaign. The Blackhawks open the new season Nov. 7 in the Stadium.

LA SALLE-PERU TO MEET JOLIET IN BIG 8 FEATURE

Undefeated Calumet City Will Face Bloom.

Calumet City's undefeated football team, which shares first place in the South Suburban High School league with Argo, tonight will meet Bloom in Chicago Heights. Calumet City will be seeking its fourth straight league victory. Bloom, defending champion, occupies third place in the standings with three victories and one defeat.

The outstanding game on tonight's Big Eight Conference schedule brings together Joliet, the leader with four consecutive triumphs, and La Salle-Peru, which has won two and lost one, on the latter's field. . . . In other games West Aurora plays at West Rockford; East Rockford travels to East Aurora, and Elgin faces Freeport on Freeport's gridiron. . . . Whitey Cronin, Leo coach, rates Tom McDonald, left half back, and Babe Baranowski, quarter back, as equal in running ability. . . . Leo, unbeaten in the south section of the Catholic league, meets Loyola in Loyola stadium Sunday afternoon.

Fenger is second among the state's high scoring prep elevens with 255 points in six games. . . . Tuscola leads with 261 points in as many contests. . . . Crane Tech ranks 10th with 141 and Downers Grove of the West Suburban conference is 11th with 140. . . . Louis C. Jorndt, Amundsen coach, played football at Lindblom in 1925 and 1926. . . . Amundsen faces Taft in Winnemac park tomorrow and will attempt to win its fifth straight game in the north division.

Mount Carmel, defending Catholic league champion, which was idle last week, opposes De La Salle in St. Rita field Sunday afternoon. . . . Two Mount Carmel regulars, Full Back Gene Delaney and Half Back Jim Fitzgibbons, will be on the sidelines because of injuries. . . . Elgin and Lake Forest academy will meet tomorrow afternoon on Lake Forest's field in the 20th game of their series, which started in 1894. . . . Ray Florek, Fenger's star ball carrier, leads the state in individual scoring with 75 points.

GAME SET FOR TONIGHT.

The Variety A. C. and Madison Merchants were rained out of their football game last night and will play in Weber park at 8:15 o'clock tonight.

Gills Roll 3,233 Series; Week's Average 3,185

The Joseph L. Gill bowlers, who turned in a 3,009 series to go into a tie for the lead in the Windy City league Monday and piled up a 3,314 total the next night in Stevenson's league, wound up the week with a 3,185 average by turning out a 3,233 series in the Randolph league last night. Their total was good for a full set victory over the Houcek Senators and brought their league record to 19 games won in 21 bowled. They hold a three game margin over the runner-up Pepsi-Colas. Ad Carlson led the attack with a 713 total.

Jack and Jill.

We were a Jack and Jill in schoolhood days,
We climbed the hill together, you and I,
We knew the woodland's sweet secluded ways
Arched with the bluest tapestry of sky;
You were a girl in pigtails with a smile
That made my rustic heart go pit-a-pat,
And, O, we traveled many a happy mile
And never had a wrangle or a spat.

But Jack fell down the day I moved away
And missed the warming sunshine of Jill's laughter,
And tho he waited many a weary day
His precious Jill did not come tumbling after;
And yet sometimes he feels quite hopeful still
That they may meet again upon the hill.

Brisk Drill Held by Santa Clara En Route East

Denver, Colo., Oct. 24 (AP).—If fire and zip in a workout mean anything, Michigan State had better watch out when it meets Santa Clara in Lansing Saturday.

The Santa Clarans hopped thru two hours of calisthenics, punting drills, and signal sessions with the ginger of freshmen at the Denver university practice field today.

Coach Lawrence [Buck] Shaw planned another workout at Jackson, Mich., tomorrow.

"I think Michigan State is tougher in many ways than Stanford, which beat us 7 to 6, altho probably not as deceptive," he said.

He named this starting lineup:

Ends, Thom and Dewing; tackles, Braun and Beggs; guards, Thornton and Poppin; center, Stanzel; quarter back, Palm; half backs, Johnson and Heiser; full back, Hann.

36 BADGERS HEAD FOR PURDUE; STOP AT BUTLER TODAY

Lorenz, Paskvan Ailing, but Hope to Play.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 24 [Special].—Thirty-six Wisconsin players today were named for the trip to Purdue following a brisk workout in which aerial offensive and defensive tactics were emphasized.

While both Al Lorenz and George Paskvan, veteran seniors, are suffering from leg injuries they are expected to be in the starting lineup against the Boilermakers Saturday. Today's signal drill indicated that Coach Harry Stuhldreher will start five sophomores. They are: Dick Thornally and Paul Hirsbrunner, tackles; Bob Henry, center, and Mark Hoskins and Jim McFadzean, half backs.

The showing of Ted Damos, a junior, and Len Calligaro, a sophomore, during the last two days promises to give the Badgers the best half back reserve strength they have had this season. The squad will leave early tomorrow on a sleeper and limber up tomorrow afternoon in Butler stadium, Indianapolis.

Those named for the trip follow:

ENDS—Al Lorenz, Cliff Philip, Dave Schreiner, Bob Baumann, Ray Kreick, Bob Stupka, Frank Milauc, and Gene Lyons.

TACKLES—Dick Thornally, Paul Hirsbrunner, Elmer Tornow, Lloyd Wasserbach, Harry Harter, and Harry Cagney.

GUARDS—Fred Gage, Dick Embick, Gordon Gile, John Roberts, George Makris, and Dave Jones.

CENTERS—Bob Henry, Fred Ladewig, and Bob McKay.

QUARTERBACKS—Tom Farris, John Tennant, Don Peterson, and Paul Bronson.

HALF BACKS—Mark Hoskins, Jim McFadzean, Don Miller, Bob Willding, Ted Damos, and Ed Halamka.

FULL BACKS—George Paskvan, Bob Ray, and Len Calligaro.

PURDUE LOSES GANTZ.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 24 [Special.]—Purdue's already depleted right half back forces were further diminished today when it was learned that Merlin Gantz of Indianapolis, one of three sophomores being groomed to fill Mike Byelene's position, had cracked an ankle bone in yesterday's final scrimmage and will be lost for the remainder of the season.

The loss of Gantz leaves only two right half backs on the squad, Tony Berto and Paul Anderson, both sophomores. Coach Mal Elward indicated that in case of emergency John Petty, veteran full back, might be shifted to right half back for the Wisconsin game here Saturday.

Judging from this afternoon's final light drill, three sophomores will be in the starting lineup against the Badgers. These are Fred Smerke, quarter back, Marion [Red] Carter, and Tony Berto, half backs.

Big Six Rejects Plan for Agreement on Bowl Games

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 24 (AP).—Big six faculty representatives voted unanimously today not to enter into an agreement with any other conference regarding football bowl games and reaffirmed the rule prohibiting such contests, but left a loophole for future New Year's day competition. Dr. H. D. Bergman of Iowa State college, president of the group, explained that any school receiving a bid to a New Year classic might petition the conference for permission to play and that a special meeting would be called for consideration of such a request.

Clemson Wins, 21 to 13, Over South Carolina

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 24 (AP).—Clemson whipped South Carolina, 21 to 13, today in the 37th renewal of their colorful gridiron rivalry, but the Tigers won only after a bitter struggle that thrilled a capacity crowd of 22,000.

Flashing their power as soon as they got the ball, the Tigers marched sixty-five yards on smashing reverses and two smartly executed passes to score five minutes after the opening whistle.

Joe Blalock went over for the second Clemson touchdown in the second period after a desperate Gamecock pass by Dewitt Arrowsmith in his own end zone was intercepted by Charlie Wright and returned to the 15. Blalock raced over four plays later from the 7 yard line.

Two minutes after the second half kickoff, Booty Payne, Clemson sophomore, punted forty yards to Arrowsmith on the Carolina 25. The Gamecock full back reversed the ball to Al Grygo, who dashed to the east side line and scored with ease.

The Tigers struck back a short time later for their third touchdown, and Charlie Timmons kicked his third extra point of the game.

Clemson, wearing the Gamecocks down gradually, seemed headed for another score in the final quarter but after getting to the Carolina 5, was set back by a clipping penalty and a fumble. Then big Alex Urban, Carolina left end, intercepted a pass and ran sixty-five yards to score. Arrowsmith added the extra point.

Zale to Meet Apostoli in Seattle Nov. 19

Tony Zale, middleweight champion, last night was matched to meet Fred Apostoli of San Francisco in a 10 round nontitle bout in Seattle, Wash., Nov. 19. The match originally was scheduled for San Francisco, but Nate Druxman, Seattle promoter, exercised his priority. . . . Ed Bang has set Dec. 2 on which to promote an annual Christmas fund show in Cleveland. The date will preclude the possibility of offering a proposed overweight contest at that time between Billy Conn, light heavyweight titleholder, and Buddy Knox. Conn is matched with Lee Savold in Madison Square Garden Nov. 29 and with Clarence Jones in Buffalo Dec. 9. . . . Judge Harold P. O'Connell of the Municipal court has postponed until Nov. 7 Clarence Brown's assault and battery case against George Trafton, loop gymnasium proprietor.

Ernie Nordman, Omaha sectional Golden Gloves heavyweight winner, will meet Lucius Williams of the Savoy Athletic club in a five round amateur bout in Madison A. C., 4711 Madison street, tonight. A five round co-feature will involve Torsten Ahlbeck, Senn High school football player, and Charley Johnson, Morgan Park junior welterweight. . . . Billy Gillespie, Stone Lake, Wis., light heavyweight, and Paul Frazier have been added to the card in Marigold Gardens Monday. They will clash in a six round semi-final to a 10 round event between Elza Thompson and Lem Franklin, Golden Gloves heavyweight products. . . . Oki Shikina and George Dusette, heavyweight wrestlers, who went to a draw recently, will clash in a rematch in White City Monday.

CHICAGO SHADES NEW YORK, 9 TO 8, IN ROLLER DERBY

In the roughest night since the sixth annual roller Derby opened in the Coliseum three days ago, the Chicago team edged out the New York contingent last night, 9 to 8. The three day score, however, still stood in favor of New York, 34 to 32.

Peggy O'Neal, the speediest girl on the Chicago team, was eliminated from competition because she exceeded the limit on time in the penalty box—12 minutes.

The roller Derby will continue until Nov. 17 with skating from 8:15 to 11 o'clock nightly.

What's this about LIQUEUR Scotch ?
The term "liqueur" Scotch means the very pick of choice Scotch whiskies. It's a sign of superior quality in both Scotland and America.
The label tells you that every drop of Martin's is special "liqueur" Scotch. Martin's is also 88 proof instead of the usual 86.8... goes just a bit farther.
Martin's sells for no more than most brands. Call for it and enjoy "liqueur" quality at no extra cost.

WICKED TIME HAS A SPREE AGAIN AT SPORTSMAN'S

Gains Fourth Victory in Five Starts.

Wicked Time, one of the most consistent performers in his class, won the feature race at Sportsman's Park yesterday by defeating Clarence Davison's 4 year old bay, Weisenheimer, and F. E. Waldron's Miss Balko in the five furlong Board of Trade purse.

It was the fourth victory in five starts for the 5 year old bay gelding which came to Sportsman's Park after winning his last two races at Beulah Park. Wicked Time was hurried into the lead and set a fast pace from the beginning. Weisenheimer came from behind to beat Miss Balko by a head for place.

G. H. Goshen's Learner, a 4 year old filly, winner of the first race, and J. P. Kampsmeyer's gray mare Heidi, winner of the second, accounted for a $39.80 daily double.

Wallace E. won the third race, a distance event for maiden 2 year olds. The Dave Hurn trained youngster came from far back and picked up ground to defeat Bud B., Port Spin, and the favorite, Boat La Donna.

Clarence Davison, one of the tracks leading trainers and money winners for several years saw his colors led into the winners' circle when the brown gelding, Sanctity, who's been around for eight years, won the seven furlong Wheatland Purse.

Beginning tomorrow and continuing thru the remainder of the season, post time for the first race will be 1:30 o'clock.

ARMS PROGRAM HELPS INDUSTRY BOOST EARNINGS

Plane Maker Shows Big Increase.

With the national defense program playing an important part in stimulating industry, many large companies yesterday reported substantial gains in net incomes. Among them were the Stewart-Warner corporation, the Glenn L. Martin company, and the Baldwin Locomotive Works.

Stewart-Warner, Chicago producer of automobile accessories, radios, refrigerators and other products, realized September quarter net income of $317,439, equivalent to 26 cents a share, compared with $55,948, or 5 cents a share a year ago. A report by James S. Knowlton, president, listed net profits for nine months ended Sept. 30 at $994,684, or 80 cents a share, against $256,209 and 21 cents a share in the 1939 period.

Martin Profits Spurt.

The Martin company, a major airplane manufacturer with offices at Middle River, Md., earned $4,798,981, or $4.38 a share in the first nine months of 1940, compared with $1,513,778, or $1.39 a share a year ago. September quarter net profits amounted to $523,493, equal to 48 cents a share, against $546,154, or 50 cents a share, a year ago.

Glenn L. Martin, president, said that September quarter sales aggregated $5,303,531, against $3,267,728, and that unfilled orders exceeded $216,000,000 as of Sept. 30, compared with $66,439,617 a year ago.

Baldwin Locomotive net income for 12 months ended Sept. 30, was $1,213,880, equal to $1.04 a share, compared with a net loss $614,624 for the preceding 12 months. Unfilled orders were listed at $73,845,119, against $36,342,809 on Sept. 30, 1939, and $44,217,799 as of last Jan. 1. The company has headquarters at Philadelphia.

Shell Union Reports.

Shell Union Oil corporation, New York, announced net income of $3,165,249, or 21 cents a share, for the September quarter, compared with $4,548,236 and 31 cents a share last year. The nine months' net income totaled $12,615,196, equivalent to 86 cents a share, against $6,710,658 and 41 cents a share, a year ago.

A 22.9 per cent increase in net income for the September quarter was reported by the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, with profits amounting to $1,159,639, or 65 cents a share. Earnings in the 1939 period were $943,450, or 53 cents a share.

Unfilled orders of the company, which produces tractors and other farm equipment, came to $31,718,124 as of Sept. 30, compared with $23,618,518 on June 30, and $18,335,726 on Sept. 30, 1939. The company has main offices in Milwaukee, Wis.

Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, Chicago, had net profit of $1,638,849, or $3.45 a share, for the nine months ended Sept. 30, compared with $1,610,424 and $3.35 a share, for the comparable period last year. The company is the world's largest manufacturer of billiard tables.

Cash Register Net Up.

National Cash Register company, Dayton, O., reported net profit for the September quarter of $392,554, equal to 24 cents a share, compared with $116,272, or 7 cents a share, a year ago.

Continental Can company, New York, realized net income of $8,944,485, or $2.82 a share, for the 12 months ended Sept. 30, compared with $7,511,996, or $2.32 a share, in the preceding 12 months.

The Link-Belt company, Chicago, announced net income for the nine months ended Sept. 30 amounted to $1,780,740, or $2.37 a share, compared with $957,436 and $1.17 a share, in the 1939 period. The company manufactures various types of belts and conveyors.

The A. O. Smith corporation, Milwaukee, producer of automobile frames, reported net earnings of $1,686,681, equal to $3.38 a share, for the fiscal year ended July 31, compared with $108,131, or 21 cents a share, in the preceding year.

Annalist Will Merge with Business Week Magazine

New York, Oct. 24 [Special].—The New York Times company announced today the sale of the Annalist, weekly journal of finance, commerce, and economics, to the McGraw-Hill Publishing company, Inc. The magazine will be merged, commencing with the next issue, with Business Week. The Annalist has been published since 1913. The present editor is Donald W. Ellsworth.

Foreign Trade Drops Sharply in September

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 (AP).—The department of commerce reported today that exports dropped 16 per cent in September to $295,000,000, the smallest monthly total since November, 1939. August exports amounted to $350,000,000.

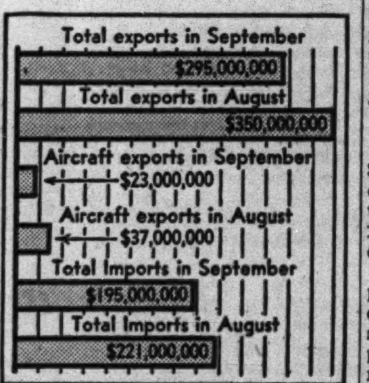
Imports declined for the second consecutive month, totaling $195,000,000 in September against $221,000,000 in August.

The September export total compared with $289,000,000 in the same month last year. The excess of exports for September was $100,000,000 over imports, a drop of $30,000,000 from the August excess.

Fewer Planes Shipped.

Noting a "general falling off" in exports, the department said that under existing world conditions it was difficult to determine whether it "represents more than a temporary recession."

A drop of $14,000,000 in shipments of aircraft and parts from $37,000,000 in August to a total of $23,000,000 in September was the largest single factor in the export decline, altho the trend was reflected in many commodities.



September foreign trade compared with August volume.

The department noted that "even exports of iron and steel manufacturers, which have shown an almost unbroken rise, since the beginning of the European war, also fell off."

Record Rubber Imports.

Shipments of some agricultural products were reported as "considerably smaller."

Increases were shown for a few major export commodities, however, including manufactured cotton, brass and bronze and metal working machinery.

The department said that as a result of government and private purchases, rubber imports reached the highest figure on record—a total of 176,339,000 pounds, valued at $30,655,000.

PRIORITIES BOARD ADOPTS RULES ON DEFENSE ORDERS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 (AP).—The defense commission formally announced today that the priorities board named this week by President Roosevelt would continue "as far as is practicable," the present voluntary system of preference ratings determining the order in which industry fills defense contracts.

The board, headed by William S. Knudsen of the defense commission, is armed with new authority to compel industry to give army and navy contracts the right of way.

Policies adopted by the board at its initial meeting, included:

Delivery dates requested by the army and navy on preference-rated contracts should be geared, thru proper scheduling, to deliveries of related defense items. Thus, parts used to build a tank would bear the same priority rating as the completed tank.

The preference rating AA, unused thus far, which would require immediate precedence over all other contracts, private or government, will be reserved for cases of exceptional emergency. Before its use the priorities board will pass upon wisdom of the policy.

RAISE ESTIMATE OF FARM INCOME TO NINE BILLION

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 [Special].—Because of favorable weather conditions and the increased returns to farmers during August and September, the department of agriculture today raised its estimate of the cash farm income of 1940 to $9,000,000,000. The cash farm income of 1939 totaled $8,518,000,000, and in 1929 $11,221,000,000.

When the last prediction was made in August, the estimate was set at $8,900,000,000, including government payments. It was reported that the increase was based also on a cotton crop of 1,000,000 bales larger than was expected in August and a rise in prospective farm marketings.

Government economists observed that the increase in income during last month and in August reflected sharply higher prices for wheat and flax, an unusually high price for peanuts and a slight increase, in live stock prices.

Army Buys Big Acreage from the Hearst Interests

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 (AP).—Secretary of War Henry L Stimson announced today the army had purchased 154,000 acres of California ranch lands from the Hearst interests for a military training site. The Hearst Sumical Land and Packing corporation was paid $2,000,000, the secretary said. The land combines mountains, valleys, plains, forests, streams, and considerable frontage on the Pacific ocean. The area will be used in training troops from Fort Ord, Camp Merriam, Camp McQuaid, and a new replacement center to be constructed there.

CHRYSLER LIFTS DIVIDEND ON ITS STOCK TO $1.75

Nine Months' Profit Is Below Year Ago.

Directors of Chrysler corporation, meeting in New York, yesterday ordered that the next dividend be increased to $1.75 a share. At the same time company officials announced a moderate decline in profits for the nine months ended Sept. 30, a doubling of the tax load, and an increase in sales.

The dividend will be paid Dec. 12 to share owners of record Nov. 12. It represents an increase of 50 cents over the $1.25 a share which holders of Chrysler's 4,350,000 shares received on the three preceding dividend dates in March, June, and September of this year. In 1939 payments totaling $5 a share were made. Including the new payment, dividends declared for this year so far total $5.50 a share.

Earns $7.06 Per Share.

Net income for the nine months was $30,706,094 after federal income and excess profits taxes, and was equal to $7.06 a share. In the corresponding 1939 period profit was $31,403,118, equal to $7.22 a share.

Provisions for taxes in the 1940 period amounted to $14,400,000. The effect of the doubled tax burden was shown in a comparison of the company's earnings results for the nine months with the showing for the first six months of 1940. In the first half of this year profit followed a pronounced upward trend, amounting to $30,494,274, equal to $7.01 a share, against $25,345,771, or $5.83 a share, in the first half of 1939.

Chrysler sold 731,773 cars and trucks, with a gross value of $514,698,390, in the first nine months of 1940, compared with 631,355 units valued at $441,895,380 in the corresponding 1939 period.

Signode Votes Extra.

Directors of Signode Steel Strapping company, Chicago manufacturer of equipment for sealing and packing boxes, declared an extra of 25 cents a share in addition to the quarterly disbursement of 25 cents on common stock.

An increased dividend of 75 cents a share on the common stock was voted by American Steel Foundries, Chicago maker of parts used in the building and repair of railway cars and locomotives. Previous payments this year were 25 cents quarterly.

Directors of the H. W. Gossard company, Chicago, declared a larger dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock. Gossard, which manufactures foundation garments for women, paid 25 cents each in previous quarters this year.

BANK CLEARINGS THRUOUT NATION RISE LAST WEEK

New York, Oct. 24 (AP).—Bank clearings thruout the nation turned upward during the last week, topping both the preceding week and the corresponding period last year, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Clearances for 23 leading cities totaled $5,899,054,000, a rise of 13 per cent over last year's $5,217,337,000, and $590,271,000 above the volume reported for the preceding week, which was shortened by a holiday.

New York City's portion was $3,187,879,000 against $2,904,807,000 last year, an increase of 9.7 per cent. Chicago transactions amounted to $365,600,000 against $299,700,000 last year.

Kenny Construction Bid Is Low on Subway Stations

The Kenny Construction company yesterday submitted the lowest of five bids, $368,680, for construction of two subway stations, Philip Harrington, subway commissioner, announced. The stations will be located in State street between Adams and Monroe streets and between Monroe and Madison streets.

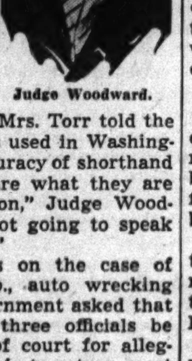
MICROPHONE BARRED IN HEARING ON WAGE LAW CONTEMPT CASE

An attempt by a department of labor court reporter from Washington, D. C., to use a microphone to record remarks of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward in a Chicago wage-hour case was rebuffed by the judge yesterday.



Judge Woodward.

"Take that away," Judge Woodward told the court reporter, Mrs. Dorothy Torr, when he found the microphone on his desk. The instrument was connected with a recording machine. Mrs. Torr told the judge the system is used in Washington to check on accuracy of shorthand notes. "I don't care what they are doing in Washington," Judge Woodward said. "I'm not going to speak into a microphone."

The hearing was on the case of Warshawsky & Co., auto wrecking concern. The government asked that the company and three officials be held in contempt of court for allegedly forcing employés to return most of $1,930 paid to the workers as restitution under a consent decree in a wage law prosecution. Final arguments were begun late in the afternoon and will be resumed today.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC RISES, BUT LAGS BEHIND YEAR AGO

Railroad freight movement last week gained 2,003 cars over the preceding week to a total of 813,909 cars, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. Revenue loadings, however, fell 42,380 cars short of the volume hauled in the corresponding week in 1939, principally as a result of a drop of 44,547 cars in coal shipments. A year to year decline in grain shipments was offset by an increase in cre. Freight traffic a year ago was at the highest peak since 1930.

Loadings of the various commodities compare as follows:

NORTHWEST BANK GROUP TO REPAY ALL OF RFC LOAN

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 24 [Special].—J. C. Thomson, president of the Northwest Bancorporation, announced today that the board of directors has authorized additional investments aggregating $2,035,000 in 14 affiliated banks for the purpose of expediting the retirement of all preferred stock in these banks. Seven other banks of the corporation's group expect to retire the balance of their preferred stock wholly from their own resources, he said.

In any case it is planned to retire all remaining preferred stock and debentures in affiliated banks before Dec. 31, 1940. This will complete the repayment of $25,705,000 borrowed from the RFC in December, 1933.

The directors also declared a dividend of 10 cents a share, payable Nov. 25 to stockholders of record Nov. 9.

RESTRICT CANADA WHEAT MORE TO EASE CONGESTION

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 24 [Special].—Further restrictions on loadings of wheat at western points due to congestion at Fort William and Port Arthur terminals have been announced by both the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways. The Canadian Pacific embargo applies to all loadings in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, while the Canadian National railway has embargoed Manitoba and Saskatchewan wheat but will accept 25 cars daily from Alberta.

Both railways will continue to accept loadings of coarse grains. There are 83 million bushels of wheat in store at the Canadian lakehead, and 5 million bushels of coarse grains. The terminals' capacity is 93 million bushels. Only three to four vessels have been loading wheat daily.

Fear Lumber Price Rise May Curb Building

BY AL CHASE.

Soaring lumber prices, caused by heavy government defense buying, may slow up home building, the Lumber Trade association of Cook county said yesterday in a statement submitted to the national defense commission.

The communication, outlining the present chaotic condition of the lumber market, was addressed to John W. Watzek Jr., who represents the lumber interests in the advisory commission to the Council of National Defense, Washington, D. C. It was signed by J. L. Strong, secretary of the association.

"Terrific" Rise Cited.

"The present emergency in defense construction has caused such a terrific price rise in the wholesale lumber market that we, as retailers, are fearful of choking off our principal business," the letter said.

"We are not unmindful of our patriotic feelings and duties where a necessity exists, but it is essential that we protect our trade or many like us will suffer greatly.

"We are sure you can visualize our plight and we appeal to you for your coöperation in whatever way possible to halt this meteoric rise particularly in certain sections, so that a stable market can be assured the retail lumber industry and its customers."

Fear Supply Shortage.

One Chicago lumber dealer, I. Callner, of the Joseph Lumber company, a member of the trade association which sent the letter to Washington, said that already prospective home builders were being frightened into postponing their construction plans by the rapid rise in lumber prices.

"Chicago lumber dealers fear both higher prices and inability to get lumber of any sort," Callner said. "If government buying is conducted in an orderly fashion prices probably won't climb, but if there is a sudden rush to buy on a huge scale prices will go higher."

Henry Embree, vice president of the Rittenhouse & Embree company, said that certain items in southern pine still are edging upward. He expressed the fear that if prices rise much higher home building will be materially affected.

An official of another of Chicago's big lumber companies said he had been informed that Washington would place orders for between 500 and 700 million feet of lumber before the first of the year. If that is done, he said, prices are bound to continue on the upgrade.

"Even if they're stabilized today at the present high level, it's going to hurt the home building market," he said.

NEW CONSTRUCTION SO FAR THIS YEAR IS ABOVE ALL OF 1939

New York, Oct. 24 (AP).—Engineering construction awards for the year to date exceed the total for the entire year 1939, Engineering News-Record reported today. Contracts awarded in the first 43 weeks of 1940 amounted to $3,048,061,000 compared with $3,002,856,000 in the full 52 weeks of 1939.

Engineering construction awards for the week ended Tuesday, totaling $127,317,000, fell 47 per cent below the record breaking volume of the preceding week but were almost double the same week a year ago.

Both private and public contracts declined from last week. Comparisons follow:

	Latest week.	Previous week	Year ago.
Priv.	$ 34,391,000	$ 66,198,000	$34,310,000

41st Auto Show Preview to Be Held Tonight

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

(Picture on back page.)

Chicago's 41st annual automobile show will be previewed tonight at the International amphitheater. And at 2 p. m. tomorrow the doors of the big structure at 43d and Halsted streets will be opened to the public.

Ben T. Wright.

About 10,000 persons, including dealers, salesmen, and their families, are expected to attend the preview tonight. The event will be a dress rehearsal for the public opening. Ben T. Wright, treasurer of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, which sponsors the show, said reservations for the preview have set a record.

Stage Spectacle a Feature.

One of the features of the show will be a big stage spectacle, "Non-Stop America." Wright said the stage and curtain are the largest ever constructed in Chicago. The large cast and the elaborate method of introducing the 1941 models made necessary a stage of record size.

The curtain measures 150 feet in width and 73 feet in height, and required more than 1,600 yards of material. The color scheme is blue and white.

Practically all of the new cars, trucks, and accessories were in place yesterday. Soldiers from Fort Sheridan were putting the finishing touches to an army exhibit. The auto industry's rôle in national defense will be stressed in this year's show, with the army, navy and marine corps displaying some of Uncle Sam's latest fighting equipment. Antiaircraft guns, searchlights, and a variety of automotive equipment used by the fighting forces will be exhibited.

Industry's Leaders Arriving.

Meantime, many of the nation's most prominent figures in the automobile world are arriving in Chicago to take part in the show. H. J. Klingler and D. U. Bathrick of Pontiac held a reception for show personages in the Drake hotel yesterday afternoon and in the evening M. M. Gilman, president of Packard, was host at another reception in the same hotel.

Gilman, whose company is to build 9,000 Rolls Royce airplane engines, explained the seeming delay in getting into production on defense materials.

"It is deplorable that the layman doesn't have a better understanding of the work involved in tooling and getting a plant ready to produce," he said. "Because of the intricate tools required to make the gigantic machines necessary to the manufacture of the complicated Rolls Royce engines. To produce that first engine we will have spent $30,000,000 on special machinery and factories."

SEC REQUESTS N. Y. EXCHANGE TO RESCIND BAN

Finds Peril in Dual Listings Order.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—The Securities and Exchange commission today requested the New York Stock exchange to rescind its order to bar member firms from trading on other exchanges in securities which are also listed on the New York market.

Sumner T. Pike asks exchange to rescind ruling.

A study by the commission's trading and exchange division found that the action would endanger the future of regional exchanges and "impinge upon the investing public." These findings were transmitted to William McC. Martin Jr., president of the New York exchange by Commissioner Sumner T. Pike.

The ruling, an attempt to limit trading to the New York market, would affect the Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, San Francisco, and other regional exchanges which have listed stocks traded on the "big board."

To Be Effective Nov. 1.

The ruling was scheduled to become completely effective on Nov. 1, after delays in response to previous SEC requests. The Chicago Stock exchange has already revised its procedure in line with the ruling as it affects that market.

The New York exchange claimed that the ruling was an attempt to solve an internal problem of "unfair competition" among its members. Reviving an old but hitherto unenforced provision of its constitution, the exchange decided that members operating on exchanges in other cities should not be permitted to execute orders in these cities in securities which are also listed in New York. This ruling would curtail the activities of many members, since a large number of New York listed issues are also listed in other cities.

In his letter to Martin, Pike said:

"The commission as at present advised is of the opinion that your solution of this problem has results which in practical effect will endanger the future of the affected regional exchanges and, as a consequence, will impinge upon the welfare of the investing public within the regions served by these exchanges. You have

STOCK MARKET FALTERS AFTER 2 DAY ADVANCE

Volume of Sales Dwindles as Prices Decline.

New York, Oct. 24 (AP).—Prices declined and volume dwindled in today's stock market as profits were cashed following the two preceding rising sessions.

The list got off to an irregular start, with steels and other recent industrial favorites tending to give ground. Dealings, fast for a while, soon slackened, but efforts at rallies won scant response. The low point was reached in the final hour, losses ranging from fractions to a point or so. Declines were shaded in many instances at the close.

Average Down to 44.6.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .2 of a point at 44.6, compared with an upturn yesterday of .3 and a gain Tuesday of .1. The composite stood at 44.7 a month ago. Transfers amounted to 538,770 shares, against 807,040 the day before.

Among stocks behind at the finish were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Consolidated Edison, Public Service of N. J., American Smelting, Anaconda, Westinghouse, du Pont, Eastman Kodak, United States Gypsum, Santa Fe, New York Central, and Dow Chemical.

Chicago Stocks.

Prices leveled off on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday after a two day advance. Of the 108 issues traded, 40 advanced, 42 declined, and 26 closed unchanged. Turnover slipped to 24,000 shares from 25,000 Wednesday. Marshall Field, the volume leader, closed at 15¼, up ⅛.

A comparison of several stocks listed both in Chicago and New York, giving the changes recorded here in the hour after the New York close, follows:

New York Bonds.

New York, Oct. 24 (AP).—Except for a few foreign dollar issues, most bonds ended with minor losses today with the rails the hardest hit.

One feature of the market was the unusual turnover of $477,000, par value, of Shell Union Oil 2½s, which ended up ¼ at 98. Against this, total sales of United States government obligations were but $40,000, par value, with not a transaction up to noon and not one in the final hour.

Japanese issues rallied. The government 5½s were up 1½ at 49,

Bank Stocks.

First National shares declined 4 points and La Salle National advanced 2 points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Chicago Title and City National each dipped a point and Continental Illinois eased half a point.

GRAIN FUTURES RISE, THEN TRIP ON PROFIT TAKING

A wave of profit taking sales swept the grain markets on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday following an early advance which carried May and July wheat, corn, and rye and all deliveries of oats and soy beans to new seasonal high prices.

Closing trades on wheat were ¾ to 1 cent lower. Corn finished unchanged to ⅛ cent lower, and oats declined ½ to ⅝ cent. Soy beans, however, showed stubborn resistance to pressure and finished 1¼ to 1⅜ cents higher.

Reports that farmers showed more disposition to sell unpledged wheat in parts of the northwest and southwest, and that a few small lots of loan grain had been disposed of in Kansas had considerable influence on sentiment.

ARNOLD HOLDS NEW DEAL PRICE FIXING IS PROPER

But Private Schemes Are Evil, He Insists.

Four hundred members of the Chicago Federated Advertising club yesterday heard Thurman W. Arnold, head of the antitrust division of the department of justice, deliver a lecture on price fixing, market rigging, and the consequences thereof.

When he had finished they knew his answers to at least two questions. One was that regulations limiting the free play of economic forces are evil except when restrictions are imposed by the government. The other was that advertising men need have no fear of being "trust busted."

Explains Apparent Conflict.

Arnold's comments on government price fixing were made at a meeting in the Morrison hotel in reply to a request for the explanation of the apparent conflict between antitrust laws and New Deal legislation and policies having a monopolistic tendency.

"Private combinations aim at the seizure of industrial power," he said. "If this is attained the result ultimately will be higher prices and a lower standard of living. Price fixing by the legislature, however, is subject to the democratic process and abuses will be ironed out as they arise."

Says Laws Are Abused.

He asserted that the fair trade laws are abused more than any others and said that each new law puts an extra police burden on the antitrust division.

Arnold's assurances to the advertising men were prompted, he said, by charges that the antitrust division is opposed to advertising and desires to control it.

"The antitrust division is not empowered by law to exercise any control whatever over advertising," he said. "Control would suppress originality. What the antitrust division attacks is the coercive use of organized power."

Commodities

Most commodity futures markets receded yesterday as traders cashed speculative profits. Copper and hides suffered losses averaging more than ¼ cent a pound in reaction to recent steep rises. Lead, world sugar, silk, cocoa, wool tops, and cottonseed oil declined and rubber was irregular. Santos coffee and domestic sugar gained moderately.

INDUSTRY GETS 41½ MILLIONS IN ORDERS TO FILL

Chicago Companies Share Munitions Contracts.

Orders and contracts that will give industry nearly $41,500,000 more work to do were placed yesterday, most of them by the government and the rest by a railroad. In addition, another railroad announced orders for 1,150 freight cars, the cost of which was not made known.

The largest batch of orders consisted of army contracts for ammunition components costing $15,000,000.

Orders Placed in Chicago.

Chicago companies sharing in the business were Electric Household Utilities corporation's Hurley Machine division, awarded a contract involving $755,590; Chicago Roller Skate company, Ware Brothers division, $978,110, and International Harvester company, $554,000.

The war department announced it had awarded to Humble Oil and Refining company, Houston, Tex., an $11,857,000 contract to build a plant and equip it for production of toluol, a component of high explosives. The plant will be at Baytown, Tex., and the company will finance and build the plant. Repayment by the government will be made over a five year period.

Other war department contracts and orders raised the day's total for defense work to more than $39,000,000.

Hospital Supplies Ordered.

Among the miscellaneous army orders was one for $3,576,810 of hospital supplies, in which the Bauer & Black division of Kendall company, Chicago, shared to the extent of $298,956.

Southern Pacific railroad placed orders for 40,000 tons of steel rails which will cost about $1,800,000. The Erie railroad announced awards of contracts for 1,150 hopper, gondola, furniture, and box cars.

The navy awarded contracts and orders totaling $692,668 for steel forgings, engine lathes, and tea.

SEPTEMBER NET OF ILL. CENTRAL SYSTEM DROPS

The Illinois Central system yesterday reported September net income of $747,937, a decline of $681,459 from last year. The road's net loss for the first nine months of 1940 was $2,135,134, or $902,349 less than in the 1939 period.

Northern Pacific net operating income for September was $2,044,210, or $13,083 less than a year earlier. The nine month total was $8,896,713, compared with $5,583,984.

The Great Northern reported September operating income of $4,634,592, compared with $4,065,689 a year ago.

BURLINGTON.

Who controls the Burlington road? Please tell me where it operates, what its earnings have been, and what dividends it has paid on its stock.—R.W.

Answer: Ownership of 97 per cent of the outstanding capital stock of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company is divided equally between the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific railroads.

The Burlington's 9,000 miles of road extend west from Chicago to the Rocky Mountains. Cities reached by the route include St. Louis, Peoria, Burlington, Quincy, Kansas City, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Des Moines, Omaha, and Denver. The parent companies use the Burlington for entry into Chicago and the latter, in turn, has an outlet to the Gulf of Mexico thru its link with its 70 per cent controled Colorado & Southern railroad.

Altho it is known as a "granger" road because it originates more grain traffic than any other domestic railroad system, the Burlington depends largely on soft coal and manufactured goods for its freight tonnage. Freight contributes about 80 per cent of the road's revenues, passengers about 10 per cent, and mail and express the remainder.

Bus and truck lines are operated by a Burlington subsidiary from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and intermediate points. Altho these motor operations were started as early as 1929 to combat competition, the road's profits in the last nine years have not risen higher than about 5½ million dollars or one-fifth of the 1929 peak of $29,576,538.

Comparison of the Burlington's net income, earnings per share, and dividends per share in recent years follows:

	Net income	Earned per share.	Dividends per share.
1935	$1,843,000	$1.08	$2.00
1936	5,157,000	3.02	4.00
1937	4,907,000	2.87	2.00
1938	3,642,000	2.13	2.00
1939	3,661,000	2.14	2.00

Net loss of the road in the first eight months of 1940 was $1,076,252 against a net loss of $1,235,977 in the corresponding period of 1939.

The Burlington has outstanding funded debt of $231,122,308 and 1,708,391 shares of $100 par capital stock. Fixed charges on the funded debt have been covered an average of 1.70 times in the last ten years. Dividends on the stock have been paid without interruption since 1861.

SEC REQUESTS N. Y. EXCHANGE TO RESCIND BAN

Finds Dual Listing Order Endangers Markets.

assured us that you have no desire to do any injury to the national system of regional securities markets.

"Because the findings of its staff investigation show that enforcement of your ruling will, in fact, have this result with consequent injury to the investing public, the commission requests that your board of governors rescind its resolution pursuant to which the committee on member firms issued its ruling of July 12, 1940."

Pike requested an answer before Nov. 1 or at least by Nov. 15 if existing exemptions are extended by a comparable period.

The SEC study said that the breadth of the impact of the exchange ruling is shown by figures that 44 odd-lot dealers and specialists servicing the markets on six exchanges in 206 stocks which are also traded on the New York exchange either are prevented from acting as such by the action or are shut off from their present sources of financing.

Lose Local Advantages.

The study noted that members of the New York exchange accounted for more than one-half of the total stock trading on the regional exchanges as well as a substantial portion of the over-the-counter transactions in stocks listed on the "big board" in New York.

"The loss of this volume locally would result in local customers being deprived of the various advantages of local executives," said the study. "It also would mean the loss to out of town brokerage facilities of a certain proportion of their income. And it will be reflected in a decline in the volume of round lot offsets effected on the New York Stock exchange which result from customers' odd lot trading. These results, in turn, may be expected to affect adversely the regional financial communities—banking as well as brokerage."

Explain Aim of Ruling.

New York, Oct. 24 (AP).—A spokesman for the New York Stock Exchange said today the institution's proposed ban on "multiple" trading, removal of which has been requested by the Securities and Exchange commission, was intended as a curb on "unfair competition" of its members operating as specialists and dealers on exchanges in other cities.

The exchange, it was explained, does not seek to prevent such members from executing clients' orders in the regional exchanges. The rule was designed, it was said, only to bar out of town members from acting as dealers in stocks which are listed in their regional exchanges and the New York Stock Exchange as well.

AIDS CHICAGO EXCHANGE.

The New York Stock exchange program has been more beneficial than detrimental to the Chicago Stock exchange, Kenneth L. Smith, president of the Chicago exchange, said last night. He said that sales of dually listed stocks in round lots [50 shares] have increased on this exchange since the appointment of new Chicago specialists on Aug. 22.

The specialists and odd-lot dealers were selected from among Chicago members who do not hold New York memberships and thus are not governed by action of the "Big Board." They replaced other brokers with both New York and Chicago memberships.

Relations between the Chicago and New York exchanges have become strained since early in the year, when New York officials began discussing various steps to curtail the activities of members in other cities. Chicago's efforts to simulate trading in securities have widened the gap. These efforts have included waiving of original listing fees on new securities and lengthened trading sessions, which Chicago officials have termed successful in increasing business volume.

Create New Am. Airlines Stock; Expect Offering

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 24.—Stockholders of American Airlines, Inc., at a special meeting today approved creation of an issue of 100,000 shares of no par preferred stock and authorized directors to issue the stock in one or more series with a dividend rate not to exceed $7 a share annually. It is expected that 50,000 shares of the new stock will be offered soon by an underwriting group headed by Emanuel & Co., Kidder, Peabody & Co., and Lehman Brothers.

Costa Rican Congress Approves U. S. Loan

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Oct. 24 (AP).—The Costa Rican congress unanimously approved today a contract with the Export-Import bank at Washington, D. C., for a $4,600,000 credit to the Costa Rican government.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]

Pork and hog prices declined yesterday under pressure of increasing supplies. Reductions in wholesale markets ranged up to 50 cents a hundred pounds on many cuts of pork.

The scant supply of "lard hogs" held about steady, but most other kinds sold off 5 to 10 cents. Both the top and average prices showed 5 cents loss, at $6.50 and $6.35.

Demand for highly finished longfed cattle continued broad despite the high level of quotations compared with other meat animals. Less desirable steers and yearlings were slow and weak.

FINISH IMPROVEMENTS AT THE FAIR'S STATE ST. STORE TOMORROW

The new State street façade of the Fair's loop store will be stripped of scaffolding tomorrow, James S. Schoff, president, announced yesterday. The exterior at State and Adams streets has been covered since August while the old brick was being replaced with light buff terra cotta blocks.

The reconstructed façade extends to the third floor and blends with the coloring of the upper stories. The modernistic marquees of extruded aluminum trimmed in bronze and revolving doors of similar construction have recessed lights illuminating the two State street entrances.

As part of the store's remodeling program the third floor women's fashion shop has been completely refurnished with white maple walls, light brown carpeting, and new lighting fixtures.

The fur section of the third floor has modernistic curved plate glass displays decorated in simple ivory with no other coloring. The remodeled third floor will be opened formally next Tuesday.

REPORT 600,000 MORE EMPLOYED IN LAST MONTH

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 [Special].—The department of labor announced today that 600,000 more persons were employed in September than in August. Total nonagricultural employment was placed at 36,600,000.

The department reported that 2,242,000 persons were employed on CCC, WPA, and NYA projects in September.

"The major factor contributing to the current gain of 600,000 workers was the rise in factory employment, which was about half again as great as the usual seasonal increase," the department said. "Over 285,000 factory wage earners were returned to jobs in September. This gain was accompanied by a rise of 5.4 per cent, or $10,700,000 in weekly wages. The latter increase is about five times the customary pay roll increase of 1.0 per cent from August to September."

CHICAGO BANKS' BUSINESS LOANS SET 3 YEAR PEAK

New York City Reserve Members Show Gain.

A new three year high mark for commercial, industrial, and agricultural loans by Chicago member banks of the federal reserve system was established in the week ended Wednesday, the reserve board reported yesterday.

The amount of such loans outstanding Wednesday was $460,000,000, an increase of $7,000,000 as compared with the total of a week earlier. New York City member banks reported an increase of $18,000,000, to $1,818,000,000.

In spite of the apparent increased demand for funds with which to conduct business, the reserve balances of all member banks in the reserve system rose $70,000,000 for the week to $6,940,000,000 in excess of legal requirements.

LOANS—PERSONAL AND BUSINESS.

Personal Property and Salary.

Personal Loans
On Your Own Signature

Here salaried men and women [single or married] can get $25 to $250 or more entirely on earning capacity and personal responsibility. We prefer to make these loans the way most people like—without security—without endorsers.

NO WAGE ASSIGNMENTS.

Simply do this:

1. Make application. [Can be in person or by phone.]
2. Come in, sign and get the cash.

Pick Your Own Payments.

Take a year or more to repay. You know best how much you can afford each month—you name the payment which best fits your income.

PRIVACY

We keep the entire transaction strictly between us. Your employer, friends, or relatives are not notified.

SIMPLE TO GET.

Our loans are made on the simple basis of your ability to make small regular payments, and if you can, you should not hesitate to see us for a loan at once. Come in or telephone.
